GUNMAN SHOT IN DOWNTOWN CHASE

Today

Japan's Good Excuse.
Wall Street Responds.
Not Without Fighting.
Will the War Spread?

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

"THRICE IS he armed that hath his quarrel just."

Japan knows that, and starts war cheerfully with a more or less imaginary attack on Japan by China.

The head of the Chinese army, says Japan—his name is Gen. Mah, has attacked the Japanese in Manchuria and asked other Chinese armies to join him.

Under these circumstances, what can poor Japan do but fight back — cruelly attacked without cause?

IF YOU WERE in China or Japan now, reading newspapers, you might imagine yourself back in the Spanish War, or the beginning of the big war. Circulations are booming, large characters are ordered, savage cartoons printed.

In the United States the circulation of Oriental newspapers has doubled. New York's Chinese newspaper, Sheng Tao prints a sad cartoon. A savage Japanese soldier holds a virtuous Chinese by the throat and is beating out his brains with the butt end of a revolver.

The caption reads:

"Countrymen! Get up and kill all Japanese!"

More easily said than done, unfortunately for China.

WAR BOOM in Wall street yesterday. Reports that Japan had declared war against China and China against Japan sent agitated bears scattering. Stocks and raw materials went up in price.

On Saturday, the Chinese big dealers in silver were selling silver in London.

On Sunday came rioting and bombardment in Tientsin, and yesterday morning the Chinese began buying silver, which went to the highest price in a long time.

As previously stated here, it will go very much higher, probably to $1 an ounce.

Having shipped many millions of gold to this country, preparing for necessary purchases in case of war, it is predicted by financiers that Japan will slide gently off the gold basis, in the course of a week or two.

The gold basis is fashionable, and nations, like individuals, wish to be in fashion. But if you haven't any gold, you can't stay on a gold basis.

BRITAIN, INEPTLY, tried to force the gold basis on India, and, in consequence, had to abandon that basis herself. She discovered that India didn't want a piece of paper supposed to represent gold. The Hindus had a habit of taking their pieces of British paper and changing them for silver at the bank.

If Japan now joins India and China on a silver basis, as seems probable, the fashionable gold countries, America and France, will have to recognize silver in some way. They cannot ignore the buying power of 1,000,000,000 human beings.

GANDHI, WARNING England that fiery times are ahead, will take his loin cloth, shawl, goat, and sail for India on November 29.

The Mahatma says:

"No people ever won its freedom without suffering."

He ignores the fact that no people ever won its freedom without FIGHTING. While Hindus fight Mohammedans, and vice versa, neither Hindus nor Mohammedans fight the British. Why should the British make consessions?

If the British would adopt a gold and silver currency, with a fair value for silver, which is the money of Asia, they would monopolize Asia's trade.

Our own business men, who find that China is not buying of us as she once did, need not wonder why.

GOLD BASIS or none, Britain keeps ahead in the air.

A flying boat, twice the size of the DO-X, is now under way to carry passengers and mail between England and Canada. It will be able to fly 2,580 miles at 120 miles an hour, without taking fuel. Its engines develop 60,000 horsepower.

This is being done by the British air minister. The British government takes the initiative, not leaving to private enterprise that which is most important to national safety.

ONE PESSIMIST said yesterday:

"One thing is sure. If war starts, the United States will get into it, somehow or other."

The war is more apt to involve Europe than the United States, fortunately for this country. Poland has a big army, with financial support from France. If Russia found herself in a real war with Japan, that would seem to be the "psychological moment" for an attack by Poland on Russia's western frontier.

VISCOUNT LEEN, of Fareham, broadcasts to the world his opinion that it is disgraceful for "a few wealthy American vandals to buy up and transport from England for erection in Squeedunkville, U. S. A., ancient English buildings.

Something may be said for the noble lord's opinion, but, very often Americans buy and erect old buildings to save them from destruction.

And what would the noble lord say about the marbles which the Earl of Elgin brought from Greece? Are they as appropriately located in the British museum as they would be on the spots for which the Greeks intended them?

SOCIETY MAN KILLED IN QUARREL

Phila. Girl's Mother Said to Have Exacted Deathbed Pledge Pair Be Kept Apart

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Francis A. Donaldson III, prominent clubman, called last night at the home of the girl he sought to marry to renew his suit before her father and brother, who objected to the match. The interview ended with Donaldson's slaying and the arrest of the brother, Edward H. B. Allen, on a charge of murder.

Police who questioned Allen and his father, Horace Allen, said an argument arose in the course of which Donaldson struck the younger Allen in the mouth.

Allen then left the apartment, police said, drove five miles to the home of a friend with whom he was to have gone hunting today and procured a shotgun. Returning to the apartment he found Donaldson just leaving, it is alleged, and shot him from close range.

DIES IN HOSPITAL

Donaldson was hurried to the Bryn Mawr Hospital where he died 15 minutes after being admitted.

Miss Rose Allen, the sister over whom, police say, the altercation arose, was not at home when Donaldson called.

Allen was denied bail pending a preliminary hearing.

ALUMINUM FIRE PERILS SCORES

Hundreds of workers were endangered this afternoon when fire swept the stearic acid room of the Logans Ferry aluminum powdering plant of the United States Aluminum Company, subsidiary of the Aluminum Company of America. The plant manufactures aluminum bronze.

The fire was confined to the one room, but at a late hour the full extent of the damage had not been determined. Firemen and plant workers fought the blaze with sand.

Ralph Ferry, plant superintendent, stated that the intense heat had shattered between 60 and 80 windows, but that the plant firemen had confined the flames to the one room. No person was hurt.

The building in which the fire started is a one-story brick, divided into three compartments and constructed to prevent the spread of flames to other sections.

According to Ferry, there were probably 10 or 12 bags of acid, each bag containing 200 pounds, in the room when the fire started.

As smoke ascended from the plant, workmen were warned of the danger, and traffic near the plant was halted. Smoke from the fire attracted residents of many nearby towns. It was in the Logans Ferry plant that eight workmen were killed in an explosion two years ago.

Last June an explosion in the plant ripped off a portion of the roof of the finishing room and endangered 50 workers.

Sent to Safety

LILLIAN L. M'CRACKEN

Miss McCracken, Beaver Falls woman missionary for the Reform Presbyterian Church, ordered from Tsitsihar, scene of Chinese-Japanese fighting, to safety at Harbin. Miss McCracken has served seven years as a missionary, excuding five years she was in the U. S. to recuperate from dread malaria.

2 VOTE BOARDS ACCUSED

Members of two election boards were charged with violating the election laws in informations sworn out by the Registration Board today before Alderman Albert J. Henning. They are alleged to have permitted persons not registered to vote at the election last Tuesday.

Those named were: Fifth District, Twenty-fifth Ward—W. C. Stewart, Elizabeth Hindsel, Edward Pierce, J. Montgomery and Thomas Edeburn.

Stores Open, Banks Closed Tomorrow

Although the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange and local banks will be closed tomorrow in observance of Armistice Day, the New York Stock Exchange and many other markets, as well as Pittsburgh stores, will remain open. Full financial news will be published as usual in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

King Spurs Parliament In Pompous Opening

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Amid the pomp and glitter of tradition, King Geoge V, wearing the crown of empire and ermine robes over the scarlet uniform of a field marshal, today opened the new Parliament whose task it is to rescue the nation from its financial and industrial crisis.

Speaking from the great golden throne in the House of Lords, His Majesty bade the new government, headed once more by Ramsay MacDonald, godspeed in its undertakings, He said.

"My people have given you an emphatic mandate, and we expect you to achieve success."

This afternoon the House of Commons will begin a session which probably will bulk large in England's history. It is not unlikely that it will forsake the British policy of free trade and join the ranks of the protective tariff states.

The King and Queen rode to Westminster in state, cheered by thousands of their subjects as their golden coach rolled behind an impressive escort of household cavalry from Buckingham Palace to the Houses of Parliament.

CHINA RUSHES NEW TROOPS TO TIENTSIN

U. S. Forces Standing by As Arrival of Soldiers Adds to Tense Situation

SHANGHAI, Nov. 10.—(INS.)—The arrival at Tientsin tonight of large Chinese reinforcements has created a tense situation in view of the presence of strong Japanese garrison and renewal of Sunday's fighting is feared.

Foreign garrisons, including the United States troops, are standing by.

Word to this effect reached here shortly after it was learned that more than 400 Chinese, part of the mob of rioters who terrorized Tientsin over the week-end by sacking shops and firing on the Japanese concession, had been rounded up by police today and their ringleaders summarily executed by decapitation.

The Japanest commander, Gen. Kashii, issued a proclamation yesterday declaring that if Japanese interests were endangered in any way, or if the honor of the Japanese army were threatened, his troops would "take the necessary steps."

This was taken to mean he would occupy the city by force.

Japanese Troops Prepare For New Attack

PEIPING, Nov. 10.—(INS.)—Japanese troops have withdrawn south of the Nonni River bridgehead and are believed consolidating for a renewed attack upon the forces of Gen. Mah Chan-Shan, commander of Hei Lung-Kiang provincial troops, according to messages received here today.

Dispatches received at the Peiping headquarters of Marshal Change Hsueh-Liang, governor of Manchuria, declared Gen. Mah was still in control of Tsitsihar despite the efforts of an autonomous army under Gen. Chang Hai-Peng to capture Northern Manchuria's principal city. Chinese officials charge Chang Hai-Peng's insurgent movement is backed by the Japanese.

Private advices from Tsitsihar declared Mah Chan-Shan has constructed a new third line of defense only 100 yards south of the Chinese Eastern Railway. It was assumed this proximity of troops to the railway line, partly owned and operated by Soviet Russia, would seriously embarrass Moscow should the Japanese persist in attacking Mah Chan-Shan's forces.

PINCHOT SEEKS $55,000,000

Text of Gov. Pinchot's message on Pages 4 and 5.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 10.—Gov. Pinchot today challenged Pennsylvania to "take care of her own" during the coming winter, urging the Legislature in special session to raise approximately $55,000,000 in new taxes and "prosperity bonds" to meet the unemployment emergency.

Nearly a million Pennsylvanians, the Governor estimated, are out of work, and with their dependents the total in need of relief will be 2,500,000, a quarter of the state's population.

Specifically, the Governor pledged that none of the relief money raised would "be given as a dole in any form."

URGES QUICK ACTION

He advocated quick action by the legislators, declaring that "the less we talk about relief and the sooner we give it, the better for all concerned."

In new and direct taxes he urged a one-cent tax on each 10 cigarets, an impost on billboards, and an increase of the gasoline tax to five cents through an emergency two-cent raise. The additional gasoline tax is advised for two years, the Governor pointing out that it can be rescinded at the next regular session of the Legislature if the emergency no longer exists.

It was a gloomy outlook the Governor painted for the coming

HOOVER'S KIN HELD ON RUM CHARGE

Brother-in-Law Seized Leaving Store With 19 Pints of Liquor in Sack

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Nov. 10.—(AP.)—The arrest of C. Van Ness Leavitt, brother-in-law of President Herbert Hoover, on a charge of possession of 19 pints of liquor was learned here today.

Leavitt was taken into custody late yesterday with Cliff Dailey by two federal prohibition agents and a local police officer. He said the liquor was not his, but had been placed in his hands when Dailey saw the officers approaching. The arrest was made in a grocery store owned by Dailey.

The two men were released on bail of $250 each. They appeared in police court today and pleaded not guilty. Leavitt, who is 57, is the husband of the President's sister, Mary Hoover Leavitt.

Rob Sheets and Fern Woolman, federal agents, and Thomas Carr, Santa Monica policeman, made the arrest. As the two federal agents entered the front door of the grocery store, Carr appeared at the back door. Leavitt was arrested as he emerged from the rear door with the liquor in a gunnysack.

Leavitt said Dailey saw the officers and handed him the sack, saying:

"Here, take it out."

Leavitt said he did not know what the sack contained until officers told him.

3 CAPTURED IN BATTLE IN BUSY STREET

Pedestrian Fells Suspect With Portable Typewriter; 2 in Hospital After Row

George Thomas, a Negro, was shot by a traffic cornerman, another, Harry Evans, was felled by a portable typewriter in the hands of an insurance agent, and a third, Homer Jackson, was captured without resistance as the climax of a six-block automobile chase through the downtown district this morning.

Detectives Walter Monaghan and Thomas Morgan early this afternoon arrested Mary Hughes, 27, Negro, of 1321 Bedford avenue. According to the detectives she said she was employed by the three Negroes involved in the chase when they rented two rooms at the Bedford avenue address.

CRIMINAL RECORDS

The sleuths, in checking up on the three men, declared all have police records, having been arrested for holdups in Ohio cities and also on charge of carrying concealed weapons and pointing firearms. Jackson, according to Monaghan, escaped from the Sandusky (O.) Reform School in the latter part of 1928 and in doing so attempted to kill a guard. Monaghan said in questioning Jackson and Thomas, he learned they were on their way to "knock off" a couple of gas stations and chain stores.

Two ex-service men were heroes of affair.

Cornerman Jack Showalter, crack pistol shot, former doughboy and now a member of the 107th Field Artillery, shot Thomas, the driver of the car as he leaped into Stanwix street, near Horne's store, with a 38-caliber revolver in his hand.

VET SLUGS SUSPECT

Francis P. Moore, 30, of 22 Hilands avenue, Ben Avon, ex-sergeant of the Marine, wounded and gassed in France, slugged Evans and grappled with him until a blow from a police revolver ended the fight.

The three Negroes came down Fifth avenue and turned right on

Body Found, To Quiz Powers

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 10.—(INS.)—A body, believed to be that of Stanatias Stikas, Greek, missing friend of Bluebeard Harry F. Powers, was found today by hunters near the Pinninnick mine, two miles from Clarksburg. After the body had been tentatively identified by local countrymen as that of Stikas, police planned to question Powers, now in the state prison at Moundsville.

Stikas disappeared June 10, the same day, police say, he was seen with Powers. At that time he had two Liberty bonds and $30 in cash. Police had questioned Powers relative to the disappearance of the man.

Heat Soars to 70, Breaks Record Here

A local heat record that has stood for 47 years was broken today, when the mercury at the local weather bureau mounted to 70 degrees at 2 p. m. The previous high mark for November 10 was established in 1884 with 69. Forecaster W. S. Brotzman said he expected the mercury to go up one or two degrees later in the afternoon.

Father of Daisy Guilty in Rum Case

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Thomas De Boe, 54, father of Daisy De Boe, former secretary to Clara Bow, film actress, was convicted on a charge of possession of liquor by Municipal Judge Frank M. Smith yesterday. Sentence will be passed Friday.

De Boe was on parole from a five-year prison sentence for operating a still at the time of his arrest. De Boe's daughter is serving a term in the county jail here for grand theft from Miss Bow.

Three Found Guilty In Gang 'Massacre'

DETROIT, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Ray Bernstein, Harry Keywell and Irving Milberg were found guilty of first degree murder in the slaying of three men in the Collingwood avenue apartment house "gang massacre" by a Recorder's Court jury today.

Grandi to Speed Through N. Y. Under Heavy Guard

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Foreign Minister Dino Grandi will be rushed through [illegible] in a closed car under heavy police guard when he arrives from Italy next Monday for conferences with President Hoover.

State Department officials conferred today with Maj. William F. Deegan, chairman of the Mayor's committee for reception of distinguished guests, and it was learned the prepared city reception was definitely abandoned. It was arranged, however, for the State Department men to meet Mayor Walker to hear his views on the subject.

The present plan calls for [illegible] to be brought to his liner's [illegible] on River pier on the ship, not being taken off at Quarantine as is usual for officials of such high rank. A closed car will be waiting at the pier and with heavy police guard the Italian foreign minister, against whose presence anti-Fascist organizations have threatened to stage demonstrations, will be rushed directly to the Pennsylvania Station to entrain for Washington.

15,000 WORLD WAR VETERANS TO MARCH ARMISTICE DAY

AKRON LIKELY TO CIRCLE OVER PITTSBURGH

Service Notables Expected To Take Part in Services Of Peace Anniversary

Allegheny County's war veterans, some 15,000 of them, will march again tomorrow, the thirteenth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice of the World War.

The parade is to form around Fifth Avenue High School at 10:15 a. m. and to join the local Armistice Day route: Fifth avenue to Liberty, Liberty to Federal by way of the Sixth Street Bridge, Federal to Stockton, Stockton to Ridge, Ridge to Irwin, Irwin to Western where it will disband.

The reviewing stand will be on Ridge avenue, 300 yards west of the railroad bridge.

WOUNDED IN AUTOS

Civil War veterans, wounded comrades and Gold Star mothers will be in the motor section.

Airplanes from Rodgers Field are to fly over the line of march and the Navy's giant dirigible the Akron is expected to fly over the city at parade time.

Col. George F. Fairley, chief marshal, has named Charles M. Smith, chief of staff; David M. Long, adjutant, and James J. Pirl, John J. Deller, Maj. N. H. Sepp, Maj. William R. Fowle and Col. William R. Dunlap, marshals of the parade's five divisions.

Service notables to be here for the affair include:

Maj. Gen. George S. Gibbs, former chief signal officer of the Army, and Chaplain Edward A. Wallace, of the 320th Infantry, 80th Division, both of New York. Others expected for the occasion are Maj. Gen. Charles H. Muir of Baltimore, former commander of the 28th Division; Lieut. Gov. E. C. Shannon; Darold D. DeCoe of Sacramento, Cal., commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; George R. Lunn of Albany, N. Y., commander of the United States Spanish War Veterans; Rodney T. Bonsall, of Philadelphia, commander of the 80th Division Veterans Association, and Maj. George E. Parker, Jr., of Baltimore, national commander Army and Navy Legion of Valor; Lieut. Ben Prager, D. S. C., adjutant of the Legion of Valor.

STORES ATTRACTION

Most of the stores now have their Christmas displays well under way and this will contribute to the attraction for visitors here for the Armistice Day celebration.

The annual Armistice Day ball of the American Legion will be held in the Fort Pitt Hotel tomorrow night. Charles C. Lane, Jr., is general chairman of the affair.

The Crafton Knights of Columbus held a community Armistice Day celebration in their clubrooms last night. Gold Star Mothers and ex-service organizations were guests of honor.

In Carnegie Armistice Day will be observed with the dedication of a memorial to the veterans of all wars. The ceremony begins at 2:30 o'clock. Senator James J. Davis will be the principal speaker.

Socialists Denounce Pinchot Job Camps

Gov. Gifford Pinchot's plan for winter tent colonies for unemployed men who are to be given work on state roads was assailed today in a statement by the Miners' Relief Fund of the Socialist party.

The statement terms the conditions prevailing in a tent settlement during the winter to be barbarous under any circumstance, but amounting to carelessness of human life in this case.

Police Round Up Juvenile Fugitives

Four boys who escaped from the Juvenile Detention Home, Forbes street, last night, were found wandering in the Hazelwood district early today and were taken to the matron's quarters in Central Police Station. They will be returned to the home today, police said.

PLACING HIS ORDER -:- By Quin Hall

4 Million Vets Demand Full Bonus at Once, Leader Here Reveals

More than 4,000,000 veterans of the World War have signed petitions demanding that Congress pay the full bonus to its soldiers, Harold D. DeCoe, national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, revealed here today upon his arrival to participate in Pittsburgh's Armistice Day celebration.

The names have been gathered in the past three weeks, DeCoe said. Ten million names is the objecitve, he added.

DeCoe was among the early arrivals for the celebration here tomorrow. Others included the Rev. Father Edward A. Wallace of Manhattan Beach, N. Y., former chaplain of the 320th Infantry, 80th Division, beloved by all veterans of Blue Ridge unit, and Maj. A. V. Simoni, chaplain of the 111th Infantry, A. E. F., and now post chaplain at Fort Sheridan, Ill.

VISITS POSTS HERE

DeCoe coupling business with his attendance at the celebration, was busy conferring with officials of Veterans of Foreign Wars posts today. He reiterated the veterans' plan for continuing their fight for full payment of the soldier bonus and said demands would be made upon Congress at the coming session to change at least the federal prohibition amendment.

DeCoe said:

"We have the signatures of more than 4,000,000 veterans petitioning Congress for full bonus payment and we expect to have, by the time Congress assembles, the names of 10,000,000 persons. The list already signed includes the rank and file of all veteran organizations."

Concerning the prohibition issue he said:

"Prohibition is a political issue and beyond presenting a formal request to Congress for some modification of the existing laws, we are taking no definite action."

LAUDS PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh was praised by Father Wallace for the high standard of its Armistice Day celebrations. He said:

"In no other place in the United States do celebrations of the glorious and at the same time solemn occasion stand out as prominently as in Pittsburgh. You people here display the real spirit, just as your boys did in the trenches."

Father Simoni seldom misses an Armistice Day celebration in Pittsburgh. In fact, he said it is the only celebration that he attends, adding:

"It was among Western Pennsylvania boys that I worked during the World War. My heart grieves at the recollection of the number of brave boys I helped bury on the battlefield."

Body of Man Gone Nine Months Found

BUTLER, Pa., Nov. 10.—The body of Robert Smith, 61, missing since February 10, was found last night in the fork of a tree in Venango Township by John Lassel, a hunter, of Verona. A bullet hole in the skull and a revolver nearby led Coroner William F. Pohl to return a verdict of suicide.

Honduran Village Razed by Hurricane

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The town of Lamasica has been wiped out by a furious storm, which blew down every dwelling, ripped up the railroad track and destroyed telegraph lines. It is feared that many of the residents were drowned.

POLICE PRAISED IN SHOOTING

Director of Public Safety James M. Clark and Supt. of Police Peter P. Walsh today commended the police officers involved in the capture of three armed Negroes in a downtown chase and the shooting of one. Walsh said:

"If crime is to be held at a minimum this winter drastic measures such as were used today must be taken.

"If it is necessary to shoot in capturing a criminal, then I approve of the officers' shooting."

Clark said:

"The officers are to be commended for the manner in which they captured the three men. They were positively right in shooting as they did. Had they not opened fire, it is highly probable the Negroes would have done so."

Boy 'Lifer' to Get Lessons in Prison

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Nov. 10.—(AP)—The education of Hubert Niccolls, Jr., 12, who is serving a life term in the state prison here for murder, will be directed personally by Walter M. Kern, superintendent of Walla Walla schools and member of the state board of education.

Prison officials announced they had accepted an offer by Kern to supervise the boy's lessons. C. F. Rose, prison librarian, will be his teacher. Kern will outline the course of study and interview Hubert before his schooling begins.

Pajama-Clad Mob Pursues Barefoot Marauder

Their slumbers interrupted by a hungry early morning prowler who had been ransacking pantries, Penn Township residents staged a typical "movie" manhunt as brandishing automobile cranks and monkey wrenches, they pursued the barefoot marauder across fields and into a woods where he escaped early today. Some of the raiders were clad only in pajamas.

The prowler, described as a Negro, was first discovered by David Crawford, 19, of Riverside Heights, as he ransacked the kitchen in the Crawford home. In his flight he left a ladder leaning against a kitchen window and his shoes standing beside the stove, according to Constable Sam Bickerstaff, who said that the man overlooked $200 in his search for food.

Crawford raised an alarm as the Negro fled, and nearby residents joined in the chase, which was abandoned in the woods several hundred yards away.

Previous to entering the Crawford home, the man is alleged to have ransacked the home of John Hoffman, a neighbor, where he escaped with assorted loot including $20 jewelry, a pound of butter, bottle of milk and a sweater.

Entrance to both homes was gained by jimmying a kitchen window, and as no one claimed the stepladder, Bickerstaff believed the prowler must have brought it with him.

HOUSE SPEEDS PINCHOT BILLS FOR RELIEF

Committees Report Out All Measures; Legality Test On Aid Program Sought

HARRISBURG, Nov. 10.—Gov. Pinchot's entire program for unemployment relief was speeded on its way toward enactment today by the State Legislature, despite threatened action questioning legality of the special session.

Before the Governor delivered his message at noon, five committees of the House reported for passage all measures before them, including an increase in the gasoline tax of two cents and a tax on cigarets. The action in most instances was taken in order that the bills could be printed and studied. Among other measures reported was the amendment to the constitution permitting borrowing of money to repay holders of the proposed "prosperity bonds."

The first income tax legislation was introduced by Representative Black, Fayette, in the form of a constitutional amendment to legalize this form of levy.

SENATE TO CONFER

In the Senate, move was made to have the entire membership meet in formal session next Monday night to discuss the entire relief program and determine how it could be enacted within a month.

Meanwhile the House itself followed the lead of the Senate in voting today for an opinion on the constitutionality of the call of the special session. Representative Talbot, of Delaware, made the motion, similar to that of Senator Salus in the upper branch last night, and it was passed without a dissenting vote of comment. Senator Salus declared there was a question of whether Gov. Pinchot was trying to do indirectly what the constitution prohibited doing directly in the extension of relief.

STUDYING LAW

Attorney General Schnader was studying the provision in the state constitution which prohibits the state from appropriating money directly for charitable or benevolent purposes.

Both houses adjourned this afternoon until next Monday night, apparently prepared to set a new record for speedy legislation.

SOCIETY GIRL'S SUITOR SLAIN

the Allens had made their home since the recent death of Mrs. Allen.

Both Edward Allen and Donaldson were 23 years old. Donaldson's father is in the insurance business. Horace Allen is a wealthy retired manufacturer.

Miss Allen's mother was said to have forbidden Donaldson to see the girl during her lifetime, and to have exacted a deathbed pledge from her husband and son to keep the young couple apart. Miss Allen, who is 19, was a debutante last year, and all the parties concerned in the tragedy are listed in the Social Register.

GLOBE TROTTER

Donaldson was in the news several years ago when he made a headlong trip around the world with little more than a toothbrush for luggage. Young Allen has been prominent in steeplechasing as a gentleman rider.

Capt. Ignatius Mullen, of Lower Merion detectives, said Allen early today signed a confession in which he said he had fired at Donaldson only with the intention of scaring him.

The police official also quoted Edward Lucas, a mutual friend, who witnessed the shooting, as saying:

"Allen raised the shotgun to his hip and fired with Donaldson eight feet away. Donaldson fell on his side and Allen walked back into the living room and started to read."

Miss Nesbit Regains Full Consciousness

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—After remaining in a state of coma for 19 days, Miss Elizabeth Nesbit, 19, former Pittsburgh girl, fully regained consciousness today. She sustained a fractured skull nearly three weeks ago in an automobile collision at Laurel, Md., when her father, Harrison Nesbit, former Pittsburgh banker, was killed.

House Chaplain Prays for Aid To Needy

HARRISBURG, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The Rev. Homer B. Poulson, Huntingdon, chaplain of the House, is incorporating in his prayers a reminder of the serious task confronting the Legislators. He said today:

"If we can protect animals in the forest, we can surely prevent women and children crying to us for bread."

In his initial prayer last night, he adjured the House to abide by the biblical injunction against giving a stone to those who ask for bread.

Police said the car had been stolen from Antonio Costriota, 2136 West Liberty avenue, earlier in the day, and that the men were fleeing from arrest when captured.

Cornerman Charles Langenbacher shouted for them to stop. Instead they sped up Penn to Sixth street, tore past Cornerman Mike Cox's stop signal and turned toward Liberty avenue.

OFFICER STARTS CHASE

Lieut. Edward Kirby, talking with Cox, jumped into his own car and gave chase. At Stanwix street, the Negroes turned off Liberty. As they neared Penn avenue, traveling rapidly, the signal light flashed red.

The driver disregarded the stop signal and shot his car across the intersection. Just past the corner, he crashed into a car bearing a New York license.

Cornerman Showalter was on duty at Stanwix and Penn. He turned at the sound of Lieut. Kirby's siren and leaped from the path of the Negroes' car as its fender brushed his coat.

One of the occupants leaped out, a .38 caliber revolver in his hand.

POLICEMAN SHOOTS

Showalter shot first, and the Negro, a bullet through his thigh, fell writhing on the sidewalk directly across the street from the Stanwix street entrance of the Joseph Horne Company store.

The other two Negroes jumped from the machine and started to run. Each had a revolver.

Moore, passing in Stanwix street, grappled with one. He felled him with a blow from a portable typewriter he was carrying and knocked the gun from his hand as they wrestled in the street.

Lieut. Kirby went to Moore's aid and knocked the Negro unconscious with a blow from his service revolver.

The third Negro, Jackson, dropped his gun and surrendered as police went after him.

The two injured Negroes were taken to Allegheny General Hospital by Showalter. Evans was reported in a serious condition.

PINCHOT ASKS $55,000,000 AID FUND

'Pennsylvania Must Take Care of Own Needy,' He Tells Special Session

winter, to be lightened only if the suggested taxes are imposed and the $35,000,000 in prosperity bonds are authorized and subscribed.

DOUBTS SCOUTED

The Governor scouted doubts that there would be hesitancy in subscribing to the bonds because they would have no substantial authorization from the state unless approved by another Legislature and then by a vote of the people. He said:

"I have been assured time and again that the people of Pennsylvania—and especially those who are well off—would refuse to come forward and subscribe the funds that are so urgently needed for relief work of the commonwealth. I decline to believe it.

"On the other hand, when I pointed out the imperative need for federal assistance, it was asserted from many sources, public and private, that Pennsylvania would take care of her own. Very well. Here is the opportunity to make those assurances good."

In these words Pinchot was noting comments such as those of Thomas A. Dunn, president of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, who declared in a letter to the Governor that the latter's appeal to President Hoover was designed to embarrass the President, and that the commonwealth could meet its own problems. It was not until after such expressions that the Governor publicly declared he would call a special session of the Legislature.

BONDS NECESSARY

Prosperity bonds are necessary, the Governor pointed out today, because the state constitution forbids direct appropriations for relief. A Commission on Unemployment Relief, to consist of five persons serving without salary, is asked, which will solicit subscriptions for unemployment aid and supervise their expenditure. In return for these subscriptions prosperity bonds up to $35,000,000 will be issued.

The Governor flatly opposed suggestions that money should be distributed according to population of counties, or that additional taxes should be allocated in proportion to their source of payment. "All relief money," he said, "should be distributed strictly in accordance with the need," explaining that some large agricultural communities were not suffering so much as industrial communities with smaller populations.

Asserting that there were several men in Pennsylvania who, out of their private fortunes alone, "could carry the whole state's burden" of relief, the Governor added that "if ever there was a time when self-interest dictated abundant giving on the part of the wealthy, that time is now."

ASKS AMENDMENT

Pointing out that the Constitution requires that two Legislatures and a subsequent vote of the people must approve expenditures for relief, the Governor advocates an additional amendment to permit emergency loans, not to exceed $20,000,000, upon the approval of one Legislature and a vote of the people. This plan, he said, would expedite relief work for the future, the present system being described as cumbersome.

Municipal sub-divisions would be authorized, under a bill introduced at the behest of the Governor, to borrow up to 60 per cent of their uncollected delinquent taxes. This privilege would be extended to school districts, the Governor warning that many schools will be forced to close during the winter unless such a remedy is adopted.

For what the Governor described as "work relief," to be financed by the new taxes, a minimum of machinery will be used in road building and repairing, thus furnishing employment for more men.

Unexpended balance of the Pymatuning Dam appropriation from the last legislative session will be devoted to other work if the special session approves.

Explaining that the coal industry had been hard hit by the depression, not only in Pennsylvania, but in other bituminous states, the Governor asks authorization to appoint a commission to act with commissioners of other soft coal states to "negotiate an interstate compact looking to the rehabilitation of the bituminous coal industry."

He hinted that only fear of prolonged litigation had prevented a request to the Legislature for initial steps toward a state income tax.

Ex-Wife Sues Ex-Husband For Balm, Court Puzzled

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Socrates has been called upon to help Superior Judge Joseph B. David decide the question:

Can an ex-wife sue her ex-husband for breach of promise to remarry while he is still paying alimony?

Harrie Lee Hall, president of a manufacturing company, and Olive Lee Hall, are principals. Mrs. Hall is asking for $10,000 for alleged breach of promise to remarry.

Judge David yesterday asked five attorneys what they thought of the case. Four voted Mrs. Hall had no cause for action. The fifth, Benjamin Davis, of the firm of Socrates and Davis, representing Mrs. Hall, said she had the right to sue. At this juncture, however, he pleaded that Socrates was unable to be present, and the case went over until Saturday. The judge said:

"If no law can be found by Saturday I will make law. I will rule at that time that an ex-wife receiving her alimony from an ex-husband cannot sue that ex-husband for breach of promise to re-marry no matter what he may have said to her in a weak moment."

DOCTORS FEAR HER REASON SHATTERED

Sits Rigid on Hospital Cot, Uttering Few Words; Shows No Interest in Dolls

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. Torture inflicted over a period of four years on little Edith Riley, 13-year-old victim of a stepmother's cruelty, may result in the child going through life as an imbecile.

This was revealed by doctors today as Edith, dressed in a navy blue coat and a bright red cap, was carried before the grand jury hearing testimony concerning her imprisonment in a small, dark closet at her home to decide whether her stepmother and father shall be indicted for being cruel to her.

The stepmother and father, Elsie and Harry Riley, 38 and 35 years old respectively, were charged with cruelty to a child in police court and held in $2,500 bond for grand jury action.

DECIDE ON HOME

Tomorrow Judge Katherine Sellers, juvenile court, will hold court in Edith's room at the hospital and decide where she will live in the future.

At the same time Mrs. Lila Reed, an aunt, will ask the judge to place Francis Riley, 15, in the home of his other aunt, Mrs. Louise Hall. Mrs. Reed was given temporary custody of Edith's brother when he told the court he was afraid to return to live with his stepmother and father.

It was largely on Francis' statements about the treatment accorded his sister during the last four years that the Rileys were arrested. He testified his stepmother "beat Edith on 25 occasions and sometimes kicked her in the face and kept her locked in the dark closet."

Mr. and Mrs. Riley were excluded from the proceedings, but with the children came their sister Louise, 20, who left the home two months ago, and about 25 other witnesses.

"Proper care probably will restore her physical condition, but we fear her mind has been so shocked and stunned that it will never again become normal."

SELDOM SPEAKS

Edith's pitiful features are devoid of all expression; her eyes, hiding beneath long black lashes, are dazed. She never smiles, seldom ever speaks, pays no attention to other children.

Only once in the three days she has been in the hospital has she shown an inward emotion. That was today when an International News Service reporter asked her if she would ever like to return to her home. With fright in her eyes, she instantly shook her head negatively.

She never turned her head, never flicked an eyelash. She might have been a ventriloquist's dummy for all the emotion she showed. She is surrounded by dolls and toys, but pays little attention to them. She eats ravenously. She responds to the nurses' questions by nodding or shaking her head.

Francis, Film Actor, Victim of Amnesia

VENTURA, Cal., Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Suffering from what his physician said was amnesia, brought on by a nervous breakdown, Alec B. Francis, 60, veteran screen actor, was resting today in a hospital.

GLORIA SWANSON

FIGHTS WOMEN, LEAPS TO DEATH

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—(INS.)—Curtis G. Dunham, 37, broker, of Detroit and Chicago, fought off two women who tried to restrain him and leaped to his death from a window on the twelfth floor of a Michigan avenue hotel here today. Loss of a once large fortune is believed to have caused Dunham to take his own life.

Miss Lucille Jordan, a friend told police that Dunham began talking wildly and went to an open window. She closed the window, but Dunham reopened it. She continued:

"A moment later, without warning, he made a dive for the window. I screamed and made a flying tackle. I caught both feet—he was hanging clear out the window. I finally got him back into the room with a terrific effort."

Miss Jordan struggled with Dunham for 20 minutes, she said, and finally edged to a telephone and called the house officer. A physician was summoned and Dunham was quieted and left in charge of Miss Mildred McClellan, a nurse.

After a few hours' sleep Dunham awoke. Miss McClellan said, again became unruly, seized her and tossed her across the room and leaped out the window.

Ill Man Stabbed To Death in Home

Walter Collins, 32, Negro, was fatally stabbed last night while he was confined in his home, 2171 Center avenue, by illness, according to a Coroner's report. Collins died shortly later in Passavant Hospital.

Hill district police arrested Roswell Remey, Negro, of New York City, in connection with the stabbing. According to police, the cutting culminated an argument concerning an unidentified woman. Collins had been confined to his bed with pneumonia for the past two weeks, according to police.

GLORIA ELOPES TO WED MATE SECOND TIME

Star Shows Experience in Prompting Pastor in Rites Replacing Illegal Marriage

By JOHN P. MEDBURY
International News Service.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 10.—Discovering that her first marriage to Michael Farmer wasn't legal, Gloria Swanson, film star and divorcee de luxe, eloped with him yesterday to Yuma, Ariz., where they tightened the wedding knot which was beginning to unravel.

This extra trip to the altar, though, meant little or nothing to the bride; being a motion picture actress, she is used to retakes.

By remarrying Miss Swanson, Farmer automatically became her fifth husband. This pleased the groom very much, as it isn't often that a man is able to marry Miss Swanson twice.

Their wedding last August was Michael's first venture into matrimony and he's doing very well for a beginner.

AGE RECEDES

"The playboy of Paris" also seems to be having a good time in this country.

When applying for their first license in New York last August, Miss Swanson gave her age as 32, but in Yuma yesterday she said she was 31.

If the Arizona climate can do that for her, she'll probably be 29 when she gets back to California.

The groom is three years younger, but at the rate the bride is going, it won't take him long to catch up to her.

The elopement from Hollywood was kept very confidential and the only person that Miss Swanson let in on the secret was her fiance.

EX-MATES UNINVITED

The marriage was an extremely simple affair and the bride answered the minister's questions like a veteran, and once or twice when he hesitated, she had to prompt him.

While all of Miss Swanson's former husbands were in Los Angeles when she eloped, she didn't invite them to the ceremony as she didn't want a crowd at the wedding.

The film star's ex-husbands are Wallace Beery, Herbert Somborn and the Marquis De la Falaise, in the order dropped.

Rumor has it that Miss Swanson had been married previously to the time she gave her heart and hand to Mr. Beery, but it's only a rumor and couldn't be verified.

When asked exactly how many husbands she had had to date, the bride refused to answer. She just smiled and said that her attorney was keeping score.

MRS. CARAWAY CHOICE LIKELY

JONESBORO, Ark., Nov. 10.—(AP.)—The widow of Thaddeus H. Caraway today appeared the probable choice to fill his unexpired term in the United States Senate after an announcement by Mayor H. J. Bosler that she would accept the nomination if it were proffered.

Mayor Bosler made the announcement as a friend of the family and a member of the state Democratic central committee, shortly after the junior Arkansas senator was buried in a little cemetery here yesterday. Several political leaders have privately expressed approval of Mrs. Caraway's selection.

She has been a close student of politics and government during her husband's years in Congress and possesses much the same gift of wit and satire that drew attention to him.

Kane's Dog to Be Witness In Murder Defense

By GRAYDON F. SMART
International News Service.

KANE, Pa., Nov. 10.—"Hobo," giant German police dog which already has figured prominently in the strange case of Prof. Elisha Kent Kane, will be used by the defense to give mute testimony for its master when he goes on trial at Hampton, Va., December 8, for the murder of his pretty wife, Jenny, it became known today.

It was "Hobo," great-grandson of "Strongheart," movie dog, who entered into the early stages of the case when W. H. (Hop) Graham, brother of the drowned woman, testified the animal had been brutally mistreated by Prof. Kane.

Prof. Kane maintains that he never mistreated the dog, and that Graham's testimony came from a mind warped by prejudice. The defense, headed by Attorney E. Kent Kane, of Bradford, Pa., cousin of the accused, is having the dog examined by a noted animal specialist in an attempt to prove that Graham perjured himself.

Dr. E. H. McCleery, of Kane, famous throughout the world as the "wolf man," has been selected to examine the dog. Dr. McCleery once owned the largest pack of wolves in captivity.

The defense believes that Dr. McCleery's examination will prove Prof. Kane never pricked the animal's hide with forks or otherwise tortured it, as Graham testified. Also, the defense is of the belief that Dr. McCleery will be able to ascertain from the actions of the dog whether it holds any fear or hatred for its master as naturally would follow torture at his hands.

Carol in Rage Over Nicholas' Elopement With Pretty Divorcee

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—The morganatic marriage of Prince Nicholas of Rumania with Mme Jana Lucia Deletj, in a dramatic elopment yesterday despite King Carol's stern disapproval of the union, had royal circles buzzing with excited comment today.

Prince Nicholas, fascinated by the charms of the brunette beauty, ignored his elder brother's refusal to sanction the marriage, leaped into his racing car and made a wild dash to Tohan and compelled the mayor of that town to perform the ceremony.

With determination similar to King Carol's where the auburn-haired Mme. Magda Lupescu was concerned, the 26-year-old prince refused to let his love for Mme. Deletj be thwarted by the arguments of the King.

So violent was the King's wrath at his younger brother's defiance of his counsel that he ordered all records of the ceremony to be destroyed and authorized the Bucharest government to issue a flat denial that the marriage had taken place.

His disapproval of the union was interpreted in some circles as an indication he had undergone a decided change of viewpoint since he once renounced his right to the Rumanian throne rather than give up the red haired Mme. Lupescu, that he had definitely given up any intention he might have had of marrying her and that if he did marry it would be with the princess of some ruling house.

The Mayor of Tohan, a small town near Buzeu, knowing that he had incurred sharp criticism for performing the ceremony without the sanction of the King, excused himself by declaring he knew no other course to follow when the determined prince rode up to his home in a cloud of dust and ordered him to perform the ceremony.

Shaken by the honor which had so unceremoniously been thrust upon him, the Mayor finally recovered sufficiently to seize telephone and convey the news to Bucharest.

EXPERTS LEARN BEAUTY 'MAGIC'

More than 500 hairdressers and cosmeticians, many of whom, perhaps are responsible for the loveliness of Pittsburgh women, added numerous new beauty secrets yesterday when they observed demonstrations of beauty experts from New York, Chicago and elsewhere at an exhibition in the Edlis Building.

Women whose eyelashes and brows are scanty need not despair. Artificial eyelashes and brows may be applied in any quantity desired. Swimming, bathing or crying has no effect on them, and they may be trimmed to any length or shape.

Skin belmishes are no longer covered up by cleverly applied cosmetics, according to Chicago scientific experts. A sort of vacuum system of drawing all impurities to the surface of the skin and removing them, increasing blood circulation and renourishing and strengthening the facial tissues eliminates fine lines and wrinkles, they believe.

The method of applying heat and steam to the hair and scalp by means of hot towels has been displaced by a scientific steaming process. Shampoos no longer imply soap and water, it was learned.

DELAY POWERS' INDICTMENT

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 10.—(INS.)—Indictments against Harry F. Powers, alleged "Bluebeard murderer," charged with having killed two women and three children after luring them here through matrimonial correspondence clubs, probably will not be returned before Thursday, it was indicated today as the Harrison County grand jury prepared to recess after hearing the charge of Judge John C. Southern.

In his charge to the grand jurors, outlining for them the degrees of crime and the nature of cases they will be called upon to examine, Judge Southern made no mention of the Powers case, it was understood.

Powers, now being held in the Moundsville State Prison, is charged with having killed Mrs. Astha Eicher, Park Ridge (Ill.) widow, her three children, and Mrs. Dorothy Lemke, of Worcester, Mass., after luring the women here on the pretense he would wed them.

TRUNK MURDER TRIAL SPEEDED

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Indicating that all possible speed would be made in bringing to trial Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd, confessed slayer of her two former women friends, County Attorney Lloyd Andrews today revealed he had filed two informations in Superior Court charging her with murder.

Mrs. Judd was bound over to Superior Court yesterday following a brief preliminary hearing. Andrews said she would be arraigned Monday and that the trial probably would start early in December.

Mrs. Judd confessed to killing Mrs. Agnes Leroi and Miss Hedwig Samuelson, claiming she did so in self-defense. She later placed their bodies in trunks, which she sent to Los Angeles. Under the informations, filed late yesterday, she now is formally accused of slaying each of the women.

Defense counsel intimated it would enter a plea of insanity for Mrs. Judd despite her story of self-defense.

New American Bible Out; Denounced and Praised

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—The new American Bible is out.

Printed like a modern book, with single column pages, and using quotation marks to distinguish conversation, it made its first appearance yesterday from the University of Chicago press.

The purpose of the book, Edgar J. Goodspeed, one of its translators, said:

"Is to give the American people—the child, man in the street, the woman in the home—as well as the minister and student, a book to understand and enjoy."

Circulation of advance quotations from the new Bible have brought both denunciation and praise for Dr. Goodspeed and his co-editor, Prof. J. M. P. Smith.

JURORS INDICT DREISER AND WOMAN

Writer Faces Arrest If He Returns to Kentucky Coal Strike Area; Denies Charge

PINEVILLE, Ky., Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Theodore Dreiser, novelist, and Marie Pergain were indicted by the Bell County grand jury here today on a misdemeanor charge involving misconduct in a hotel here.

Dreiser on being told yesterday that such charges were being investigated issued a statement denying them and saying it was impossible for him to have been guilty.

The indictment charged the offense was committed here during the tour of the Southeastern Kentucky coal fields by Dreiser and a committee of writers investigating the fatal outbreaks in the coal fields in the labor controversy last summer. It was signed by W. A. Brock, commonwealth attorney, and R. N. Cornett, a retired merchant, foreman of the grand jury.

Bond for each was fixed at $200, but court attaches said the warrants would not be served unless the defendants returned to Kentucky, as a misdemeanor is not an extraditable offense. A fine of $20 to $50 on conviction is provided by law.

Dreiser left here yesterday prior to Circuit Judge D. C. Jones' ordering the grand jury to inquire into charges concerning him and the young woman and also to inquire whether the Kentucky criminal syndicalism law was violated in addresses made at mass meetings and hearings held by the committee.

Writers Accuse Judge In Dreiser Indictment

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Walker, New York writers, only members of the Dreiser committee to pass through Pittsburgh on their return from Kentucky, declared that the indictment of Theodore Dreiser in the court of Judge D. C. Jones in Harlan was arranged for the sole purpose of diverting attention from Judge Jones' own misconduct in office.

The entire committee had left Kentucky before the charges against Dreiser were made, Walker said. He declared the evidence gathered by the committee showed that Judge Jones used his office in the interest of the coal operators and to the prejudice of the miners. The committee also charged that Judge Jones sat in cases where his wife's family were financially interested, and that he jailed miners without charge.

They also declared that 12,000 miners in Harlan County are living in misery comparable only to that seen in India and China.

SEA HUNT FOR 11 ADRIFT BALKED

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Tropical radio station here was informed that the steamers Costa Rica and Geisha, cruising the Caribbean Sea, near Cartagena, in a search for 11 castaways adrift on a raft and a lifeboat, were forced by inclement weather early today to halt their search.

Capt. Frank Ormsbee, Pan-American Airways pilot, saw the men as he flew a seaplane from Chistobal, Canal Zone, to Barranquilla, Colombia.

Ormsbee's message said the lifeboat carried 10 men while one clung to the raft. Wreckage, including many gasoline drums, floated about them.

COLON, Panama, Nov. 10.—(INS.)—The first clue to the identity of 11 men sighted floating in a lifeboat and on a raft was received here today. The men were believed to be either passengers or members of the crew of the Costa Rican steamship Baden Baden, which left Rio Hacha, Colombia, 10 days ago for Colon and was reported to have sunk off the Colombian coast.

Edison Son Contesting Will Accuses Half Brother

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 10.—(AP.)—William Edison, eldest son of the late Thomas A. Edison, says he believes interests opposed to him are trying to establish the impression he was not always on friendly terms with his father.

In a formal statement issued late last night he asserted that although he did not wish to make attacks on personalities, he believed a campaign headed by his half brother, Charles, was trying to imply "I am the only son that never stuck by my father."

Edison mentioned his intended contest to break his father's will and added that the efforts against him were being made by those "selfishly concerned in maintaining the will and codicil."

PINCHOT OUTLINES JOB RELIEF PLAN BEFORE ASSEMBLY

FUND PROGRAM PRESENTED IN MESSAGE

Governor Details Needs Of Unemployed, Submits Ideas for Raising Revenue

The text of Governor Pinchot's message to the General Assembly today follows:

Whatever the causes of the great depression in which we are now, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is facing an unparalleled and inescapable task. That task, which cuts deep into our interest, both for the present and for the future, is to care for those who, through no fault of their own, are now in distress or who will be in distress during the coming winter.

Every American will agree that the first duty of government, whether of the commonwealth or the nation, is to safeguard the lives, the liberty and the happiness of the people. Everyone will agree that the right to earn a living is part of the liberty we have to defend.

If our institutions are to endure, the right to have work must be defended as jealously as the right to own property. The opportunity to earn a living is as sacred as the opportunity to possess a home.

The present emergency is different from any that we have known before in America. We are over-supplied with the materials of comfort and the necessities of existence. He who has a dollar to spend may buy with it far more than at any time in recent years. Food and clothing, shelter and goods are here in unexampled plenty.

Yet want is abroad in the land. The wage bill has fallen faster than prices and the earnings of those who still have work bring them to a lower standard of living than before. Worst of all, millions of Americans are without the means of buying anything. While those who have are living in the midst of unparalleled abundance the sufferings of those who have not is beyond all recent experience.

Facing Crisis

This crisis must be met. If there were no other reason, our pride in our communities, in the commonwealth, and in the nation of which we form a part, would forbid us to evade the issue. No American, no Pennsylvanian, can be allowed to starve. The duty thus to care for the helpless and the distressed falls in due proportion upon every unit of government, from the smallest township of the state and to the nation itself. But that duty must be met in such fashion that the burden will fall where it can best be borne, and the scars of this calamity will be soonest healed.

It is not generally known that in normal times public funds carry about three-quarters, and private charity about one-quarter, of the relief load. During the first year of the depression the same proportions prevailed. That is as it should be. For the American way to relieve distress is not to force the unfortunate upon the charity of those who may give or why may refuse to give. The American way, the self-respecting way, is to meet the needs of those who are in trouble out of the public funds to which they themselves contributed in happier times.

Six separate agencies, acting under the state government, have collected or secured figures of unemployment in Pennsylvania on which to base an estimate of the task of relief which the commonwealth must undertake.

The first of these, the Governor's Planning Committee on Unemployment Relief, reported one-quarter of the workers of Pennsylvania to be unemployed, or slightly more than 900,000 persons.

Four other estimates, those of the Departments of Welfare, Health, and Labor and Industry, and the County Unemployment Committees—were in substantial agreement. Finally, an actual count of unemployed adults in the families of children in school was made by the Department of Public Instruction through 60,000 school teachers.

26 Per Cent Jobless

This census gave us undoubtedly the most careful and accurate figures yet furnished in any state. It agreed with the other five, and it showed that of the persons normally employed in the families represented by children in the public and parochial schools, 26.2 per cent are now unemployed.

Unquestionably this census supplies a safe and conservative basis on which to plan relief. There is no guess work about it.

One-quarter of our working people out of work is a formidable proportion. Anything approaching one-quarter of the payroll is a formidable deduction from what our workers have to spend. For whatever the efforts we put forth, however large the funds raised for relief, we cannot make up for the missing payroll. Do the best we can, hundreds of thousands of families in Pennsylvania will find themselves reduced to the barest necessities.

The question is not whether families out of work can maintain their ordinary standard of living or anything even remotely approaching it. The question is whether the parents can be prevented from starving or freezing, and whether the children can be well enough fed, clothed and sheltered to keep in health and go to school.

The census of the Department of Public Instruction shows 125,000 children now in school who will have to be given food during the winter.

Relief for children is the most important of all forms of relief, to starved children if they survive often grow up stunted in body and warped in mind. Moreover, they cannot be expected to respect and defend as adults the government which allowed them as defenseless children to lack for food.

There are influences abroad at this moment, influences hostile to our form of government, which are taking advantage of this situation to undermine the loyalty of the coming generation. The way to defeat them is to see that the children are fed.

Suffering Severe

The suffering which unemployment brings with it is not by any means confined to the lack of the ordinary comforts or even of the more necessities of life. Physical want is bad enough, but the mental torture which follows unemployment is often worse. The man who sees his family suffering for the lack of what his labor is well able to supply, and yet who can find no work, cannot be greatly blamed if he gives way to despair. And the man whose loved ones are sick, needing his help, and still he cannot help them, his case is even worse.

As those of us who have felt it can testify, hunger is itself a hard thing to bear. But when to a man's own suffering is added the suffering of those who have a right to look to him for support, the result is often appalling. No man can understand the depression who thinks only of his bread and butter side.

If we estimate two dependents for each person unemployed, the number of those who may require relief reaches the appalling total of more than two and one-half millions. Fortunately not all of them are in distress. Most of them may be before the winter is out. Very many of them need relief at once.

That is one reason why I take the liberty of suggesting to the members of the General Assembly that every effort be made to enact relief legislation at the earliest possible moment and with the least possible delay. The help which you are about to provide will be needed the moment you can provide it.

I believe the people of Pennsylvania will be grateful if the present session can be limited to the fewest possible number of weeks and days, and I am confident that the whole commonwealth will profit if the public discussion of the measures you are here to consider can be limited to the shortest practicable time. The less we talk about relief and the sooner we give it, the better for all concerned.

In announcing the extra session I gave notice that it would be confined to unemployment relief "and nothing else," and this notice has been strictly followed in the call. Very many demands were made to include miscellaneous subjects whose alleged connection with unemployment relief could be argued with more or less plausibility. After full consideration I have been obliged to leave them out. Nothing has been included in the call which does not bear directly upon the problem before us. To admit other matters, however desirable in themselves, would have extended the session indefinitely and correspondingly delayed relief.

No Income Tax

A number of states levy income taxes. New York, for example, has been able to raise the money needed for the state's contribution to relief by an increase in its graduated income tax. This matter was carefully considered in preparing the call for the present extraordinary session and no income tax was included for the simple reason that the enactment of such a tax would unquestionably be followed by long litigation. But any litigation at all would effectively prevent such a tax from realizing funds for unemployment relief certainly during the coming winter, and perhaps for several years to come. Therefore it was not recommended.

In my message to the recent session of the General Assembly, I declared that this was no time to raise new taxes. And that was true when I said it. But a time has come upon us when it is not only expedient but indispensable to raise additional taxation—when we must either do that or let our people starve. Therefore I say that this is no time to let pride of opinion stand in the way of relieving the suffering of our own people, and I ask now for the taxation which I then declared to be, and which was then in fact, unnecessary.

The situation which confronts us cannot be met in Pennsylvania as it can in other states. The framers of our Constitution and the courts which have interpreted it foresaw no such emergency as this. They did not conceive that the commonwealth would ever find itself under the drastic necessity of protecting its citizens in such a crisis, nor did they visualize the present state of the public mind, which commands relief.

Under the Constitution and the decisions of the Supreme Court, the commonwealth cannot appropriate money directly for the relief of the unemployed. The Attorney General, after very thorough study, has reached the following definite conclusions.

That the Legislature cannot make appropriations for providing directly to unemployed persons and their families food, clothing or shelter.

Direct Aid Barred

That such appropriations can not be made to a state agency.

That they cannot be made to any county, city, borough or other political subdivision of the commonwealth; and

That they cannot be made to welfare agencies incorporated or unincorporated.

In short, the money of the state cannot be used for direct relief. Therefore the imperative duty of the commonwealth to protect its people must be met in other ways.

The Attorney General's opinion is attached to the printed copy of this message which is already in your hands.

The commonwealth cannot raise money enough to give work to all who are or will be out of work, nor would all those who need help be reached if it could. There are many in want who can not take part in the kinds of work which the commonwealth could supply, and hundreds of thousands of children, mothers, invalids and aged persons who can not work at all. Therefore the program of relief embodied in measures already introduced is intended to provide both work and relief for those who can be given work and direct relief for those who cannot.

The first part of the program is to the creation of a State Commission on Unemployment Relief to consist of five persons serving without salary, who will solicit contributions or subscriptions, supervise their expenditure, co-operate with local relief organizations and assist the departments of the state government in relieving distress. The money subscribed will be used where needed without constitutional or other restrictions, except that none of it will be given as a dole in any form.

It is proposed that all money subscribed to the commission shall be repaid by the state, with interest at 4 per cent, out of the proceeds of Prosperity Bonds provided for in a joint resolution proposing a constitutional amendment which is before you. This resolution if passed at the present session will be presented to the next regular session and if there approved will be submitted to the people in the autumn of 1933.

To give work is better than to give relief. Accordingly the program before you is intended to provide work for the greatest possible number during this winter.

Flexible Fund

It includes an amendment to the 1931 General Appropriation Act establishing an emergency fund to be expended upon the order of the Governor in such ways as will best meet the unemployment emergency as it develops. This fund should be appropriated in the most flexible form.

Such elasticity is made necessary by the uncertainties of the situation and our present inability to foresee all the conditions under which relief may best be given during the remainder of this emergency.

The money for this fund under measures introduced is to be derived from a tax on cigarets at the rate of 1 cent for 10, and a tax on billboards at the rate of 2 cents per square foot, plus an annual license fee.

Amendments to the 1931 General Appropriation Act will provide the departments with additional funds for giving employment. These appropriations will take up the state's share of the amount due from the Delaware River Joint Commission representing the unpaid balance of the state's contribution to the cost of the Philadelphia-Camden Bridge.

A number of the departments are directly concerned with the present emergency, and their ability to render assistance will be greatly increased if the money available to them for various forms of unemployment relief can be somewhat enlarged.

Among these purposes are the advancement of tree planting, forestry and fire protection in the state forests, the promotion of relief to the indigent sick and injured, the protection of health, building construction and so on.

The money thus provided should not be distributed among the counties in accordance with population, for the need is not thus distributed. Some of the industrial counties are in far greater need than agricultural counties of equal population. Nor should it be conditioned on equal contributions from the counties, for the counties where the need is greatest are the least able to meet that condition. It should be distributed strictly in accordance with the need.

Loans Planned

Under a bill submitted to you, counties, cities, boroughs, townships, and poor districts are authorized to borrow up to 60 per cent of their uncollected delinquent taxes. The proposed constitutional amendment likewise provides that if they shall spend the money so borrowed for relief in accordance with plans approved by the State Commission on Unemployment, then one-half of the funds so expended will be repaid out of the proceeds of the Prosperity Bonds.

I have every confidence in the passage of this amendment and the repayment of the funds contributed to the commission and those expended under its direction by local governments, both because it will be recognized by all good citizens as a sacred obligation of the commonwealth, and because taxpayers throughout Pennsylvania will be interested in its passage.

As I have indicated, the device of Prosperity Bonds would be unnecessary if the state could give direct relief in this emergency. Since it cannot, and since such another situation is not impossible in the future, I recommend a second constitutional amendment permitting emergency loans to an amount not exceeding $20,000,000, to be expended for relief made necessary by disasters, epidemics, or economic depression, after approval by one Legislature and by a vote of the people, instead of by two legislatures as at present provided.

Under existing law there is doubt whether certain political subdivisions may levy taxes and make appropriations for providing food, shelter, clothing, fuel and hospitalization for those who are in need through unemployment. One measure in the program makes it clear that any such subdivision may levy taxes and make appropriations for these purposes.

The measure which gives authority to borrow on uncollected delinquent taxes to every such subdivision includes school districts. Many school districts will be obliged to close their schools during the coming winter unless they are enabled this to help themselves.

Gasoline Tax

The most important item in the program for work-relief is an emergency gasoline tax of 2 cents per gallon, in addition to the tax of 3 cents now levied, the proceeds to go into the Motor License Fund for roads.

The amount of this increase has been set at 2 cents rather than 1 cent with full knowledge that the 2-cent increase will be harder to pass than an increase of half that amount, and also harder to collect, but with the conviction that the amount of money supplied by an increase of a single cent will not be sufficient to meet the needs of our people for work-relief.

It is proposed to collect the 2 cents for two years. To repeal the tax at the next regular session if it is found to be unnecessary will be easier than to extend it if one year is found to be too short.

Another measure permits the Department of Highways, with the approval of the Governor and the political subdivisions involved, to take over for construction or resurfacing, wholly or partially at the commonwealth's expense, roads, highways, roads or streets anywhere in Pennsylvania where distress is greatest, but not to maintain them.

This measure is intended to supply work-relief in the more thickly settled communities, chiefly to men with dependents who, because they must remain with their families cannot be employed in the open country.

All work-relief supplied by the Department of Highways will be conducted, so far as practicable and possible, with the minimum use of machinery in order that work may be given to the largest possible number of men. In accordance with my orders issued during the last road building season, employment will be given to workers in the order of their need and the need of their dependents and wholly without regard to political considerations. The neediest must come first.

Fund Transfer

Additional authority to transfer money from the general fund to the motor license fund in anticipation of revenue is asked for in order that the Department of Highways may be able to give relief during the season when relief is most required.

An amendment is proposed to the 1931 appropriation for the construction of the Pymatuning dam. This appropriation was for $1,500,000, but the cost of the dam will be less than $350,000. It is proposed to re-appropriate the remainder for the purpose of giving work relief through clearing land, relocating and building roads and railroads, and all other work necessary to complete the project.

Because of unemployment, thousands of our citizens are losing their homes. One of the bills before you would permit, but not require, under proper safeguards, the postponement of tax sales of real estate from year to year until the present depression has passed. This bill, if passed, will relieve distress in a most important way.

Among our workers none have been harder hit by this depression than the miners of bituminous coal. The serious condition in which the bituminous coal mining industry finds itself is not, however, peculiar to this commonwealth, and cannot be remedied by Pennsylvania acting alone. Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky, our direct competitors in soft coal, face an equally difficult situation. I have for months been in communication with the governors of these states in the hope of promoting a joint solution of our common difficulties, without which there is little hope of relief.

I recommend that the General Assembly authorize the Governor to appoint commissioners (to serve without compensation) to act with commissioners from other states for the purpose of negotiating an interstate compact looking to the rehabilitation of the bituminous coal industry.

Sure of Support

I have been assured time and again that the people of Pennsylvania, and especially those who are well off, would refuse to come forward and subscribe the funds that are so urgently needed for the relief work of the commonwealth. I decline to believe it. On the other hand when I pointed out the imperative need for federal assistance, it was asserted from many sources, public and

PINCHOT FEARS LAW'S DELAY BY LEVY

Gasoline, Cigaret, Billboard Taxes Advocated to Meet Needs of State's Sufferers

private, that Pennsylvania would take care of her own. Very well—here is the opportunity to make these assurances good.

There are men, and not a few men, in the state of Pennsylvania whose share of the general wealth is so great that each of them, out of his private fortune, alone and by himself, could carry the state's whole burden of feeding, housing and clothing the unemployed, as it must be carried this winter. Each of several men could do that and still leave himself so much money that neither he nor his family need ever deprive themselves of any comfort or any luxury throughout their whole long lives.

Giving on the part of those who pay the higher surtaxes on large incomes means no curtailment in comfort, no change in healthful surroundings, no deprivation of warm clothing, no restriction of good food, no change in ability to send children to school, or to pay for the doctor or the dentist. It means no lowering of the scale of living, no lack of any of the ordinary protections, satisfactions or securities of daily life.

I am entirely convinced, not only that it is right for those who have much to give generously to the relief of those who have little or nothing, but I am also convinced that, from the point of view of enlightened self-interest, there is nothing else for them to do.

If there ever was a time when self-interest dictated abundant giving on the part of the wealthy, that time is now.

In the present emergency the load of unemployment relief should be carried by those who can carry it with the least personal sacrifice.

Share Adversity

Justice demands it, good morals plead for it, and sound economics require it, for every cent contributed to relief by those who spend their whole income on living expenses is a cent taken from consumption—and taken at time when every consumer's cent is needed not only to restore prosperity but to keep us from sinking lower still.

The more fortunate in this world's goods ought to take the same share in the adversity of the nation that they have taken in its prosperity.

In spite of the unique accuracy with which the percentage of unemployment in Pennsylvania has been ascertained, it is not possible to estimate with equal closeness the amount of relief which will be required. We do not know whether the winter will be mild or hard. We do not know how far industrial recovery may reduce unemployment before next spring; nor can we predict that the percentage of unemployment will be no larger in March than in October.

For these reasons, I have suggested no limit in the law to the amount which should be raised for the work of the Commission on Unemployment Relief. But my own personal judgment is that, even with the federal assistance which will doubtless be supplied, we shall require contributions in a sum approximating $35,000,000 from this source alone if the unemployed are to be protected against even the worst of the suffering which will otherwise be inevitable.

The annual social income of the people of Pennsylvania is said to be over $6,000,000,000 a year. With this gigantic sum annually added to the wealth of our people and with so large a part of it coming to those who do not require it for their daily needs, I am entirely convinced that there should be no difficulty whatever in raising such amount as may be required to keep the unemployed not merely from dying of hunger and perishing from cold, but in such condition, when better times come, that although the man be living, hope, ambition and energy will not be dead.

Chests Inadequate

The 23 communities which have chests cover only about 50 per cent of our people. The total proposed to be raised for them is about $20,000,000. Of this amount, about one-half will go to regularly organized community purposes and the other half, if it is all raised, will be available for unemployment relief.

If to this is added $35,000,000 in repayable contributions to the state commission, the total is but three quarters of 1 per cent of the yearly income of our people. Surely that is not too much to ask.

The recommendations now laid before you do not imply that powers already given remain unexercised. This administration, through the Department of Highways, for example, has given the most practical kind of relief to tens of thousands during the road building season now at an end, and has saved the situation in countless communities throughout the state. Other departments have helped in their degree, and I am now establishing relief camps under canvas for road work to which any able-bodied citizen of Pennsylvania can go and find a job, including a place to sleep and three meals a day.

So long as the money lasts, no man able to work need be forced to starve, or to accept charity without making a return. This does not mean taking care of all the able-bodied men among the 900,000 unemployed, for only a part of them will take advantage of this offer. It does mean jobs at the going rate of wages, less maintenance, while money enough can be found. When it runs out, relief will be given to the limit of the state's ability.

Relief Camps

These relief camps will be established in the regions where the need is most pressing. None of them is ready yet, but some will be ready soon. I have lived in tents, and even without a tent, in zero weather enough to know that it is practicable.

The measures which I have recommended as necessary to deal with this emergency may result in a deficiency. If they do I shall regret it, but I shall regret still more a failure to accept and discharge in full the responsibility of the commonwealth toward its people who are in need.

In the nationwide and statewide emergency, which confronts Pennsylvania and the American people, politics has no place. The plan of relief, which I now submit for your consideration, has been prepared wholly without regard to political or partisan considerations of any kind, and solely with the hope of securing at the earliest possible moment, and in the most effective manner, the means for the relief which Pennsylvania is, in honor, in duty, and in her own interest, bound to supply.

FIGHT ON GAS TAX RAISE SEEN

Gov. Pinchot's proposal to increase the gasoline tax in Pennsylvania from 3 cents to 5 cents will meet opposition on the part of the entire motor industry, Thomas F. Dunn, president of the Pennsylvania Automotive Association, said today.

The proposed 2-cent emergency tax would cost automobile users $20,000,000 a year, he said, over the $30,000,000 gasoline tax paid at present plus the $24,000,000 paid out in registrations and operator's fees. The levy would be a discrimination, he asserted.

Council Passes Bill To Aid Hoover Pool

City Council late yesterday passed finally the gold note ordinance suggested for municipalities by President Hoover and the Pittsburgh Clearing House Association, to place public bonds in circulation as a means to end the present depression.

Under provisions of the ordinance, the City Controller is authorized to release municipal bonds in safe deposit vaults and accept gold notes at 90 per cent of the face value of the bonds. The notes, to run for one year, are to be issued by the National Credit Corporation, and may be renewed at the expiration of the year.

SOUTH SIDE BOY HIT BY AUTO

Joseph Thomas, 15, of 2810 Carson street, was injured seriously last night when he was struck by an automobile driven by Lawrence Boedecker, 27, of 1410 Duffield street, while crossing Carson, near South Twenty-eighth street.

The driver of the car took the boy to St. Joseph's Hospital where he was reported suffering from lacerations of the head and body. According to police, the accident occurred when Thomas was caught in the cross traffic in Carson street.

CITY TEST JOB ASKED BY FIRM

A contract to test all materials and public works operations of the City of Pittsburgh is asked in a communication to Council from the Forest City Testing Laboratory Company of 436 Island avenue, McKees Rocks. The company asserts if given the contract it can do the work at a much more economical figure than under the present arrangement whereby testing is done by the city Bureau of Tests. The bureau is a subsidiary of the Public Works Department.

Some time ago Public Works Director Edward G. Lang proposed to Council that the testing work be turned over to the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratories under contract but no action was taken.

Council's Committee on Finance will act on the communication from the McKees Rocks firm.

Gas Well Fires Auto, Woman Driver Dies

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Nov. 10 — AP — Mrs. Annie Johnson, 38, of the Jennys Creek section of Mingo County, died in a hospital here yesterday from burns suffered Sunday when her automobile was enveloped in flames from a gas well as she drove by the well. Three other occupants of the machine escaped with minor burns.

Men!

THE FACTS leading up to this Sale should be told for a full understanding of the situation. The head of our LARGEST resource of Fine Clothes died suddenly a few weeks ago. He was an outstanding figure in the industry; but, as is often the case with such men, his genius dominated the business. Despite its size and importance, it was largely a one-man affair. For this reason and because of the present curtailed market for Finer Clothing, the executors decided to liquidate the entire stock at once, rather than attempt reorganization at this time.... A half-dozen largest accounts—leading stores of the country—were called into conference. An agreement, mutually satisfactory to all concerned, was reached quietly and quickly. Never before in our 30 years of Men's Clothing business have we known a big, successful manufacturing business with stocks complete, to be closed out at a single stroke, in mid-season.

The Unexpected!

Suits Overcoats Topcoats

Regularly $50 · $65 · $75

The situation is exactly as though we were to throw open our finest stocks of Suits, Overcoats, and Topcoats, and say "Help yourselves, gentlemen, at this price!" The values stated are this year's values—not last year's, nor '29 or '28 prices!

We have omitted detailed descriptions because the styles and qualities are those of our regular $50, $65 and $75 lines — single and double-breasted suits of the latest cut and favored woolens; box, Chesterfield, raglan and ulster-type Overcoats; and single and double-breasted box, raglan, and belted Topcoats.

A man sacrifices nothing of style, fit, or selection in saving $17 to $42 on a Suit, Topcoat or Overcoat! Every provision has been made to serve promptly and satisfactory all who come—whether morning, lunch time, or afternoon. Stocks will be arranged by sizes to simplify selections.

There will be Extra Salesmen, Extra Authorizers (for Charge Accounts), and Extra Fitters. Necessary alterations will be made (without charge), and deliveries will be made at the time promised.

The time could not be more opportune. Winter has just really begun. Thousands still have their winter suits and overcoats to purchase. The Army game and Thanksgiving with their clothing requirements are just ahead. There is still a need for topcoats in many quarters. To all such men, and to hundreds of others who will see the wisdom of an extra suit or topcoat under the circumstances, the opportunity is unprecedented.

Men's Store Opens 8 A. M.

Tomorrow the Men's Store will open an hour earlier than usual for the convenience of early shoppers. Set your alarm clock for an early call tomorrow!

Ohio Wife Slayer Must Die in Chair

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Tilby Smith, Ashtabula County wife slayer, must die in the electric chair at Ohio Penitentiary November 20, the state Supreme Court decided today. He was given an indefinite stay of execution several weeks ago while the court considered his case.

Mrs. Julia Maude Lowther, the alleged gunwoman in the conspiracy, is awaiting retrial at Wooster on the murder charges. She was given a new trial and a change of venue.

Walter Huston Weds His Leading Woman

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Walter Huston, stage and motion picture actor, and Nan Sunderland, stage actress, were married in an attorney's office here yesterday by Superior Judge Walter Guerin. The bride's father and mother were witnesses. Sunderland formerly was Mayor of Fresno, Cal.

Miss Sunderland was Huston's leading woman in several Broadway successes. Huston was divorced from Bayone Whipple Huston several weeks ago at Reno, Nev.

HOSPITAL DRIVE AID PLEDGED

More than a dozen business and society leaders of Pittsburgh have pledged their aid to the drive of the Belvedere General Hospital for maintenance funds. They will accept patrons' tickets for the benefit ball, January 18, arranged to aid the drive, the hospital committee announced yesterday.

The hospital is seeking funds to enable it to continue free medical aid to the needy during the coming winter, and to establish a cancer and tumor clinic.

Among those who have pledged their support to the drive, according to the hospital's announcement, are J. D. Callery, president of the Diamond National Bank; Henry Wittmer, president of the American Natural Gas Company, and Mrs. E. G. Wright, society leader.

GRIFFITH TALKS IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—A better understanding of foreign-born peoples in this country is the first step toward America's leadership in universal peace, Leo G. Griffith, of Pittsburgh, declared in an address before the Goodwill Congress sponsored by the World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Churches. He said:

"Peace, like charity, begins at home. How can we in the United States be a great power for peace in the world; how can we understand the aims, ideals and objects in the minds and hearts of the French, Germans, English, Irish, Italians and other peoples 3,000 miles over the sea, if we do not earnestly and sincerely endeavor to understand the aims, ideals and objects of our fellow countrymen?"

"Of course I smoke Luckies —they're kind to my throat"

"Of course I smoke Luckies—I thought everybody did. They're kind to my throat—you don't hear them in the microphone. And that's a very neat little handle on your new Cellophane wrapper."

Ina Claire

Ina Claire wasn't content with being an acknowledged ruler of the American stage—now she's capturing Hollywood, too! Here she is in one of those stunning Chanel creations she wears in Samuel Goldwyn's production, "The Greeks Had A Word For It," a United Artists' picture. Don't miss that picture.

Made of the finest tobaccos—The Cream of many Crops—LUCKY STRIKE alone offers the throat protection of the exclusive "TOASTING" Process which includes the use of modern Ultra Violet Rays—the process that expels certain harsh, biting irritants naturally present in every tobacco leaf. These expelled irritants are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. "They're out—so they can't be in!" No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough

★ Is Miss Claire's Statement Paid For?

You may be interested in knowing that not one cent was paid to Miss Claire to make the above statement. Miss Claire has been a smoker of LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes for 5 years. We hope the publicity herewith given will be as beneficial to her and to Samuel Goldwyn and United Artists, her producers, as her endorsement of LUCKIES is to you and to us.

KOMIC REVUE PLANNED FOR MT. OLIVER

Acts Being Chosen from Talent at Club Meetings; Big Stanley Show Sunday

Plans are already under way for big meetings of the Warner Theaters-Sun Telegraph Junior Komic Clubs at all Warner Theaters this week.

The Mt. Oliver Harris is arranging a big revue to be given a few weeks hence. The talent is being selected from the acts that are staged at the Junior Club meetings.

At the meeting at Belmont Chapter last Saturday the following children appeared: Dorothy Gibson, pianologue; dance, Crystal Ingram; a [illegible] girl who has been in this country [illegible] ago; songs, [illegible] Gotz; dance, Norma Belle McClain; a tap dance, Harold Owens; and [illegible]

BIG SHOW SUNDAY

Members who joined any of the chapters at the first two meetings are looking forward to the big show at the Stanley Theater Sunday afternoon. If they have attended four out of five meetings they will be admitted free. Announcement of the time of meeting will be made in the Komic Club page in the Sun-Telegraph soon. Read it regularly every week, and bring a friend.

Parents of the children are interested in what goes on at the meetings. Why not bring them with you? They will be perfectly welcome and will enjoy the fun.

BIRTHDAY CAKES

Every member of the Knight Master Komic Commandore and Heroine Dauntless Chapters whose birthday falls within the week will receive a big beautiful birthday cake at the meeting Saturday. This is made possible through the courtesy of Rhea's Bakery.

As soon as arrangements can be completed every child in every chapter will receive a cake on his or her birthday.

Watch the Sun-Telegraph for important announcements and if you are not a member clip the application blank from the Comic Section of this paper, fill it in and send to the Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Golf Stance Error Ruled a Crime In Caddy's Suit

CHESTER, Pa., Nov. 10.—(AP.)—An incorrect stance in golf amounts to criminal negligence, Judge MacDade of Delaware County court ruled in refusing a new trial to George Hetherington. The Judge plays a bit of golf himself.

Nicholas Brosko, a caddy, sued Hetherington last spring charging that Hetherington "sliced" his ball and hit him in the eye at the Delaware County Country Club. Nicholas was awarded $625 damages and his father, Alexander Brosko, $455.

Belgian Prince Home After American Tour

BRUSSELS, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Prince Charles, second son of King Albert and Queen Elizabeth, has returned from America after a seven months' absence.

Traveling incognito, he arrived in New York last April and began a tour which took him over most of the United States. He studied mechanical methods in a number of factories and generally acquainted himself with the people.

Hotel Head Leaves $100,000 In Will

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(INS.)—The will of John McEntee Bowman, president of the Bowman Hotel Corporation, who died here October 28, was filed yesterday in Surrogate's Court for probate. The will, which leaves the entire estate to relatives and friends, disposes of property valued at more than $100,000. Bowman was a native of Toronto.

Vote Fraud Charged, Recount Ordered

A recount of the votes in the First District of Whitaker Borough was ordered in Common Pleas Court yesterday on petition of Christina M. Jackson and others, who alleged they believed fraud had been committed in the marking of ballots and the count. W. B. Mitchell, Margaret Sartory and Raymond Conners were named to make the recount.

New Justices Slow To File Acceptances

Many aldermen and justices of the peace elected last week have failed to qualify for office by filing acceptances in the Prothonotary's office, Prothonotary John Voigt said yesterday. The law requires them to file acceptances of office, with a statement of whom they succeed, within 30 days, and unless this is done their elections cannot be certified to Harrisburg.

Suffered With Large Pimples and Blackheads. Cuticura Healed.

"I suffered with pimples and blackheads on my face and neck from six to eight months. The pimples were very hard and large and my face was so sore that I was actually ashamed to leave home and come in contact with strangers. The pimples itched and when I scratched them they became sore and broke out in other places.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample of each. I purchased more and after using them regularly for about six weeks I was healed." (Signed) Miss Annie M. Gehris, Bechtelsville, Pa., Jan. 26, 1931.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. H, Malden, Mass."

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

For coughs due to colds, the best remedy I've ever used, I'll say can't be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs, giving immediate relief is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill with plain granulated sugar syrup, or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix and when you once use this you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children take it like candy.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the phlegm, stops the throat, and soothes the irritated membranes. At the same time part of the medicine is absorbed by the blood where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine containing the active agents of creosote in a refined palatable form. Nothing known to medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs and bronchial troubles.

CAUTION—MOTHERS!

MANY COUGH SYRUPS CONTAIN DOPE

..YES DOPE!

"Jackie was not in real pneumonia weather and caught a most annoying cough. Immediately I put Jack to bed and started treatment with Smith Brothers' Cough Syrup. It soothed and relieved him. The cough seemed to melt away." Mrs. W. Rohr, 19904 Emily St., Cleveland, O.

MOTHERS—why take chances with children's coughs? Why risk using a dope-drugged cough syrup?

End your child's cough quickly—but safely! Smith Brothers' Triple-Action Cough Syrup contains NO DOPE—nothing that could possibly be harmful—nothing that could upset a child's stomach. Instead of dope, "Triple Action" (an approved scientific principle) does the work. It (1) soothes the throat, (2) loosens phlegm, (3) clears air passages. Quickly even a hacking cough disappears!... Children actually like the taste of Smith Brothers' Syrup (husbands do, too!). Only 35c.

COOLIDGE PLE... CITED IN NAVY DISPUTE

League in Controversy With Hoover Recalls Advice On Adequate Defense

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Members of the Navy League-Hoover controversy which flared when William Howard Gardiner, president of the League, charged Mr. Hoover with "abysmal ignorance," and "congenital pacifism," were fanned anew today as the Navy organization distributed the 1928 Armistice Day address of former President Calvin Coolidge.

While the pamphlet made no allusion to the recent controversy, the Gardiner charges, or the reply of the President and his board of inquiry which dissented at every point with Gardiner, those portions of the Coolidge address particularly applicable to the Navy League's differences with the administration on naval matters, are set forth in blackface type.

GARDINER CHARGE

Gardiner had charged the President with attempting to "restrict, to reduce and to starve the United States Navy." The five-man commission he named to vindicate his efforts to reduce the Navy budget by $61,000,000 supported the Executive at every point and found Gardiner's statement contained "many inaccuracies, false assertions and erroneous conclusions." Portions of Coolidge's address cited said:

"To be ready for defense is not to be guilty of aggression. We can have military preparation without assuming a military spirit. It is our duty to ourselves and to the cause of civilization, to the preservation of domestic tranquility, to our orderly and lawful relations with foreign people, to maintain an adequate army and navy."

DIFFERENCE IN POLICY

The pamphlet indicates as well the Coolidge differences with present navy administration and the results of the last armaments conference at London. Chief among the points brought out in the speech are:

"We do not need a large land force. When we turn to the sea the situation is different. We have not only a long coast line, distant outlying possessions, a foreign commerce unsurpassed in importance, and foreign investments unsurpassed in amount, the number of our people and value of our treasure to be protected, but we are also bound by international treaty to defend the Panama Canal. Having few fueling stations, we require ships of large tonnage, and having scarcely any merchant vessels capable of mounting five or six-inch guns, it is obvious that, based on needs, we are entitled to a larger number of warships than a nation having these advantages.

"It no doubt has some significance that foreign governments made agreements limiting that class of combat vessels in which we were superior, but refused limitation in the class in which they were superior. We made altogether the heaviest sacrifice in scrapping work which was already in existence. That should forever remain not only a satisfaction to ourselves, but a demonstration to others of our good faith in advocating the principle of limitations."

FIVE-DAY WEEK URGED IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(Universal)—Frances Perkins, State Industrial Commissioner, believes that employment figures in New York state virtually demand the establishment of a six-hour working day or a five-day week.

Miss Perkins based her statement on October payroll figures which show a decline of 40 per cent over the month of October in 1929, which, she said, "places the figure at a billion and a half dollars in wages lost" in the two years since the period of depression started.

Referring to the shortened workday, she suggested:

"The employment situation in this state makes a demand that all industries go on either the five-day week or the six-hour day. Different industries can adjust their schedules to one of these two methods of spreading work with varying degrees of success."

Gilbert Frankau, Author, Divorced

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Gilbert Frankau, author, and his wife, Mrs. Aimee Frankau, were divorced here yesterday.

Mrs. Frankau complained to a court in April, 1930, that her husband's attitude toward her had changed and last June she was granted a restitution of conjugal rights which she said was not obeyed.

CHURCH RIOTS SPREAD IN SPAIN

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(INS.)—Artillery and cavalry were called out in Northern Spain today as violent religious rioting spread to a number of cities, according to dispatches received here.

A dispatch from Burgos said artillery was standing by to prevent fighting between Catholics and anti-clerical demonstrators.

Policeman's Friend Kills Son in Chase

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—(INS.)—Robert Zabel, 26-year-old son of a police sergeant, was dead today following an unsuccessful attempt to rob a North Side tailor shop.

Fleeing from the tailor shop when Albert Kaplan resisted the holdup, young Zabel was shot and killed by Policeman Marvin Holden, a friend of the victim's father.

State Salary Cut Proposed in Senate

HARRISBURG, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Senator Aron, Philadelphia, last night introduced a bill to reduce the salaries of all state employes receiving $2,500 or more.

Aron's bill would reduce these salaries for two years, as follows: $2,500 to $4,999, 10 per cent; $5,000 to $9,999, 15 per cent, and $10,000 or more, 20 per cent.

Anniversary Trip Of Pennsy Man Ended By Death

FRANKLIN, Pa., Nov. 10.—An automobile pleasure trip to Mayville, N. Y., in celebration of a fortieth wedding anniversary, ended in tragedy, with the death in Corry Hospital of Charles B. Bramhall, 57, Pennsylvania Railroad engineman. He and his wife spent the day visiting friends in Mayville and were en route home when the accident occurred. Bramhall stopped at a filling station and was hurrying across the Corry-Union City highway when a car driven by Mervyn Nast, of Corry, hit him. Nast took the injured man to Corry Hospital, where he died.

NO. 553.

AN ORDINANCE—Granting unto Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company, its successors and assigns, the right to construct, maintain and use five 2-inch pipe lines under and across Preble Avenue north of Juniata street, for the purpose of transferring steam between the Manchester and Juniata plants, both properties of said Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company, Twenty-first Ward, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company, its successors and assigns, be and they are hereby given the right and authority, at its own cost and expense, to construct, maintain and use five 2-inch pipe lines under and across Preble avenue, beginning at a point located one Hundred Fifteen (115) feet ten (10) inches north from the northerly line of Juniata street and thence crossing Preble avenue at right angles for a distance of fifty (50) feet, and at an approximate depth of three (3) feet six (6) inches, for the purpose of transferring steam between the Manchester plant and the Juniata plant, both properties of Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company, Twenty-first Ward, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

THE SAID five 2-inch pipe lines shall be constructed in accordance with the provisions of this ordinance and in accordance with the plans hereto attached and identified as Accession No. B 294, Folder "B," in the files of the Division of Public Utilities, Bureau of Highways and Sewers, Department of Public Works, entitled, "Proposed five 2-inch pipe lines under and across Preble Avenue for Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company, Twenty-first Ward, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania."

SECTION 2. The said party, prior to beginning the construction of the said pipe lines, shall submit to the Director of the Department of Public Works of the said City a complete set of plans showing the location and all details for the construction of the said pipe lines, and said plans and the construction of the said pipe lines shall be subject to the approval and supervision of the said Director.

SECTION 3. The rights and privileges hereinbefore granted shall be subject and subordinate to the rights of the City of Pittsburgh and its powers over City street, and to the ordinances of the City of Pittsburgh relating thereto and to the provisions of any general ordinance which may hereafter be passed relating to the construction, maintenance and use of pipe lines in City streets and compensation for same.

SECTION 4. The said grantee shall bear the full cost and expense of the repairing and repair of the street pavement damaged, repair to sewers, water lines and other surface and subsurface structures which may be in any way damaged or disturbed by reason of the construction, maintenance and use of said pipe lines. All of the said work (including the cutting of the street pavement) shall be done in the manner and at such time as the Director may order, and shall be subject to his approval and supervision.

SECTION 5. The rights and privileges granted by this ordinance are granted upon the express condition that the City of Pittsburgh, without liability on its part, reserves the right, without assigning specific reasons therefor, to cause the change or location or removal of the said pipe lines upon giving six (6) months written notice through the Director of the Department of Public Works to Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company, its successors and assigns to that effect, and that the said grantee when so notified, shall at the expiration of the said six (6) months' written notice, forthwith change the location of or remove the said pipe line and replace the street to its original condition, at its own cost and expense. Lapse of time shall not be construed to operate to the benefit of the grantee in such manner as to confer any other right to the maintenance and use of said pipe lines, save as herein provided.

SECTION 6. The said grantee shall assume any liability of the City of Pittsburgh, for damages to persons or property, including the streets and sewers and structures therein, by reason of the construction, maintenance and use of the said pipe lines, and it is a condition of this grant that the City of Pittsburgh assumes no liability to either persons or property on account of this grant, and the grantee hereby covenants and agrees to defend at its own proper costs any suit or suits for damages arising out of the construction, maintenance or use of said pipe lines.

SECTION 7. The foregoing rights and privileges are granted subject to the following conditions, to-wit: This Ordinance shall become void and void unless within thirty (30) days after its passage and approval Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company shall file with the City Controller its certificate of acceptance of the provisions thereof, said certificate to be executed by the President and Secretary of the Company, and its corporate seal attached.

SECTION 8. That any Ordinance or part of Ordinance conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance, be and the same is hereby repealed so far as the same affects this Ordinance.

YOUNG HUNTER KILLS BROTHER

Walter Veith, 18, of Perrysville, is dead, the victim of his brother's shotgun, in a hunting accident near Treesdale Farms.

Veith and his two brothers, Edward, 16, and John, were crossing Small Creek when Edward's shotgun, which he was carrying in the hollow of his arm, discharged.

The charge entered Walter's head and chest. The wounded youth was taken to the Presbyterian Hospital where death occurred several hours later.

County detectives investigated the shooting, and announced last night it was accidental!!

Action Without Harm Whenever Constipated

Here's a way to be rid of constipation and its ills—a way that works quickly, effectively, but gently.

A candy Cascaret at night—the next morning you're feeling fine. Breath is sweetened; tongue cleared; biliousness, headaches, dizziness, gas vanish. Repeat the treatment two or three nights to get the souring waste out of your system. See how appetite and energy return; how digestion improves.

The action of Cascarets is sure, complete, helpful to everyone. They are made from cascara, which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have the 10c boxes.

Hamilton Bank Pays City $15,000

City Treasurer Richard W. Thompson today received a check for $15,000 from the receiver of the closed Hamilton State Bank, in full payment for city deposits held in that institution, protected by bonds. This makes the second payment to the city, the first for $85,000 having been made by the Exchange National Bank. The city had a total of $1,346,000 in closed banks.

WORK OF PUPILS ON EXHIBITION

Pittsburgh this week is getting first-hand information of the every-day life of its 110,000 school children.

Many parents are seeing, some for the first time, how their children spend their school hours and, incidentally, obtaining definite knowledge of how the money they pay in school taxes is being spent.

Entering into the national observance of the tenth anniversary of American Education Week, the Board of Public Education yesterday launched a program for parent visitation in all schools in the Pittsburgh district.

In the elementary schools last night "Open House" celebrations were held and hundreds of parents saw their children in their "workday." A similar program will be held by the high and trade schools Thursday evening.

The experimental nursing school in Bellefield School, where small children are taught to play, eat and sleep during their habit-forming years is attracting unusual interest. In its second year, 20 children between 2 and 4 years of age have been enrolled for the 10 months of instruction under Miss Jean Brigham.

The experiment is being conducted under the auspices of the Board of Public Education and is being financed by the Buhl Foundation.

Wounded Veteran Wins Insurance

David Morgan, World War veteran, of 2008 South Eighteenth street extension, was awarded $9,027.50 by a jury in Federal Court today in his suit against the government to collect war risk insurance. He claimed total disability benefits since 1919.

CITY PREPARING WATER SUITS

A suit to force collection for millions of gallons of water diverted from city mains leading to Herrs Island will be filed in Common Pleas Court this year, City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt said today.

The "missing water" case started last April when Managing Engineer James H. Kennon, of the City Bureau of Water, conducted a special pitometer survey in secret for several weeks. The city department made immediate plans to file a suit for approximately $350,000, the amount collectable in such a case.

Explaining the delay, Waldschmidt said yesterday:

"The suit will positively be filed before the present year is up. There are so many threads and angles to tie up, so many papers to be inspected and so many old agreements with the City of Allegheny to record, that the delay occurred."

OLD CLOTHING GIFTS ASKED

The Friendly Inn, 1112 Forbes street, in an appeal today, asked Pittsburghers to rummage their wardrobes and give whatever clothing they can afford to do without, so that men not properly clothed for the winter may not suffer.

For 25 years, the institution has maintained a policy of aiding worthy homeless workingmen. In recent years, the appeal sets forth, the demands met by the institution have brought about a serious financial condition.

Heretofore, it was pointed out, the work of the institution was carried on out of the earnings of the building. For the first time, the Friendly Inn has been forced to ask for assistance.

Erie Man Hangs Self In Newark Hotel

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Robert D. Landon, 28, of Erie, Pa., committed suicide today by hanging himself from the chandelier of his hotel room.

Landon, who was traveling auditor of the United Hotels chain, of which the hotel in which he died is one, left a note for J. E. Davidson, controller of the hotel, saying his act was committed "neither for a mental or physical reason."

RECOUNT MADE IN 64 DISTRICTS

The returning board making the official count of the general election completed 64 districts yesterday without showing much material change in the official election results against the unofficial figures.

The total official vote for 162 districts, including the first 10 districts of the Thirteenth Ward was:

Mansfield	39 781
McGovern	30 062
Lawrence	30 758
Barr	20 811

Mansfield	38 483
McGovern	31 216
Lawrence	29 464
Barr	21 153

Recapitulation of the figures shows a net gain of 1,298 for Mansfield, a net loss of 1,134 votes for McGovern, a net gain of 1,294 votes for Lawrence and a net loss of 1,342 votes for Barr.

Rowbottom Freedom Order Mailed Prison

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—An order directing the release of Harry E. Rowbottom, former representative from Indiana, is in the mails to Leavenworth Penitentiary.

Rowbottom, serving a sentence for accepting bribes in connection with the appointment of postmasters, recently was paroled. He is to be released as soon as the order reaches Leavenworth.

Life-for-Pint Case Freedom Plea Fails

LANSING, Mich., Nov. 10.—(AP.)—A petition seeking the release of Fred Palm, once committed to state prison for life as a fourth offender—the fourth conviction being for the possession of a pint of gin—was refused by the State Supreme Court today.

The court ruled he must serve from 7½ to 15 years to which former Gov. Fred W. Green committed his sentence.

WABASH TUNNEL CASE DELAYED

Airing of the grand jury's refusal to recommend purchase of the Wabash tunnel and bridge was postponed today by the County Commissioners due to the absence of Chairman Joseph G. Armstrong.

Commissioner Armstrong was confined to his home with a severe cold. Only routine matters were taken up.

Assistant County Solicitor Bernard B. McGinnis, who handled the proceedings for the county before the grand jury, said the Commissioners have 10 days in which to file exceptions to the grand jury's findings.

He said there is nothing to prevent another grand jury from considering the subject, but believes it is now a matter for argument before the court. Should it be decided to file exceptions, argument would have to be made in Quarter Sessions Court.

AUTO TEST MEN TO HEAR EYNON

Owners, managers and employes of all garages in Allegheny County which have applied for appointment as official examination stations during the 1932 state automobile inspection campaigns will attend a mass meeting tonight at Motor Square Garden when complete inspection instructions will be given.

Benjamin G. Eynon, commissioner of motor vehicles, and William A. Reiter, his executive assistant, will speak. C. A. Rehlmeyer, president of the Pittsburgh Automobile Dealers' Association, will preside.

Two official inspections will be compulsory during the year. The first will be made between January 1 and March 31, followed by police checkups during April, May and June. The second inspection will be made between July 1 and September 30, with checkups during the remaining three months.

Holdup Nets Gunman $40 Watch and Cash

Leo Turner, of 529 Morgan street, was held up early today by a Negro gunman and robbed of $3 and his watch valued at $40 while he was walking in Center avenue, near Aliquippa street, according to a report made to city detectives.

Two Held in Dry Law Violations

Daniel Izzey, of 118 South Twenty-first street, and Jack Allison, of 2829 Larkins way, were held for court, the former charged with violating the Snyder act, the latter with larceny, by Magistrate J. J. Sweeney.

Break Up in a Jiffy

This Quick Way

Feel Like A New Man Almost Before You Know It

People have found out that new-fangled ideas and notions don't break up colds. So millions have turned back to first principles and use what they know breaks one up in a jiffy. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to trifle with.

The thing to do is to get Hill's Cascara Quinine at any drug store. Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all.

Soon you'll start to feel like a new person. Things will loosen up, your head will clear, aching go—you'll be back on the job with a wallop.

Get Hill's now. It is a scientific formula made to do one thing well, to knock a cold—not to cure a thousand ailments. Get your money back if it doesn't work with twice the speed of anything else you've ever tried.

With a successful return of "The Student Prince" at the Alvin, and the waggish Falstaff in "The Merry Wives of Windsor" at the Nixon, society folks were attracted to both houses last night. I saw the Paul R. Havilands, with Mrs. Haviland in a dinner gown of white crepe printed in a sepia fern design, fashioned with a brief cape collar. Ellen McClay wore black velvet with a wrap of black velvet furred with white fox. Strolling in the foyer with their father were the McCahill twins, Marie and Marguerite, who wore similar frocks of Spanish tile wool crepe, with the square necklines bound with Kolinsky, and made with a modern variation of the leg o' mutton sleeve, and they wore brown chenille hats.

Theaters Attract

La Salle Dorrance was there with her house guest, Ruth Seymour, and La Salle chose a flowing gown of cream satin, having long bell sleeves, banded with mink, and she wore a mink tippet. Her house guest chose powder blue crepe with a white bunny jacket.

Several social events have been planned in connection with the third international conference on bituminous coal, which will be held under the auspices of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, November 16 to 21.

Planning Dinners

Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Tech and organizer of the congresses, will give a dinner in honor of Myron C. Taylor, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie and members of the advisory board of the conference at the University Club Monday evening.

On Tuesday evening a dinner in honor of the Coal Research Club will be given at the Carnegie Inn, Woodlawn avenue. This club has an international membership made up of men interested in new developments in fuel technology. Dr. Baker and Dr. H. H. Lowry, director of Tech's Coal Research Laboratory, are the members at Tech.

A subscription dinenr for delegates will be held on Wednesday evening at the Hotel Schenley. Dr. Baker will preside.

A committee composed of Mrs. Roy A. Hunt, Mrs. Sumner B. Ely and Mrs. Howard N. Eavenson will be in charge of entertaining wives of foreign speakers who will attend the conference.

Neville Chapter Hears State Regent of D. A. R.

That George Washington was a sentimental man is proved by the fact that he bought the ground (Fort Necessity) on which he had fought his first battle, according to Mrs. Joseph M. Caley, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, who addressed the Gen. John Neville Chapter at a reception in the Congress of Clubs yesterday. Mrs. Caley, who is here for the state conference which will oper. tomorrow in the William Penn Hotel, gave a general survey of the work done by the Daughters and spoke of the project of Fort Necessity as a point of concentration for the Daughters to work on. She pointed out that it is the only project where a memorial will be placed on land owned by Washington.

Music for yesterday's program was furnished by Miss Mary E. Graham, soprano, who sang in costume to the accompaniments of Mrs. J. R. MacGregor.

20TH CENTURY HEARS AUTHOR

Pulitzer Winner Tells Mothers To Write

Margaret Ayer Barnes, author of "Years of Grace," who laughingly tells of being described as a "middle-aged mother of three adolescent children," advises all other middle-aged mothers to write. As she spoke with a tremendous amount of charm to the Twentieth Century Club yesterday her large audience felt the adventure, the urge and the satisfaction of the writer, although she avows that the adventure of domesticity is the supreme adventure.

Mrs. Barnes' talk was on "First Steps in Fiction" and developing it she drew a wittily humorous picture of herself beginning to write while recovering in a French hospital from injuries received in a taxi collision. Up to that time this woman who insists she is essentially "a family woman" and whose first novel won the Pulitzer prize of last year, had never written anything. But in the five succeeding years she has done 10 short stories, three plays and two novels, the second of which, "Westward Passage" will come out next month. It is done in seven chapters, each named for a day of the week.

Mrs. Barnes says she writes in a corner of the family living room, with the voice of the typewriter merely a higher note in the domestic symphony. And she employs no secretary. The family woman, the author declares, has the advantage over her sisters in that she sees love and hate, courage and cowardice and all the other contrasts at close range and she learns more in a minute than can any other woman in a month with less outspoken companions.

Family Helpful

Mrs. Barnes denies that "Years of Grace" is autobiographical. As she puts it, "Jane" (the heroine) was not the author, but the author became Jane. Mrs. Barnes discussed the two kinds of novels, the novel of incident and situation and the novel of character and manners, declaring that no good writing will ever proceed from a superficial mind.

Altogether it was a most auspicious beginning of the club's lecture season.

Members of the Women's Republican Club of Western Pennsylvania who are going to Washington for the opening of Congress will be guests at several social affairs during their stay in the capital. Mrs. Virginia White Speel, founder and honorary president of the Washington Republican Women's League, will give a tea in her home on Sunday, December 6.

Women to Be Feted

At the opening session of Congress on Monday morning, Mrs. A. W. Powell, president of the visiting organization, and Mrs. Edward Martin, wife of the Pennsylvania Treasurer, will be guests of Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister of Vice President Curtis, in her section of the Senate gallery.

Mrs. Harry K. Daugherty, an officer of the league, and Mrs. David Aiken Reed will be joint hostesses at luncheon in the latter's home, and this event will be followed by a tea at the new home of the Republican Women's League. Trips to Mt. Vernon, Arlington, the Franciscan Monastery and other points of interest will fill in the otherwise unoccupied hours of the Pennsylvanians.

BLACK SUITS AND ENSEMBLES FAVORED FOR DAYTIME WEAR

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—All the colors in the sartorial spectrum are unable to eclipse or diminish the bright success of black. After several attempts in the direction of browns, reds and greens, the smartest women here are faring forth in black suits, ensembles and coats for general daytime wear. Many of the frocks have touches of white, either in the material or in lingerie accents, an always neat and youthful note. Simplicity certainly seems to be the watchword of the newest daytime ensembles, the kind of clothes that busy women select when they face a busy day away from home and have to attend to many different duties. Each season sees more and more of such ensembles shown by almost every house with certain designers specializing in this type of garment. All fussy details are eliminated, yet the outcome is by no means a strictly tailored frock or coat. The white touches lend a softening note that is very flattering.

* * *

WORTH IS ONE of the designers who has been showing several simple ensembles keyed for general daytime wear. The sketch today depicts a typical ensemble from this establishment. The frock is made of black jersey with a faint stripe formed of tiny woven flecks of white. The clever neckline, the little jabot and the cuffs are all edged with white pique. There are five narrow godets across the front of the skirt to give the edge plenty of width and to add to the general smartness of the neat little frock.

* * *

THE COAT that accompanies the jersey frock is very interesting, incorporating several of the season's newest touches. The material is black rough homespun—a great success here. The fur is black astrakan. It closes high at the throat, has a double-breasted fastening with four buttons at the fitted waistline and flares slightly towards the lower edge. A half-cuff likewise flaring is placed high at the outside of the sleeves.

TASTE

MANY people prefer Squibb Dental Cream simply because it leaves such a clean, refreshed feeling in the mouth. But that very taste is a sign of something far more important. It's the high content and purity of Squibb Milk of Magnesia in this great dentifrice that makes it so soothing and invigorating to the mouth.

Squibb's cleans teeth safely and thoroughly, by methods as modern and effective as those of your own dentist. You run no risk of damaging tooth-enamel or gum-tissue with harsh abrasives or irritants when you use Squibb's. It contains no grit — no astringent — nothing that can possibly be harmful.

Try Squibb Dental Cream tonight. See how beautifully it cleans—how it brings out the natural luster of your teeth and enhances the brightness of your smile. See how it refreshes, after a long day of smoking. Your druggist has it, in big, economical tubes.

Gray Hair

Best Remedy is Made At Home

To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It imparts color to streaked, faded or gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. Barbo will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

Prisoner Gets Writ, Holds Jailing Unjust

A writ of habeas corpus was obtained in Common Pleas Court by John Mullen, who charges he has been illegally committed to the county jail since October 23 under a suspicious person charge.

He said he was arrested by a city policeman October 27, lodged in the Woods Run Station, and committed to jail the next day by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones without a specific charge being made.

GIRL, TWO BOYS END LIVES

ELKHART, Tex., Nov. 10.—(INS.)—Mystery today shrouded the cause for the deaths here last night of three youths—two boys and one girl—all of whom committed suicide within a few minutes of each other.

The victims were Benjamin Clyde Kennedy, 19, whose body was found at Oakwood, near here, who had taken his life by swallowing poison, investigation revealed; Doris McCann, 17, who died a few minutes after taking poison, and Ernest Miller, who would have been 19 today, found shot to death, a pistol by his side.

Slaying of Infant Investigated Here

William Shumacher, of 2558 Magnet street, discovered the baby wrapped in a sheet while he was walking across the field on his way to Riverview Park. He notified Woods Run police and the baby's body was removed to the morgue.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—(INS.)—More than 2,000 persons, including Charles Curtis, vice president of the United States, and other notables had reserved places today for the annual "awards banquet" of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences tonight.

At the gathering, the largest banquet ever planned in Los Angeles, the year's greatest film honors will be announced. Honor guests, besides Vice President Curtis, include his sister, Mrs. Dolly Gann; 150 members of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association; Admiral Frank H. Schofield, of the United States Navy; Ben B. Lindsey, former Denver jurist, and Mabel Walker Willebrandt, one-time assistant attorney general of the United States.

Nominees for premier screen honors were: Actresses, Norma Shearer, Marlene Dietrich, Marie Dressler, Irene Dunne and Ann Harding; actors, Lionel Barrymore, Richard Dix, Fredric March, Adolphe Menjou and Jackie Cooper.

BARBECUE ROW SUSPECT HELD

Harry Miller, 24, of Locust street, McKeesport, was held for court at a hearing yesterday before Alderman A. C. Markus, of McKeesport, on charges of robbery, felonious shooting and carrying concealed weapons.

Miller was shot during an argument in the Littlewood Barbecue, conducted by Louis, John and Fred Ross in Clairton road, Jefferson Township, October 9. The Ross brothers testified Miller pointed a gun at them after he had been ejected from the barbecue and demanded $50 for the teeth he declared Fred had knocked out. Miller was alleged to have fired a shot at Louis and two at Fred. Louis returned his fire, he said, wounding Miller.

After being held for court, Miller filed an aggravated assault and battery charge against Fred Ross, whose bond was set at $500.

PIGGERY PROBE FEES UPHELD

Attorneys E. H. Wicks, G. M. McDonald and Paul E. Hutchison are to receive $1,500 each for their services as a special board of visitors to investigate the conduct of office of the Allegheny County Poor Commissioners, under an order signed in Quarter Sessions Court by Judge James H. Gray.

The order pointed out that the three lawyers had had to devote practically their entire time from September 8 to October 28 to the investigation. The visitors filed their final report on the latter date, pointing out the expenditure of $65,000 for piggery, $10,000 for "hole in the ground" where a hospital construction project has been abandoned, and other matters, and recommended their report to be turned over to the District Attorney for such action as it seemed to warrant.

District Attorney Andrew T. Park has stated he will present the poor board controversy to the grand jury for its consideration.

SCHOOL TAXES UNCHANGED

The city's public school tax millage for 1932 will remain at 11¾ mills, the same as this year's levy, it was announced today following the annual meeting of the Board of Public Education in the Administration Building, Forbes street and Bellefield avenue, yesterday.

The levy includes 6.51 mills, or $6,684,865, for salaries fixed by law; 2.24 mills, or $2,265,760, for debt service, and 3 mills, or $3,034,500, for all other expenses, making the budget total for 1932 $11,885,125.

Judges of Common Pleas Court reappointed five members of the board, whose terms had expired, to three-year terms. The reappointed members are Mrs. Mary J. Cowley, Alexander P. Reed, Philip Murray, Frank E. Freese and Robert Voegtly. Mrs. John M. Phillips was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mrs. Alice M. Carmalt.

Present officers and committees were re-elected.

Navy No Worry--Can Use School Pennies Again

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

While the little Navy men are cheering wrecks at sea, Mr. Gardiner has become the proud father of many inaccuracies, wrong assumptions and erroneous conclusions.

Mr. Gardiner's criticism of Mr. Hoover's naval budget was full of sound and fury signifying the berries.

In addition to all that Mr. Gardiner must steam up a public retraction. And he probably will do it in the same manner the street car conductor apologized to the lady passenger by telling her she didn't have to go to that hot place if she didn't want to.

From now on we all will demonstrate the supremacy of mind over matter by repeating aloud: "There is a Navy, there is a Navy, there is a Navy."

It is all an unfortunate occurrence that the sailor's sox could be washed in public, for both Mr. Hoover and Mr. Gardiner are animated by public zeal and there probably was no Navy in the first place.

There is nothing to worry about. The school children's pennies once saved Old Ironsides. And in case of a tie we can trim those kids again.

DELAY DECISION ON ENGELSBERG

Federal Judge Nelson McVicar today sought to learn what relation exists between the 30-day stay and presidential pardon sought for Joseph Engelsberg, former Hill district politician and convicted bootlegger.

Attorney Charles B. Prichard today appeared before Judge McVicar and argued for the stay before Engelsberg begins his six months' jail sentence. Judge McVicar asked if there was any relation between the pardon and the stay.

Both Prichard and Attorney B. Robert Averbach, acting as counsel in the pardon plea, denied there was any connection. The stay, it was said, was wanted because Engelsberg's wife is in a Philadelphia hospital and the prisoner wants to bring her home. Judge McVicar said Engelsberg has had practically two weeks to bring her back, since the Supreme Court refused to review the case. Judge McVicar reserved decision in the plea.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Philip Burnet, 53, of this city, president of the Continental-American Life Insurance Company, of Delaware, died today in Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, of a heart attack.

AUTO, TROLLEY CRASH IN FOG, INJURING 6

Wilmerding Boys Taken To Hospital Following Collision in Turtle Creek

Six Wilmerding High School boys were injured, one so severely he was taken to McKeesport Hospital, early today when their car crashed into a Wilmerding-bound street car near the Union High School, Turtle Creek.

The injured are:

WARD, James, 17, of 209 Welsh street, cuts on face and two fractured ribs.

ON WAY TO SCHOOL

The boys were on their way to the school when the accident occurred.

Miller said that he swung his car out of the traffic lane to avoid hitting another auto which suddenly appeared ahead of him out of a dense fog. As he did so the street car struck his machine head-on.

Force of the collision shattered Miller's car and hurled it against the auto which he had been trying to pass.

M. W. Stibula, of Caldwell avenue; William Schubert, of Welch avenue, and Joseph Kubricka, of 113 Caldwell street, Wilmerding insurance men occupying the other auto, were not injured.

GIVEN FIRST AID

William Perriello, 16, of 125 Middle avenue, Wilmerding, another high school student, gave the injured boys first-aid treatment until the arrival of Dr. W. J. Salisbury, of Westinghouse Park, Wilmerding, arrived.

Dr. Salisbury, driving his son and other students to the school, narrowly avoided crashing into the wrecked cars as they loomed in front of him through the fog.

CRITIC HAPPY ART WINNERS 'NOT WORSE'

Dr. Mather Discusses Jury System 'Fallacy'; Praises Paintings at Kaufmann's

By PENELOPE REDD

Dr. Frank Jewett Mather, of Princeton, N. J., art critic and author, refused last night to comment extensively upon the Carnegie International prize paintings in his talk at Carnegie Lecture Hall.

At the conclusion of his discussion of the fallacy of organizing a committee in the esthetic field to render such decisions, He said:

"The big thing is to be delighted that they were not worse.

LAUDS STORE ART

"The thing that interests me most in Pittsburgh, is the series of Boardman Robinson's decorations in Kaufmann's. Edgar Kaufmann took a sound academic position when he selected commerce as the idea of the paintings, thus establishing a theme invested with historic continuity. Then he consumated his very successful aesthetic adventure by calling in Boardman Robinson, solely on his own decision."

Dr. Mather described himself as an academic critic, one who regards art as a continuity with the past. In answer to his own query, "What is the real use of all this art? Is it like spats—a kind of finish to a costume?" Dr. Mather replied:

"Art is to deepen and broaden the human experience."

COMMENT ON PAINTINGS

Some of the paintings he selected and commented upon were:

Redfield's "Delaware Water Gap."

Of Speicher's "Babette:"

"A synthesis of the modern young girl who has ceased to be a female with a capital 'F,' as in my youth, and is now a person actively participating in community life. Speicher is a rational optimist."

Of Spencer's "Hope Williams:"

"This painting has a beauty

ART BALLOTING STARTS SUNDAY

Voting by visitors to the Thirtieth Carnegie International Exhibition of Paintings to determine the award of the popular prize of $200 will open Sunday, officials announced today. The voting will continue two weeks, closing November 29.

The purpose of the prize, which is being offered for the eighth time, is to stimulate interest in the exhibit and give visitors an opportunity to exercise their own standards of criticism. Last year's prize was won by Leopold Seyffert for his "Portrait of Marion Eckhart."

Famous Warship Of Kaiser Scrapped

KIEL, Germany, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—The gunboat Panther, whose name echoed around the world in 1911 at the time of Kaiser Wilhelm's "Panther leap to Agidir," has been sold for 37,262 marks—a little more than $9,000—as scrap iron to a firm in Frankfort.

There is no possibility of using the vessel commercially and she will be broken up. The Panther served as a naval survey ship for some time after the World War.

After bequests of $500 each to the Homewood Presbyterian Church and the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer and $5,000 in trust to a cousin, Nancy J. Mallisee, the remainder goes to three brothers, Louis W., Thomas E. and Charles C. Mallisee.

WELFARE AIDES ADD $121,614 TO FUND

Workers Enthusiastic as Reports Show One-Fourth Of District Goal Reached

Welfare Fund Donors Names to Be Published

Names of all contributors to the joint campaign for the Welfare Fund and Emergency Association will be made public as they are received from the campaign auditors, it was announced today by A. K. Oliver, president of the Welfare Fund, and Joseph Dilworth, general chairman of the campaign.

Exceptions will be only where permission is refused, Oliver said.

The Welfare Fund was boosted $121,614.91 as teams made their reports at the noonday meeting in the William Penn Hotel, bringing the total thus far to $1,471,812.72 toward an objective of $5,981,184.

Joseph Dilworth, general chairman of the drive, aroused enthusiasm of the workers by announcing that Abe Moretsky, newsboy, who has a stand in the Chamber of Commerce Building, had donated his entire yesterday's receipts of $3.42.

The number of subscriptions reported today was 1,517, bringing the aggregate to 4,074.

Nearly 700 workers made their reports at the first report luncheon of the drive in William Penn Hotel yesterday as follows: corporation division, under Frank H. Phillips, $773,797.81; special gifts division, under F. A. Leovy, $411,131; central division, under J. E. Lewis and Mrs. J. W. Lawrence, $71,255; Sewickley division, under Mrs. Alexander Laughlin, $36,260; employe division, under W. E. Quinby, $38,372; units division, under C. W. Head, $19,382. Contributions from employes of the H. J. Heinz Company totaled $11,000, 90 per cent higher than last year's total and representing a subscription from every employe of the company in the county.

Meetings were held last night in East Liberty, Dormont and Mt. Lebanon, Clairton, Carnegie, McKees Rocks, Oakmont and Verona, Springdale and Wilkinsburg in preparation for the opening of separate campaigns in those communities today.

neighborhood divisions will not open their campaign until next Sunday, leaving the way clear for the employe division and other groups to complete their solicitation without confusion.

Girl's Father Beats Man After Chase

David Caccano, 24, of 904 Tenth street, Sharpsburg, is under arrest today in the Etna Police Station in connection with an attack on a 13-year-old girl.

The girl's father was arrested along with Caccano when Lieut. Roxie Balsito, of Etna, parted the pair in a fight in Seventh street, Etna. According to police, the father, answering his daughter's scream, chased Caccano nearly two miles through Etna streets.

FREE POTATOES FOR NEEDY AIM OF DRIVE

Surplus Committee Opens Campaign for Collection Here of 100,000 Bushels

One hundred thousand bushels of potatoes for the hungry of Pittsburgh this winter is the goal set by the Surplus for Needy Committee in the campaign starting today. It will continue for three weeks.

Gov. Pinchot has agreed to assist in the collection of the potatoes by instructing state police and the Highway Patrol to locate surplus stocks as which farmers have found too small or unprofitable to harvest.

The committee will also have the co-operation of the trucking committee, consisting of Charles Reppert, chief engineer of the Department of Public Works, and George Lehman and Herman Fiesig, of the same department, who co-operated in the canning campaign, in obtaining the services of the various companies for the use of their trucks.

Men of the Helping Hand will give their services in digging, loading and storing the potatoes.

The Gulf Refining Company has agreed to continue to provide free gasoline and oil for the potato trucks.

REALTY BOARD ATTACKS CITY PAYROLL

Rates Top Other Cities, Critics Say; Assail New Jobs, Urge 5-Day Week

Four hundred and seventy-one new positions have been created in the city's working personnel within the past two years with a net cost in salaries of $881,457, the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board pointed out in a letter to Council and the Mayor, made public yesterday.

Comparing the cost of operation of the municipal government here with that of a number of other cities, the board has asked Council to eliminate as many unnecessary expenses as possible. It was pointed out considerable saving could be made in economical operation of departments and bureaus.

Of the 471 positions created in the 1930 and 1931 budgets, 204 were in the police and fire bureaus. The total cost of the increases, according to the Real Estate Board's compilation, is $142,188 for police, $14,400 for firemen and $138,459 for miscellaneous activities.

FIVE-DAY WEEK URGED

In its communication to be acted upon today by the Councilmanic Finance Committee, the board recommends a five-day week plan of work for all city employes.

The letter said in part:

"Your favorable consideration is asked of a plan whereby all employes will work only five days per week during 1932, with operating departments such as the pumping stations, which require constant care, placed on a staggered five-day week basis. In working out this plan, present salary and wage rates would be retained. In dollars, the saving by such a plan will amount to approximately $1,500,000."

This, according to the present returns of revenue on the basis of about $750,000 per mill, would mean a saving of two mills on the 1932 estimate. Reduced living costs here and in other cities are said to be behind this particular request.

1922 ACTION RECALLED

Council took similar action in 1922, the Real Estate Board asserts, when decreases in living were recognized. The resulting adjustment at that time resulted in a saving of $1,512,748.58.

Increases in salaries reached their peak this year, it was said, representing an increase of 127 per cent over 1917. This was also $2,250,000 more than was spent for payroll purposes for 1929.

A tabulation listing 168 positions in the city here, accompanying the Real Estate Board's letter, shows 63, embracing 2,857 employes, receive higher pay than a maximum rate for 16 other cities similar in size to Pittsburgh.

WATER PACT ASSAILED

The city's agreement with the South Pittsburgh Water Company to pay the difference between the city rate and the company's rate is highly unfair to citizens in the eastern part of the city, the letter declared. It recommended that City Council terminate the agreement with the water company.

Many residents in the Brushton district purchase water from the Pennsylvania Water Company at a higher rate than that of the city. These taxpayers, it was pointed out, are not only paying more for water, but are also helping the rebate for the South Hills consumers through higher taxes.

Council renewed its agreement with the South Pittsburgh Water Company in 1929 for a 10-year period. In 1932, it is estimated the city will pay an excess of $340,000 to the water company, or almost ½-mill in taxes. The ordinance provides that the agreement may be ended at the end of any quarter on 90 days notice by either party.

BAKERY HELD UP IN EAST LIBERTY

Two robbers entered the Economy Pastry Shop, 6430 Frankstown avenue, early today and after threatening Charles Fumo, Jr., night baker, with a revolver, escaped with small change from the cash register.

Leo Turner, of 529 Morgan street, complained to police that while he was walking in Center avenue, near Allequippa street, last night as he was accosted by an armed Negro who fled after taking his watch and $3 in cash.

STILL SEIZED IN RAID

A house and garage at 1108 Stanhope street was reported raided by prohibition agents and state constables who said two whisky stills and other distillery paraphernalia were seized.

Gin and whisky were reported seized when the combined forces raided a building at 616 Logan street.

BAKER SPEAKER ON AIMS OF COAL PARLEY

Leading Scientists Daily Arriving in U. S. for Parts in Tech Meeting

Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Tech, spoke today at a luncheon meeting of the Pittsburgh Advertising Club in the William Penn Hotel on the plans and scope of the Third International Conference on Bituminous Coal, which will open at Tech, November 16.

Leading scientists from England, France, Germany, Belgium and Italy are arriving in New York daily to participate in the conference. Two British delegates arrived today. They were P. C. Pope, general secretary, Institute of Fuel, and Laurence H. Sensicle, of the Gas Chambers and Coke Oven, Ltd., of London.

Pope, who since the war has developed low temperature carbonization in his country, will speak Tuesday afternoon, November 17, on "Present and Future Positions of the Low Temperature Industry in England." Sensicle, active in war time smoke screening services, will address the gasification section of the conference on Intermittent Vertical Chamber Oven.

Sir Harry Brittain, vice president of the English Speaking Union and active in the formation of the British Tariff Reform League, will describe the present condition of England's coal industry, and talk of its future.

MAN INJURED IN LEAP FOR INCLINE

Rolls Down Hillside After Falling From Car On Mt. Washington Plane

Dashing into the Grandview avenue station of the Monongahela Incline this morning, B. V. Weiss, 38, of 312 Belonda street, Pennsylvania Railroad supervisor, missed the opening into the descending plane and crashed into the wire safety screen, according to a police report.

Mr. Weiss

As the car passed the screen broke and dropped Weiss 15 feet to the hillside, down which he rolled 25 feet. he was injured seriously.

William Langbaugh, operator of the incline, continued the car on its trip to the bottom then summoned help from the engine room. Weiss was sent to South Side Hospital. He was said to be suffering from internal injuries and cuts and bruises.

COMPETING CAB LINES AWAIT RULING

Public Service Commission Ends Hearings; Rival Companies Present Claims

The Public Service Commission has under consideration today whether Pittsburgh shall have competitive taxicab service, following a hearing yesterday of the Hiland Taxicab Company and the Peoples' Blue Taxicab Company appeal for approval of the incorporation and inauguration of service by one of the applicants.

The City of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh Railways Company, Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company and the Pittsburgh Transportation Company and the Yellow Taxicab Company, joint operators of the Parmalee interests opposed the applications.

C. B. Prichard, for the Hiland Company and J. I. Simon, for the Peoples, argued for the competitive situation.

C. K. Robinson for the Parmalee interests argued Pittsburgh had sufficient cab service and was backed by C. P. Lang, for the city, and P. A. Pflegar for the Railways and Motor Coach Companies.

SEVERAL HURT IN MT. LEBANON STORE BLAST

Fumes From Ammonia Tank Overcome Firemen; Emergency Car Crashes

One man was burned slightly and several Mt. Lebanon firemen were affected by fumes when an ammonia tank in the Ze-We delicatessen store, 624 Washington road, exploded last night.

The explosion occurred when Charles Brown, manager of the establishment, went into the cellar of the three-story building to turn on the refrigeration system. As the switch was thrown a report sounded and a blaze flashed through the basement.

Rushing to the first floor, Brown, suffering burns on his left arm, called the Mt. Lebanon fire department. The firemen, donning masks, rushed into the building. Brown, knowing the location of the controlling switch, donned a fireman's mask and turned off the switch.

William Geary, borough fireman, administered first aid to Brown. Believing several overcome by the fumes, Fire Chief James E. Wood, of Mt. Lebanon, sent a call to the Mine Safety Appliance Bureau.

Motorcycle Patrolman John Thompson, who escorted the emergency car of the Mine Safety Appliance, was injured when the emergency car ran into the rear of the officer's machine as it slowed to a stop in front of the delicatessen.

Among the firemen affected were D. H. Rosewell, R. D. McLean, J. W. Potts, John Hourly, Joseph Carter, John Dixon, Ira Edmundson and A. J. Hughes.

COMEDY AND MUSIC -:- Elizabethan Farce, Lyric Play in Theaters -:- NEW BILLS ON STAGE -:- Critics Give Opinions Of Current Programs

From Shakespeare's Town Falstaff in Love Comes to Nixon

By GEORGE SEIBEL

Pittsburgh had the prologue of its own Shakespeare Festival last night, when the company from the Memorial Theater at Stratford presented "The Merry Wives of Windsor" at the Nixon Theater. It was not a happy choice for the opening night, as this comedy has been seen here within a few years with Mrs. Fiske and Henrietta Crosman as the Merry Wives and Otis Skinner as the fat knight. Perhaps that was in part the reason for the rather meager audience—but the somewhat lukewarm temper of the audience may be attributed to two other things: jokes in Elizabethan brocade do not sound so funny, and Shakespeare's nimble phrases become more elusive on a transatlantic tongue.

George Seibel

After a week in Tara's halls we must now adjust our ears to the accents of Trafalgar Square.

Of course, Shakespeare, like the Prayer-Book, should be known by heart to the man who complained about the poor printing.

But with Dr. Calis flinging a French dialect at us and Parson Evans a Welsh jargon, it is sometimes weary work for the average man to follow Queen Elizabeth's favorite comedy. A better opening would have been "Hamlet" for everybody knows Danish.

NOW TO THE FEAST

Having said this much about the hors d'oeuvres, let us turn to the feast. For this Shakespearean company after you have looked them over carefully has some appetizing dishes to offer.

There is a lusty Sir John Falstaff, presented by Ben Byford who has everything the knight should have—a sly humor and a roystering disposition. Falstaff was not oily as Skinner portrayed him, but greasy as Byford demonstrates. He is a portly and highly illuminated pudding who can hardly be forced into the buck basket.

The great difficulty with the part of Falstaff in the "Merry Wives" is that he is a fool. The Falstaff of "Henry IV" was not a fool. He would have seen that the man who cudgeled him was the same Brook who had urged him on to his love adventures. Byford gets over this difficulty by playing up Falstaff's self-satisfied vanity for a vain man is an easy mark.

HERE'S JOLLY ROBIN

Next to Byford's Falstaff, most enjoyment was derived from the minor role of Falstaff's page, Robin, played by Miriam Leighton. Robin has very little to do or say but Miriam Leighton put spirit into every moment of her stay on the stage. It was a delight to watch her—one of those little effervescent bodies bubbling over with the joy of living.

And the third notable actor was Randle Ayrton, who made much of Ford, a rather unpleasant member of the same family as Leontes and Othello. Ayrton is a natural actor with a fine voice and an expressive face, though he has but one passion to express.

All the rest were far above the average of the Shakespearean companies we in America have been accustomed to since the advent of the starring system which meant the eclipse of the lesser lights. For this company is well balanced, and especially in makeup and in the invention of business they are industrious and intelligent. And business is very important in a comedy hampered by archaism and mildewed words.

Occasionally these actors talk to the audience, but it is hoped they will have more of an audience to talk to hereafter, for a smoother all-round performance of Stratford's favorite dramatist would be hard to find. They have the habit of playing Shakespeare—with our American company it is often merely a notion. So much may be expected tonight when they give us "King Lear," with Randle Ayrton as the mad monarch.

England and Wales in Newman Travels

England and Wales will be the travel topic of E. M. Newman in Carnegie Music Hall this evening. Included in the itinerary is the Shakespeare country, Chester and Harrogate, Devonshire, Cornwall, Dorchester, Thomas Hardy country and many of the famous cathedrals and castles, such as the palatial home of Princess Mary and the ancestral home of the Duchess of York, where Macbeth lived. There will be hunting with England's finest pack of hounds and a visit to the Isle of Wight and the Royal Yacht Club. The by-ways lead to the scenic beauty of Wales.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

"King Lear," tragedy of generosity rewarded with ingratitude, will be the second play in the repertoire of the Stratford-Upon-Avon Players in the Nixon tonight. Curtain at 8:10, believe it or not. Tomorrow's matinee, 2:10, will be "A Winter's Tale."

Next week the Nixon will present the second Theater Guild play of the season, "Tomorrow and Tomorrow," by Philip Barry, with Glenn Anders and Zita Johann. Thursday will be first ticket day at the b. o.

* * *

Small Timer says that, with Christmas approaching, the small boy who has to be bribed to behave will now be good for nothing.

* * *

The second offering of the Professional Players series will bring Helen Hayes to the Alvin next week in "The Good Fairy," which, using George Young says as allied with enchantment. Manager Young says, too, that the box officers will attend ticket demands as early as Thursday. Gilbert Miller, the producer, will act in it the first night.

* * *

* * *

"The Beggar's Opera," coming to Carnegie Music Hall Wednesday and Thursday nights, is the oldest lyrical drama of the English language, having been written by John Gay early in the Eighteenth Century. Produced first in January 1728, by a worthy named Rich, it was said to have made "Rich gay and Gay rich." It is a "racy" work that has been revived frequently. The company, English, comes under the local management of May Beegle.

Bank Robber Killed, 2 Caught in Holdup

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Nov. 10.—(AP)—One of three men who robbed the Hazelton State Bank at Hazelton, Idaho, was shot and killed by possemen who were warned an attempt to hold up the bank would be made.

The two other robbers, one of whom was shot in the hand, were captured, and the stolen money, $1,300 to $1,600, was recovered. The dead robber has not been identified.

Radio Singer Dies In New York Hotel

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Joseph Regan, 35, vaudeville and radio singer, died yesterday in his hotel room. Dr. Eugene T. R. Stone, house physician, said alcoholic poisoning was the cause of death.

LOVED TO EAT, AND NOW SHE CAN!

Much of the suffering from so-called "indigestion" or acid-dyspepsia could be avoided if everyone could know what thousands like Miss Lillian Balston have learned. This New York City business woman, who lives at 1160 Park Avenue, says:

"I suffered from headaches and heartburn after meals; couldn't sleep like I should; never felt right.

"For five years I experimented with medicines and treatments, until I learned about Pape's Diapepsin. I have used three packages now; have gained five pounds, and feel fine."

If you, too, suffer from sourness, gas, belching, nausea, headaches, dizziness, or pain after eating—either regularly or just at times, get a box of Pape's Diapepsin from your druggist. Then you need never worry again about what you eat.

PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

Both Sisters Played by One Star

By MILDRED FILLMORE

Henny Porten is the favorite film actress of Germany, as popular as our Mary Pickford and as good as our Ruth Chatterton. She is the main figure in "Gretel und Liesel," a comedy of Bavarian peasant life shown this week at the Avenue Cinema. She comes up to her reputation, for in two utterly unlike characters she shows her versatility as she plays both sisters in this boisterous Teutonic version of the Taming of the Shrew.

Oberammergau, where the Passion Play is given, is the background of this slapstick burlesque. One sister is amiable and sweet, the other is a sloven and has a wild tongue. Their father, owner of a beer-garden, has fixed it that the shrew must be married off first. So the other sister and her lover form a plot which induces her rich suitor to marry the shrew, after which he treats her rough, to make her leave him. Instead of that she reforms, and everybody is finally happy.

Broad Bavarian humor and glorious Bavarian mountain scenes make it a memorable picture, along with the finely diversified acting of Henny Porten in the double role of the two sisters.

'Student Prince' in Alvin Gives Audience Music And Good Acting

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Princes and princesses may bestow their love far below the royal rank, but when they wed, the court says they must stifle affection and mate with persons of their own station in life. What the effect of this arrangement may be in real life is of no consequence here, but when it is depicted on the stage, as it was again in the popular operetta, "The Student Prince," in the Alvin last night, the effect, as far as the audience was concerned, was pleasantly sentimental, causing some sighs for the Lvelorn, and through enjoyment of a fine rendition of the lyrical gems of the drama, the music of which is in the best style of Sigmund Romberg.

OLD STORY STILL APPEALS

The old story of "Old Heidelberg" made into verses and book of the present title by Dorothy Donnelly, still has its original appeal, if one is to judge by the reaction of the first night audience. It reveled in the rollicking scenes attending the student days of the prince at Heidelberg University. It was enchanted by the pomp and statelliness of a minuet at court, it laughed at the comedy of Lutz, the valet of the prince, and it stamped its approval of the lusty choruses in the students' songs and serenades, vocalizing that stirred and thrilled.

COMPANY IS CAPABLE

It is a good company that is appearing in this umpty-umpth-or-so presentation of this piece here—one of the best. Allan Prior, in the part of the prince, revealed himself to be an actor equal to the emotional calls made upon a manly young chap called upon to put duty to the state above one's real feelings, as well as a capable singer of pleasing voice. Especially pleasing was the duet, "Golden Days" by the prince and his tutor, Dr. Engel, well played by Hollis Davenney.

MISS LANG PLEASES

Gertrude Lang, as Kathie, the little barmaid, who captured the heart of the prince, won the audience by her personal charm and vocal gift. "Deep, Deep in My Heart, Dear," was most touching, sung in a duet by Kathie and the prince in the first act, and as a reprise in the final act, by a sextet with choral accompaniment.

George Hassell, the veteran comic, took ample care of the characterization of the snooty Lutz and made him very funny, indeed. Margaret Cantrell was a charming princess and Belle Sylvia was amusingly majestic as her mother, the Grand Duchess Anastasia.

Detroit Orchestra Here For Two Concerts

Victor Kolar, prominent as a director and composer, will lead the Detroit Orchestra in the opening concert in "The Music Lovers' Hour" in Carnegie Music Hall this Friday afternoon. Mr. Kolar has many friends in Pittsburgh, where he occupied first chair in the old Pittsburgh Orchestra, under Emil Paur. The concert, beginning at 4 o'clock, will be devoted to an hour with the Viennese composers.

An evening program in Syria Mosque by the same orchestra, under Ossip Gabrilowitsch, will feature Brahms Second Symphony. Other numbers on the evening program will include Berlioz Overture, "The Roman Carnival," Korngold's Suite, "Much Ado About Nothing," and Weber-Weingartner "Invitation to the Dance."

'Sugar Babies' In Academy

"Sugar Babies," Harry "Hello Jake" Fields' burlesque show, is now in the Academy. The illuminated glass runway, with Miss Jackie James heading the 12 singing and dancing usherettes, is again being used. The 18 chorus girls of "Sugar Babies" also appear on the platform, which extends over the heads of the audience.

Fields is a Yiddish character comedian.

"Rags" Ragland, eccentric funster, teams with him in a half-dozen or more scenes. Joan Collette, dancing star, is featured among the feminine performers.

Ford Purchases Site For Workers' Homes

ESCANABA, Mich., Nov. 10.—(AP)—The purchase of 500 acres of land near the Ford Motor Company's proposed plant site at Gladstone, Mich., for use as home sites and family gardens of Ford company employes, has been announced by E. G. Kingsford, representative of the company in the Michigan peninsula. Crews will be hired at once to clear the land, Kingsford said.

SIDE SHOW

ALL IN A DAY

By MARK HELLINGER

After 20 Years

A FAIRLY well-known producer sat in his office and gazed gloomily out of a window. He was lonesome, terribly so. Here he was in his fiftieth year. Other men talked about bad conditions, but they could go home to their families and find some consolation among the folks who loved them. What comfort did he have when the day was done? Where was he to turn for peace of mind?

He sighed heavily. It had been like this now for several years. The lonesomeness had not been so bad in earlier years because he had been able to toss himself into his work and forget outside worries. But now his production efforts were few and far between. Now his work was not heavy enough to keep him always occupied. Now he felt the urge of companionship more than ever before.

He pounded his desk irritably and turned to his papers. His secretary walked in.

"Mr. B——," said the girl, "that young man is outside again. He still insists on seeing you."

His secretary shrugged her shoulders.

"You know, Mr. B——," she returned. "The same young chap who's been here every day this week. He won't tell me what he wants and he insists on seeing you personally. I told you about him yesterday, if you recall."

Mr. B—— wheeled in his chair.

"Yes, yes," he muttered irritably. "I recall all right. What's the matter with you these days anyhow? Can't you even get rid of an annoying ham any more?"

The girl became apologetic.

"But this boy isn't an actor, Mr. B——," she asserted. "He's—well, he's different."

"I know better than to annoy you with actors you don't want to see. But the minute you see this kid, you'll know he's not an actor. He says his business with you is extremely personal and that he's going to see you even if he has to sit outside for months."

"That's why I tell you about him again. I thought maybe you would want to see him and get it over with. I'm sorry if I've done the wrong thing."

The producer gazed wearily from the window again. The same old sight. The same dull Broadway. The same stupid people. Oh, well—

"All right," rasped the producer. "send him in. It's probably a guy with a summons. And if it is, I'm warning you right now that your job in this office is a thing of the past. Send him in."

A minute later in walked a youth about 20 years of age. He was poorly dressed. His hair was long and his hands were hard and red.

"Are you Mr. B—?" asked the boy.

"Yes," he murmured distastefully, "I'm Mr. B—. But please don't be a nuisance and keep talking to me all day. If you have anything to say, please get it over with as soon as possible. Im a busy man."

The boy nodded.

"I know that," he asserted. "I've heard a lot about you, Mr. B—. I know you're a very busy man."

He stopped. When he made no effort to continue, the producer became highly exasperated.

"Look here," he howled, "what's the matter with you? Are you going to tell me what you wanted to see me about, or must I have you thrown out of here? What is all this? Who are you?"

The youth was very calm.

"You ain't given me a chance to tell you yet," he chirped pleasantly. "I'm only too glad to tell you why I'm here. I'm your son."

The producer swallowed hard and clutched at his desk. He looked as though he were on the verge of an apoplectic stroke.

"You're my what?" he roared. "What did you say?"

"I said," returned the boy, "that you were my pa. Didn't you know that when you looked at me? Sure you are."

"This is a trick," he cried. "And all I can say, is that, as a gag, it's a rotten one. Who put you up to this? I don't mind a joke when a joke is in good taste. But this is too much. I want to know who put you up to this. And if you don't tell me immediately I'll have the police in here."

The youth seemed amazed.

"Ain't no use of you carryin' on like that, pa," he said. "Ain't no use of havin' the police. It's all true. I'm your son."

The theatrical man looked into the boy's eyes. He started to speak. He looked again. There was something there. Something that caused him to wonder. Something—

"Sit down," he asserted. "Sit down a minute. What's your name?"

"George B——," replied the youth, employing the producer's own name. "I was born in Syracuse where you used to live. Don't you remember, pa?"

"What was your mother's name?" he inquired.

"Mabel," said the youth swiftly. "Sure you remember her, pa. You and her lived on J—— street until you stepped out that time and left her flat. I was born in that house, pa. Where's your memory?"

The producer's mouth opened wide. He had been married to a dame named Mabel in Syracuse. He had lived on J—— street. He had left her suddenly, for better or for worse. Could it be possible that this boy was on the level?

"Tell me," he said a bit shakily, have you—have you anything to prove what you claim?"

"Sure, pa," replied the boy easily.

He drew out a decrepit wallet and removed a birth certificate. The theatrical man felt his eyes peering as he looked at it. Yes, there was no doubt that the youth was telling the absolute truth. That boy was his son!

His son! After all these years of lonesomeness and yearning, heaven had answered his plea. He was the father of a grown son. This youth before him was his own flesh and blood. He leaped to his feet and took the boy in his arms.

"My son," he cried happily, "My own boy! You were right! I'm your father, and I'll remain your father from now on. Come here with me. Sit down in this chair and tell me all about yourself."

The boy didn't have much to tell. He hadn't much schooling, he said, and he had been existing on odd jobs for a long time. His father bit his lip. He put his arms on his boy's shoulders and shook his head.

"I've been a bad father so far," he murmured, "but that's all over now. To show you that I love you, you can have anything you wish from me right now. What is the one thing you want? The main thing in the world? What is there that your happy father can do for you?"

The boy's eyes fairly shone.

"That's wonderful, pa," he replied. "Can I have a pair of seats for the Follies?"

PRESBYTERIANS STUDY MERGER

Organic union of the Presbyterian and United Presbyterian churches was taking another forward step today as the joint committees working out details for the merger of the two denominations met this morning in the William Penn Hotel.

Dr. Lewis S. Mudge, moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., of Philadelphia; Dr. J. Ross Stevenson, of Princeton University, and the Rev. Dr. W. J. Reid, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church, were among those in attendance. Dr. Reid is chairman of the United Presbyterian Church committee on union proposals, and is chairman of the joint committee. Dr. Stevenson heads the Presbyterian group.

Favorable progress is being made, according to Dr. Mudge, committee clerk.

Real relief from CONSTIPATION

Acidity affects the appetite. What food you do eat sours in the stomach. The tongue becomes coated. The breath is bad. Sick headaches become frequent. You are constipated.

These are danger signals which should never go unheeded. Your system is fairly shouting its need of help, something to help remove the acid waste and restore alkaline balance. An anti-acid to offset the effect of too rich a diet, nervousness, excitement, etc.

Men and women who meet this need promptly with Phillips' Milk of Magnesia do not suffer. They eat well, and their food doesn't ferment in the stomach. Every trace of overacidity soon disappears. All sour gas is dispelled. Stomach, liver and bowels have a better chance to function.

If there is the least hint of too much acid, just take a spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia today, and for several days. Feel this sweeten your stomach. Note how appetite improves. And elimination. You will wonder how anything so pleasant-tasting can be so promptly effective. 25c and 50c bottles at drug stores everywhere.

Broadcast Attack on Mexican President

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor

GOOD OLD NEWS—as Ben Bernie would say—was the scene of a Mexican station [illegible] the other night, when Communists stormed the station [illegible] the manager, a Radio Stock [illegible] of the chief operator and expelled others [illegible] the staff to read statements [illegible] the anti-declaiming President Ortiz Rubio and [illegible] Calles. A police detachment was three minutes too late [illegible] Radio became suspicious when he heard himself [illegible] names . . . Several Pittsburgh fans who heard the program were apprehensive [illegible] station's sudden change in policy and suspected that a revolution had been declared . . . The bandits worked precisely and took particular care not to leave the microphone "open" while they were on it.

Darrell V. Martin

Question a Day:

How many [illegible] in Sousa's Band and will [illegible] feature on any [illegible] broadcast? Herbert J. P., R. R.

Answer—The radio complement consists of 54 men, 10 less than the full stage band. You may hear Sousa's Band every Tuesday night at 8:30 over WEAF WTIC WTAM WRVA WSM or WGY. Tonight the band plays Soldiers' Chorus from "Faust."

Russ Columbo [illegible] WJZ, WGAR WENR, 1 [illegible] on the 7th with a [illegible] chauffeur [illegible] that . . . the Mills Brothers sing "Limehouse Blues" on WABC at 8 . . . Jack Denny on WEAF WTIC WGY at 10:30 . . . Sextet from "Lucia" and "Salut D'Amour" in Archer Gibson's organ recital WJZ WJR WGAR WENR, 11:45 . . . Rudy Vallee as usual on WEAF WTIC WGY at midnight and Paul Whiteman on WJZ, WGAR at 2:15 a. m.

Studio Lights:

Sacred Songs, the oldest feature on the air in Pittsburgh, is to observe its sixth anniversary with two special programs on Tuesday, Nov. 17 . . .

In celebrating their one hundredth concert, the Revelers of KDKA are to duplicate their first program of December 2, 1929, at 7:15 tonight . . .

We've been asked numerous times why KDKA doesn't feature Fred Webber on more evening programs . . . and some day someone will discover that this announcer has a marvelous baritone voice . . .

Paul Whiteman is superstitious. . . . You can't make him accept a two-dollar bill—that is if you owe him five!

The second concert of the Philadelphia Symphony et Stokowski is billed for CBS Saturday, November 21, at 8:15. . . .

That new number on WJAS at 9 o'clock sounds typically Ben Bernie—"She Was Hit on the Head by a Butterfly" . . .

In observance of Armistice Day Pat Barnes will line up all his characters on KDKA tomorrow afternoon at 12:15 p. m. and make them listen to him as he tells a war story. . . Pat, a Sharon boy, is clicking grand in this feature.

Lieut. Gov. E. C. Shannon, former commander of the 111th Infantry, and Maj. Gen. George S. Gibbs, former chief signal officer of the United States Army, are to speak in WCAE studios tomorrow afternoon at 4:45 . . .

Sez our good friend Dixon: "They say Russ Columbo gets 2,500 letters a day. . . . You call it madness and I agree with you."

Owen D. Young who took the late H. P. Davis' place as chairman of the Board of Directors of the National Broadcasting Company, recently spoke on Hoover's Unemployment Program from Columbia studios. . .

Peter Higgins blew in town yesterday . . . Opens a vaudeville engagement next week in Boston. . . . Jim Murray, of WJAS, plans to interview Big Bill Tilden and Vincent Richards when they come here for a tennis match on Friday, November 27. . . . CBS is to carry a puff by puff description of "Old John Bull," famous locomotive, when it is moved over its ancient tracks in the Smithsonian Institute Thursday morning at 10:30. . . .

Today's Tid-Bit:

While touring Australia some years ago Margaret Anglin, WOR dramatist, visited the Ballarat gold mines. The president of the company took her down to visit the smelting works where the gold bricks were brought up boiling hot.

"If you can carry one of those bricks away with you, you can have it," he said. "It's worth $60,000."

Never parched, never toasted

in nature's own mild way!

EVERYONE knows now that Camels are the fresh cigarette.

If inquiry went deeper, it would reveal that Camels are the natural moisture cigarette.

That's important, because in handling fine tobaccos, when you process out natural moisture, you sacrifice freshness and flavor too.

Camel smokers needn't worry about that, because Camels are blended of fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos that are never subjected to violent processing. They need no parching or toasting to make them smooth, palatable, cool.

That's why the Camel Humidor Pack is such a boon to Camel smokers—it preserves the freshness, flavor, natural moisture, fragrance that are in this fine cigarette to start with.

Camels are fresh in nature's own mild way, and if you want to see what that means in unalloyed smoke-enjoyment, switch to them for just one day—then leave them, if you can!

The Loudspeaker

—By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Strange to associate publicity-shy Maude Adams with the radio. Yet, on her long-awaited return to the stage the microphone battalion is on hand, pointing their apparatus to the scene. Wonder what Charles Frohman would have thought about it.

Edmund Vance Cook, describing the occasion, referred to Otis Skinner as a "delicious Shylock." First time old Shylock has ever been called delicious. The old flesh-hunter has been called everything else . . . If it isn't Maj. Bowes welcoming Clark and McCullough to the microphones. Would like to see the welcome made permanent. A funny man, Clark . . . Eight months ago Columbia didn't have a star, didn't have a program worth shouting about from the housetops. Today, its corral is teeming with radio top shots. Next top shots are expected to be the Mills Brothers, four young Negro singers—the oldest is 21—who imitate brass instruments in their warbling so expertly that even Stokowski, of the Philadelphia Stokowskis, would be fooled.

Sons of a barber, the Mills brothers glorify barber shop chords in such a novel manner as to have caused Dr. Ziegfeld, they say, to reach for his contract pad . . . Curious to see the stage going in for quartets. Radio's influence again . . . More duplication of football broadcasts at Cambridge last Saturday. When are radio men ever going to get together and solve the gridiron schedule as railroad men, say, are solving the transportation schedule . . . You can usually depend upon the press agents to make Damrosch talk like a chump. Beating their drums for his new symphonic hour, they state "Damrosch believes the American public is ready for more mature offerings as a direct result of the musical education they have received through the medium of radio in the past few years."

The implication, of course, is that the American radio public was not ready for mature music until Damrosch appeared on the scene. . . . Well, what of the Philharmonic and Philadelphia orchestras which have been heard for years on the air? What of the other minor symphony bands throughout the country? What even of the bandmen in Canon Rothapfel's cathedral? . . . Rather silly, don't you think, playing down at this late date to the American radio public?

So Sousa is 77 year old. Time doesn't dim his march-directing vim. When his horn-tooters swing into action you want to fall into line, march by the Great White Father in his reviewing stand on Pennsylvania avenue. . . . Sousa's chief rival, Arthur Pryor, is no novice in the band-directing business, either. He can show 28 years of baton-waving himself, can point to 62 years as a member of a band-leading family.

THREE QUESTIONS TO ASK WHEN YOU BUY NEW TUBES ★

WHY be satisfied with old-type, slow-heating radio tubes? You can get quick-acting 4-pillar tubes at the same low price as others! Look at the new Eveready Raytheon prices below, then be sure to ask your dealer these questions whenever you buy tubes, or a radio equipped with tubes:

(1) Is this a new-type tube? (2) Is it a quick-heater? (3) How quick? (Should be under 10 seconds.)

He can prove it, if it is a 4-pillar, heater-type tube

Wedlock Too Serious to Risk With Two-Timing Girl

The best thing she does is "step out" on him, every time he isn't looking—

Yet—

He's thinking seriously of marrying her.

Goofy? Of course it's goofy! He suspects that himself . . and admits his "brain says no." . . . But his heart! That's the thing that's going 'round in circles . . . especially when she raises a pair of dreamy eyes to his, and coos . . .

"But I do love you, Charley, my boy!"

So what's a poor guy to do? "Dear Miss Marun:

"I have a problem that I can't decide. I suppose I should know what to do, but I don't. Three years ago I met a girl, and became engaged to her three months later. Our wedding was postponed for various reasons, and recently she came to my home to visit. While she was there I was injured, and spent some weeks in a hospital. When I came out, I found that she had been stepping out on me, and I don't mean maybe! Her excuse was that she was lonesome without me, and couldn't get along with my mother.

"Well, I forgave her. Then she went right on again, without me knowing it. . .But these things will out. I soon found out about it. She asked my forgiveness again, and I gave it. I guess I am a fool, for she went right out again. . .And was beaten up by one of her boy friends, and wound up in jail. I used what influence I had to get her out of this trouble without a scandal, and succeeded in hushing things up.

IS UNDECIDED

"Now, she wants me to marry her soon. My brain says 'No,' but my heart says 'Yes,' for I love her. I am sorry to say, I have been supporting her all this time, as she was a student, and her parents are very poor, and could not help her.

"What should I do?

"CHARLES."

Marry this bunch of cheap fluff? What for? It is perfectly plain that she doesn't care a hoot for you (no matter what she may say about her feelings) except as a meal-ticket, or a handy whatnot to pull her out of scrapes. If she did—she wouldn't treat you the way she has been treating you.

IMAGINARY PICTURE

According to your story, she has lied to you and two-timed you, time after time. Why two-time yourself, and mess up your whole career, by taking her seriously enough to put your good name and your happiness into her keeping?

"But I love her!" you cry. Well, even if that were true, what of it since she is plainly utterly unworthy of a decent man's love? As a matter of fact, you don't love her at all, son. You love a pretty picture of her, that you've built up out of your own imagination—a picture that has no actual existence.

And if you let this imaginary picture, this attempt on your part to fit this selfish, dishonest young woman to the ideal that is in your heart, to trick you into believing that you really love her . . . into allowing her to flatter you into marrying her, you're going to be a mighty sorry young man before you're much older.

Give her the air! And do it pronto!

By FAY KING

It is only natural that every young girl looks forward to romance.

She plans to look and act her best, hoping that a wonderful somebody nice will appreciate her—that they will fall in love and marry.

She quite naturally thinks the very best of any man who admires her and wants to know her better.

If she did not think the very best of him she would never accept his invitation.

But, alas, too many of these romantic girls find themselves helpless in the hands of a vile auto shark who thinks far from the best of her!

Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Is Startled by Appearance of Chinese at Window

For a tense throbbing second as the face outside Mrs. Ticer's sitting-room window came slowly into view, I sat motionless. Then as the coarse black hair, lemon-colored face and slanting eyes of a lower-class Chinese came into view I remembered the lessons which I had learned under Lillian when I had aided her in the secret service during the war.

"Never show surprise or fear," she always said, "but always have your next move planned in advance."

So as I sat with eyes steadily looking at the almond slanting ones peering into the room, I was rejoicing that the couch upon which I was sitting was not backed close against the wall, and that but a little distance from its head was the swinging door into the tiny hall between the sitting-room and the kitchen. I also noted in one corner of my brain that the couch was on rollers, and easily moved.

If the owner of the eyes was surprised to see me sitting opposite him he showed no such emotion. He peered into the room as if he had a perfect right to his position, and I felt that he had noted every detail, not only of my appearance, but of the rice-paper letter lying open beside me on the little stand.

His eyes, expressionless, beady, but more terrifying in their blankness than if they had been filled with anger, fastened themselves upon the paper for what seemed an eternity. Then, slowly lifting a hand from which I subconsciously noted that the little finger was missing, he pointed with the forefinger at the letter. Then he made a beckoning gesture, patently directing me to bring it to the window and give it to him.

With one hand I grasped the letter, with the other I picked up the small coffee pot, fortunately a heavy one, and hurled it straight at the face pressed against the pane. I did not wait to see the effect of my throw, although the sound of shattering glass told me that what Dicky facetiously calls my "pitcher's arm" had not failed me. But at the moment following the loosening of the pot from my hand, I had thrown myself back upon the couch, rolled to the back of it and dropped to the floor. With the rice paper clutched in my hand I shoved the couch to a position in front of the swinging door, and in its shelter crawled into the tiny entry, at the same time calling through the kitchen window.

"Mr. Ticer! Quick! In the kitchen door."

I rushed to the door and opened it just as he reached it.

"What? Where?" he asked breathlessly, and I told him of the staring eyes, and of what I had done.

"Well! if you hain't about the smartest I ever seen, Mis' Graham," he said. "I'll bet you that you can't see that Chink for the dust he's kicking up."

"I wish I were sure of that," I said, straining my ears for sounds from the front room.

"Look here, if you're nervous," my neighbor said with an appearance of ease, although I noticed that he kept himself carefully out of range of the windows, "why don't you go upstairs? There's a window in our bedroom that looks right down on the one you broke, and you can see whether he's still there or not. You can look around all directions, too, and see if you can see the direction he's gone. But it's a cinch he'd go off toward that thicket. There hain't enough cover on this side for a hen to hide, and you can bet he hain't anxious to be seen. But I'll keep a sharp lookout from this side. Don't you think we'd better telephone your house and have Mr. Graham and Jim come over?"

"Not yet," I said with a sudden recollection of the errand which had brought me to the farmhouse. Not if I could help it did I wish Dicky to know of the subterfuge. I, or, rather, Lillian for me, had employed concerning my errand.

"I've got my shotgun all loaded in the corner," Mr. Ticer said with a bit of a swagger—"always keep it because of weasels and those pesky hounds of Barker's coming 'round the hen house, and you can bet I'm not afraid to use it."

"You probably wouldn't need to use it," I said with a shudder. "The threat would no doubt be sufficient," and then I went to the bedroom upstairs and, standing at one side of the window and screening myself with the curtain, I looked down fearfully at the grass around the window below me.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

A good face pack is made by mixing together kaolin (refined Fuller's earth) and witch hazel. Apply and let remain on the complexion until the mass is dry and flaky. Lave away with warm water.

Don't forget the smear of vaseline on the eyelids every night, not only to make the little whiskers grow long and curly, but to keep the tissues firm and fine. Wrinkled eyelids make the eyes look small and tired.

The electric light bath is recommended for the girl who has pimples on back and shoulders, making the wearing of an evening gown a sad occasion. Profuse sweating washes the pores. The ice rub afterwards closes them.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Don't Be Foolish About the Wearing of Glasses

Dr. Copeland

Now foolish we are about glasses. I have heard hundreds of persons say, "I just won't wear glasses." Pride is a great factor. We have come to associate glasses with age, and nothing could be more absurd than such a conviction. As a matter of fact, there are a dozen persons under 25, to one past 50, requiring the constant use of glasses for distant vision. It may be a mark of age for one to require glasses to find a number in the telephone book. But it certainly is not a mark of age for one to need glasses for distant vision.

When I observe the outlandish hats and shoes that the human family wear, because it is the style, I cannot understand why anybody should object to the wearing of a properly adjusted nose glass or pair of spectacles.

I do gaze upon the photographs of famous men and look at persons I meet every day, and wonder where they ever got such ridiculous looking glasses as they wear. But it is not necessary to have glasses of this type. The modern opticians and manufacturers of optical goods are all the time devising frames and lenses that actually add to the look of distinction, and the real beauty of those who wear them. I have seen many a face that would be materially enhanced in its appearance and attractiveness if suitable glasses were provided.

It is absurd indeed for one to reject the benefits of modern science just because of a silly dread of wearing glasses. I am out of patience with this feeling.

I have gone out of my way to say these things because I know that the foolishness of pride has deprived many and many a person, particularly members of the fair sex, from the benefits and indeed the necessities of correcting lenses. Many a human being is suffering discomforts if not agony, because of uncorrected eye-strain.

How to Make Children EAT!

A Simple Way to Correct Poor Appetite

Don't Force Your Children to Eat!

The girl or boy who has no appetite has stasis—which means the child is sluggish. But cathartics have caused more constipation than they ever cured! The "California treatment" is best—just pure syrup of figs. Try this for a few days, then see how eagerly your youngster will eat.

How to Conquer Sluggishness

Stimulate the colon and that child with a finicky appetite will devour everything set before him. Here's the simple treatment that does more for babies or older children than all the diets, fad foods, or tonics.

Nature has provided the only "medicine" you'll need to stir a child's colon muscles into proper action. California syrup of figs. Pure, delicious, harmless. It acts on the lower colon—where the trouble is. It has no ill effects on the intestines.

Start Tonight

Begin tonight, with this marvelous "California treatment." Any druggist has California syrup of figs, all bottled with directions. Use enough the first time to cleanse the clogged colon of every bit of poison and hard waste. Then just a little twice a week until the child's appetite, color, weight and spirits tell you the stasis is gone. Whenever a cold or other upset clogs the system again, use this natural vegetable laxative instead of drastic drugs.

WARNING

There are dealers who practice substitution. Be sure to protect your child by looking for the name CALIFORNIA on the bottle.

Household Hints

After washing silk stockings, give them a final rinsing in clean water to which a little vinegar has been added. This will remove any trace of soap and preserve the silk.

The gas range will give much better service if the burners are removed once a week, turned upside down and tapped gently to remove particles of food or dust.

Suet will keep fresh in hot weather if it is sprinkled with flour; and meat can be kept fresh by wiping it over with a piece of clean muslin dipped in vinegar.

GULDEN'S Mustard

What made him get ahead so fast?

You've seen men like "Mac." Always stepping to bigger jobs. With the energy and good health to realize his ambitions.

So often a promising career is handicapped by constipation. This ailment frequently brings headaches, loss of appetite and energy. Ambition is dulled.

Avoid constipation. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. This delicious cereal supplies "bulk," Vitamin B and iron.

"Bulk" gently cleanses the intestines. Vitamin B tones them up. Both promote regularity. How much better than pills and drugs.

Enjoy Kellogg's ALL-BRAN as a cereal. Have your wife use it in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

SUN-TELEGRAPH

Doll Lady

Swamped With Mail From Little Girls

This Year the "Doll Lady" Is Giving Away An Adorable New Doll

"HONEYBUNCH"

Read Today's Doll Lady Message:

Dear Little Girls:

Now I know just how Rudy Vallee and all the big screen stars feel when they get stacks and stacks of what they call "fan" mail. The little girls didn't get a chance to know that I was here until they saw the Sunday Sun-Telegraph with my first letter, and today I am deluged with responses. My desk is stacked high with mail. I have not had time to open all of it but from what I have already read I am delighted to learn that I am again a welcome visitor. Hundreds of girls who have written to me say that they secured one of my glorious dollies last year and they want another before Christmas this year—none other than mine. Little Marie Anderson writes:

I met you last Christmas and you gave me a big dolly. I've been awfully good to her. Made her some nice new clothes. She's just as nice now as she was when I got her from you, but I want you to give me another dolly so that I can give my old one to a little girl who hasn't got any doll. Please write when I can see you.

I am writing to Marie and I am sure she's going to get one of my new dolls. This year's doll has been named "Honeybunch" and she's almost a twin of "Tickletoes," who made so many little girls happy last year. In fact "Honeybunch" is really "Tickletoes'" first cousin. She has the same beautiful, mischievous eyes that open and shut and roll from side to side, she has a charming voice, unbreakable rubber hands and arms, gorgeous organdy clothes and rubber panties. She can suck her toes or her thumb and do a lot of other cute things.

Hundreds of doll makers have been working for me for a whole year. The big doll houses are crowded with "Honeybunches"—all waiting to get into some little girl's arms and home.

This Is "Honeybunch"—Isn't She Lovely and Adorable?

And "Honeybunch" is going to be so easy to get. I am not asking little girls to do as much this year as they did last Christmas to get my other doll. But let me warn you—now is the time to write for your "Honeybunch"—the dolly you will fall in love with at sight. Send in your name and address today and I will write and tell you how you can get "Honeybunch" for a playmate before Christmas.

OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted by Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

Fourchettes and Tenaces

When whist was the court game, among other terms added by the French were fourchette and tenace. The former term refers to a situation arising in play: if the 9 is led through your 10-8-X you hold a fork or fourchette over the card led; you cover with your 10, and your 8 automatically assumes the value of the card played. A tenace is a combination of honors not in sequence, as A-Q-10, double major tenace; K-J-9, double minor tenace; A-Q, major tenace; K-J, minor tenace; A-J, A-10, or K-10, imperfect tenaces. In brief, a fourchette is having the card next higher and the card next lower than the one led or played at your right. A tenace is having honors containing gaps between them. Much defensive and offensive strategy centers in expert play of tenace holdings.

DUMMY
6-2
Senior A-Q-J-9-4 8-7-5 Junior
Declarer

Senior (the player making the opening lead) holds a major tenace and the declarer holds an imperfect tenace in the suit shown. Each hopes to obtain an advantage from his tenace holding. At a trump make, as stated in an earlier article, senior will lose his trick in case he leads from his tenace suit; he should open another suit, reserving his tenace suit until some other player leads it, then he must win two tricks; in case he leads his tenace holding he can win only a single trick, as dummy can trump his third lead.

If the declaration is notrumps the situation is entirely different; his suit cannot be trumped, and he must make an opening lead of the queen (the higher of his touching honors); sacrificing the first trick to declarer's king, for the sake of later on winning four tricks in the suit.

A strong tenace in dummy affords joy to the declarer. Suppose that the spread hand shows A-Q-X, while the declarer has the 10; it is possible that suit may yield four tricks in case the missing king lies at declarer's left, so that he can lead his 10 through and pick up the king. In any event the lead of declarer's 10 will give dummy several tricks, even if the king lies at declarer's right.

A weak tenace in dummy (K-J-X, K-10-X or A-10-X) is a favorite suit for a lead through, noping that partner may hold all, or at least a part, of the missing strength. In case you do lead through dummy's strength and your partner wins the trick, he will lead back dummy's weakest suit; hoping to put you in the lead, so that you can again lead through dummy. Avoid leading through too great strength in dummy; even if your partner wins the trick you may establish the balance of the suit against your side, affording the declarer later discards of losers in weak suits.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Letter to Minister

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Will you kindly tell me if it is correct for a widow to continue wearing her wedding ring after her husband is dead, especially if she is keeping company with another gentleman?

2. Also, I would appreciate it if you would tell me what to say in a little note of thanks, accompanied by a check, to the minister who was so kind and who had charge of the funeral when my husband died? T.

1. This depends entirely on the wish of the widow. In any event, when she decides to marry again, she should at once cease to wear the rings given her by her first husband.

2. Something like this perhaps would suggest a form:

My Dear Mr. Wright:

Please accept the enclosed check as an evidence of my deep appreciation and gratitude to you for your friendliness and courtesy and service at the time of my husband's death. You were most kind, and I cannot begin to tell you what your kindness and goodness meant to me. Thank you, most sincerely.

Every good wish to you, and again my appreciation.

Very sincerely yours,
Mary Browne Smithson.

Family Visits

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A young man and a young lady have been "keeping steady" company for several months. The girl is about to be presented with a ring. The parents have met, but have not been to each other's homes.

Should the girl's parents invite her friend's parents to spend an evening at their home before the engagement party which is to take place the week after the ring will be presented? A. F.

It is the fine social custom for the mother and father of the young man to come to see the bride-to-be and her family within 24 hours after their son has told them of his engagement. If they do not do this, or show no signs of coming very soon after their knowledge of the engagement, they may be waiting to be invited by the girl's parents. Then it would be well for the girl's parents to invite them to her home, either for dinner, say, or for an evening call. But this visit should be made before the engagement party is given.

Woman Dry Leader Subpenaed by U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson was brought to the United States Attorney's office under subpena today, to discuss her charges that the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment violated the corrupt practices act.

Mrs. Nicholson, president of the National Women's Democratic Law Enforcement League, wrote District Attorney Rover asking what action, in view of the indictment of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., would be taken against the anti-prohibition association. Rover invited Mrs. Nicholson to his office to discuss the case. When she declined the invitation, he issued a subpena.

FREED IN FATAL VOTE ROW

Pre-primary election politics had an echo in a coroner's inquest today when William McGraw, 22, of 2370 Romeo street, was freed of blame in the death of Walter Goliat, 33, 2530 Penn avenue, whose skull was fractured by a brick when he and seven others are alleged to have raided the Oakland headquarters of County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, 3604 Fifth avenue, September 6.

Goliat, McGraw said, shoved a gun in his ribs and forced him to the second floor. There, McGraw continued, he grabbed a brick which had been hurled through an Armstrong window a few days before the raid.

Then, McGraw said, he went to a second floor window, looked out and was shot at by Goliat. He threw the brick then, he testified, declaring that he was "highly excited" and acted in self defense.

Broadcast of Trial Reverses Conviction

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Mrs. Minnie Stull, of Princeton, sentenced to life imprisonment for the death of her stepson, Mickey, scalded fatally in a tub of water, will be placed on trial for the second time at Lewisburg, in Greenbrier County, on November 30.

A change of venue was allowed in the Mercer County Circuit Court which set aside the former conviction. Wide public interest in the case which resulted in the placing of radio broadcasting equipment in the court room during the trial.

COAL MEN HELD OVER WEIGHTS

Eight coal dealers have been arrested in the city's campaign against short weights, James Bailey, head of the Bureau of Weights and Measures, announced today. He said:

"Any person who deliberately short-weights a citizen, whether it is in coal or any other commodity, is a thief of the lowest type.

"In these times many can't afford coal and those who buy it are entitled to every bit they pay for. It's the poor who suffer most from these short-weight cheats."

Bailey has six undercover men working throughout the city. They are stopping coal trucks, taking them to the nearest scales and checking the actual weight of the coal against that recorded on the bill. This check system, he said, will be maintained throughout the winter.

UTILITY CAPITAL MAZE SCORED

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Nov. 10.—An attack against the practice of surrounding electric power companies with complicated pyramid capital structures was launched by the Public Service Securities Committee of the Investment Bankers' Association of America at the organization's twentieth annual convention today.

The committee opposes increased public regulation, but turned its guns against corporate manipulation of power securities for speculative purposes, declaring:

"It takes but a few such operations to stigmatize legitimate efforts of many."

The report declared that the power business is conducted under public franchise and is entitled to only a fair return on a fair value of its property, but since profits are limited they must be assured by public regulation of adequate compensation. It took the stand that the business as it emerges from its pioneer days is not a legitimate subject for purely speculative operations.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

BUICK'S GREATEST ADVANCEMENT PROGRAM

...This Saturday...

The New Buick Eight with the Wizard control

Greatest Achievement since the Self-Starter

Buick has triumphed again! The new Buick Eight to be introduced this Saturday incorporates the major automotive advancement of the last two decades—an advancement which will monopolize interest wherever motor cars are discussed—THE WIZARD CONTROL!

The Wizard Control combines three great new engineering features which completely revolutionize car operation and management and bring new ease, new convenience, new pleasure to driving:

1. The Automatic Clutch—making possible swift, easy shifting of all gears without using the clutch pedal.
2. New and Advanced Free Wheeling—permitting instantaneous change from Free Wheeling to Conventional Drive or vice versa at the driver's will.
3. New Silent-Second Syncro-Mesh Transmission—imparting a truly silent second speed, and permitting acceleration up to 40 miles an hour and more before shifting to high.

The results, in terms of ease and enjoyment to you as driver, are so outstanding that we believe a single ride will make you desire this car above any you have driven.

The women of America, particularly, will appreciate this remarkable new feature—WIZARD CONTROL—so simple, convenient, effortless that the car seems almost to drive itself.

Be sure to see the new Buick this Saturday. And remember—there are four series at new low prices, $935 to $2055, f. o. b. Flint, Michigan. All with Wizard Control!

PITT AIMS FOR ARMY WIN

Sport Comment

By JAMES J. LONG

Sasse Success as Coach.
Stecker Spells Trouble.
Somers Lone Survivor.
Confidence in New Cub.
Critics Roil Leonard.
Second Cue Tilt Here.

PITT'S EASTERN RELATIONS RESTORED

EXCEPT FOR AN occasional meeting in the meantime with Syracuse, Colgate, Lafayette or Georgetown, the Army game Saturday will be Pitt's first tilt with one of the big teams of the East since 1925 when Penn was defeated in Philadelphia, 14 to 0. Meanwhile the Panthers have been subsisting mainly on a diet of Western elevens and district teams. It will be somewhat of a novelty for them to compete with the circle represented by Ray Stecker and his mates.

Ray Stecker

That Penn game of 1925, by the way, was one of the best ever turned in by a Pitt eleven. Gibby Welch, an all-America halfback in 1927, his final year at Pitt, later a halfback for New York and Stapleton in the National Professional League, and now coach at Morris Harvey in Barboursville, W. Va., came into the limelight in that contest. Only a sophomore that season, Welch broke loose for numerous long runs, and besides his defensive work was in a great measure responsible for the shutout handed to the Quakers. Next year there will be two Eastern teams on the Panther card, the Army being met in New York and Penn in Philadelphia.

MAJ. RALPH I. SASSE, Army coach in less than two years has established himself as one of the best in the business. When Biff Jones retired from the coaching job after the 1929 season and Chris Cagle and Johnny Murrell were lost to the team, it was freely predicted the Army would have a long run of ill luck on the gridiron.

Sasse, however, though a comparatively unknown figure in the coaching world, stepped right in, installed a new system, and before the East knew what had happened he was winning games. Only one contest was lost out of 11 played in 1930, that being dropped to Notre Dame by a 7-to-6 score. This year only Harvard has beaten the Generals, and again the latter were nosed out by one point. Yale was played to a tie both last year and this season.

SASSE BROUGHT IN the Warner system, and though the experts in the East were not at all backward about expressing their doubts as to its effectiveness, he followed through. The 1930 Army team, despite the fact there was no Cagle in the lineup, made a better showing in offensive play than any other West Point eleven in recent years.

Much of this ground-gaining ability may be traced to the sudden rise of Ray Stecker of Hamilton, now playing halfback for the Soldiers. Stecker gave Knute Rockne plenty of worries in the 1930 battle, and this Saturday, fully recovered from injuries which hampered his play against Yale, he threatens to give Jock Sutherland many an anxious moment.

DEATH HAS TAKEN all but one of the original American League club owners who started out under the leadership of Ban Johnson when the league was launched. The only survivor is Charles W. Somers, who financed the Cleveland and Boston clubs, and who is now part owner of the New Orleans club. The first club owners in the various American League cities were Charles A. Comiskey, Chicago; John F. Kilfoyle, Cleveland; James D. Burns, Detroit; Fred Postal, Washington; Charles W. Somers, Boston; Benjamin F. Shibe, Philadelphia; Ralph Orthwein, St. Louis, and Frank J. Farrell, New York. Johnson himself and his successor, as league president, Ernest S. Barnard, also died during the present year.

Stanley Hack

MANY BASEBALL MEN are of the opinion that Stanley Hack, the Sacramento third baseman purchased by the Cubs, is not yet ripe for the big show, but Rogers Hornsby is confident the youngster will show enough in the spring to warrant his being started at the hot corner for the Bruins.

The urgent need for a new third sacker on the Chicago outfit was obvious last season. Lester Bell could hit but lacked speed, and this throwing arm had not recovered from the ailment that kept him idle in 1930. Bill Jurges proved a fine fielder but weak with the stick. Conditions became so bad that Hornsby himself had to fill in at third for a while.

THE RAJAH IS hopeful that Hack will combine the best qualities of Bell and Jurges. He bases his confidence in the Cub's batting ability on the fact that Stanley hit .350 in the Coast League last season.

Hornsby intimates that announcements of further Bruin player deals may be expected at any time. He says he has not changed his mind about disposing of Hack Wilson but has delayed making a trade because the offers that have been made were not attractive, and he is determined not to let the slugger go without getting some material of value in exchange for him.

BENNY LEONARD, starting a training session in Philadelphia in the hope of inducing the Pennsylvania Boxing Commission to lift the ban and grant him a license, doesn't take kindly to the way the newspapers have viewed his attempted come-back. He refers to the critics as "busybodies" and says he is determined to continue his campaign. "The fact that I was held to a draw by Kaye Cooper last Friday night in Burlington doesn't mean my finish," he adds. "That fight gave me the right edge to enable me to continue my climb to my determined goal—the middleweight championship. I'll yet surprise those who so strongly are advising me to quit the ring."

THE PRESENT MATCH between Welker Cochran, title holder, and Willie Hoppe, challenger, for the world 18.1 balkline billiard championship, does not mark the first time this city has been the scene of a contest for a world balkline crown.

This same 18.1 championship was played for here in 1913 at Old City Hall in Market street. As in the present competition, Hoppe was one of the principals, the other being Ora Morningstar, then managing a local billiard hall.

MORNINGSTAR CLAIMED THE 18.1 title as the winner of a tournament at that style in Chicago, in which Hoppe did not compete, and Hoppe also claimed the championship as having never lost it since he won it seven years earlier. They met here to decide the argument and Hoppe was the winner.

It was Willie, who brought the 18.1 championship to the United States in the first place. He did that when he was only 18, winning the laurels from Maurice Vignaux in Paris in 1906. Vignaux was 59 and had held the title 20 years.

Willie Hoppe

THE 18.1 STYLE OF billiards was allowed to lapse for a long time, and its revival has proved popular. This is strictly the master's game. With only one instead of two shots allowed in balk, one of the object balls must be driven across a line on every shot. This forces the open style of play and provides much more action than the customary clear purse of 18.2, which permits a shot for position on the next drive.

While the experts have amassed runs of 800 or better at 18.2, only three players—Hoppe, Cochran and Young Jake Schaefer—have gone beyond the 200 mark at 18.1.

MIDLAND HIGH HEADS GRID PROCESSION

By JULIUS LEVIN

Only four Class A schools remain undefeated and untied in the race for the football championship of the Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic League as a result of the elimination of New Kensington by Beaver Falls at New Kensington last Friday night.

Three of the four surviving elevens hail from the Monongahela Valley, while the other contender is from the Beaver Valley.

Clairton, McKeesport and Washington show perfect records in the Monongahela Valley, while Midland is undefeated in the Beaver Valley. Ambridge also is undefeated in the Beaver Valley but has been held to scoreless ties by Monessen and Aliquippa.

Midland High, with eight straight victories, heads the procession. McKeesport is next with seven, Clairton third with six and Washington fourth with five. The records of the leading contenders and the standing of the teams in the various sections of Western Pennsylvania follow:

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: THE HINDU KIDDIE CAR—Although the Sadhu's son on his wagon of nails did not seem entirely contented when I saw him a few years ago, it is almost certain that time and place will enable him to be quite comfortable in his profession. The reason the role of fakir appeals to the younger generation is because it places the mark of holiness on the person admitted and guarantees him a life of indolence and contemplation with the additional guarantee against starvation. However, in recent years, the fakir ranks have become so overcrowded that a Fakir's Union has been formed, with very strict regulations in the matter of admitting new members. TAUGHT SCHOOL FOR 69 YEARS—For the sixty-ninth time, Miss Olive E. Coffeen has put her signature on a teacher's contract in Indiana and, in spite of her 83 years, she again has assumed her post in the Covington district. Miss Coffeen's pedagogical career began when she was only 15 years old and her remarkable record of services has enabled her to take part in the growth of the school system from its early single-room stage to the present modern school.

PANTHER TAKEN TO TASK BY SUTHERLAND

By JESS CARVER

The good Dr. Sutherland brought the blush of something besides youth to the faces of his noble Pitt Panthers yesterday as he called 'em together for practice and checked over the goings-on in the game with Tech Saturday. The Panthers, you know, meet the Kay-dets of West Point, here Saturday. If you don't know, don't try to get any ducats from this angle.

Jack Price

The few things Dr. Jock failed to say to his ball players yesterday hardly could have added to the sting of his rebuke. Did he tell 'em? He didn't miss. They all caught it, one way or the other, and then they were sent through a snappy workout.

Pittsburgh's other college squads, the Techs and the Dukes, were idle. Coach Bob Waddell gave his Tartans a day off, and will not open the drive for the Temple game until this afternoon. The Dukes are idle Saturday and will be able to take it easy this week.

PITT REALIZES WEAKNESS

As far as the bawling out went, the Pitt players themselves realized how poorly they looked against Tech. They couldn't help it. The linemen especially knew they had been naughty, for they failed to give the backs the sort of help that was expected from such a highly-touted forward wall, either on the attack or the defense.

Things will have to go a lot better against the Army if the old Panthers are to come out on top. Capt. Jack Price, Army's husky all-America tackle, and his buddies comprise a pretty tough ball club. I saw Price play the life out of the Notre Dame line last year in Chicago, and on a wet, muggy day, too, and you can bet all the phantoms on the voting lists that he'll be "on" for this game with Pitt.

GET THERE EARLY

The smart folks who go to that ball game Saturday will be those who get into their seats early—plenty early. The traffic jam is going to be terrific, and so will the pileup at the Stadium. Besides, the Cadets are to make their entrance at 1:15, and if you wish to see them as they go through their maneuvers, you'd best be in there before 1 o'clock.

The Tartans came out of the game with Pitt in astonishingly good physical shape. Capt. Armentrout, who suffered a leg bruise in the Notre Dame tilt and had to leave the Pitt tussle during the first half, was on hand and ready for a workout yesterday had there been one.

Carnegie is up against another tough one in this Temple team. The Owls were tough enough to take last year, when Tech was a lot stronger and the Philadelphi-

CHARITY GOLF TOMORROW

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

Reservations are still being received today for tomorrow's Armistice Day golf tournament, being sponsored by and played at the Edgewood Country Club, the proceeds of which are to be donated to the Allegheny County Fund for the Relief of the Unemployed. The entry fee is $2, which will be donated to charity, and is to be paid when registering at Edgewood tomorrow. For reservations, call Churchill 2024 or 2023 before 10 o'clock tonight. Play begins at 8 a. m. and the field is limited to 65 foursomes. Reservation of starting time, however, is not compulsory.

Edgewood has provided prizes for low net and low gross. The grill and dining room will be open for those who care to dine at the club.

John W. Carr, secretary of the Pittsburgh Field Club, has announced the annual caddy banquet to be held on Monday of next week, at 6 p. m. The golf committee in charge includes H. E. McCamey, J. A. Ellen, A. W. Montgomery and W. C. Bulmer.

10,000 Army, Irish Tilt Requests Turned Down

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Army's allotment of tickets for the Notre Dame game, to be played in the Yankee Stadium November 28, has been exhausted. Applications for about 10,000 seats can not be filled and refunds will be made as soon as possible. Notre Dame's allotment of seats for the game has been sold out for some time.

DEMPSEY BOUTS PLANNED

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Jack Dempsey's fistic future probably will be settled definitely when the old Manassa Mauler comes here next month for a conference with Jimmy Johnston, head of Madison Square Garden's boxing department.

If Dempsey, now 36 years old, decides that his barnstorming tour has put him in condition for another comeback, Johnston is prepared to offer him two matches which might lead to a "shot" at Max Schmeling and the heavyweight championship.

Johnston said the Garden would not offer Jack any guarantees, but an adequate share of the receipts for a bout in February at Miami, Fla., against an opponent drawn from a list of four leading heavyweights—Tommy Loughran, Jonny Risko, Paulino Uzcudun and Tom Heeney.

Loughran and Uzcudun, who are matched in a 10-rounder in the Garden Friday night, already have offered to sign blank contracts for a Dempsey match, donating their shares to unemployment relief.

If Dempsey makes a good showing in the South, Johnston is prepared to match him against Jack Sharkey here in May or June, although there is some doubt whether Sharkey would accept such a match. Sharkey already feels that by his showing against Carnera he is entitled to meet Schmeling for the championship.

NIGHT GAME CARDED

Despite the fact that the present football season is better than half over, the strong Cup Jenkins gridders of Homestead will play their first night game against the Pulcairn Reynolds eleven, Friday night, on the Homestead Athletic Field. The kickoff is scheduled for 8:15.

Jeby, New York middleweight, won by a technical knockout over McTiernan, local boxer, when the referee halted their main bout at Motor Square Garden last night at the end of the seventh round. Photo shows McTiernan punching Jeby partly through the ropes in the fifth round, in which he made his only bid for victory.

DUTCH CLARK OUT

PORTSMOUTH, O., Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Earl (Dutch) Clark, star quarterback and all-around field general, probably will be lost to the Portsmouth team, of the National Football League, for the rest of the season. Clark suffered two broken ribs in Sunday's game with the Chicago Bears and this, coupled with a twisted knee and other less serious injuries, is expected to keep him on the sidelines indefinitely.

DONORA WITHDRAWS

CHARLEROI, Pa., Nov. 10.—Donora high school has withdrawn from the charity football tournament scheduled to be played for the needy in Charleroi December 5. The Donora school agreed to go along with Charleroi, Monessen and California at a meeting last week, but after further consideration the athletic committee of the school board decided to withdraw.

U. S. A. HORSE SHOW VICTOR

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—The United States Army made a bid for international jumping honors at the forty-sixth national horse show last night as Maj. Harry D. Chamberlin sent Tanbark over the difficult Madison Square Garden jumps to his second consecutive victory in the $1,000 International Military stake.

Tanbark gave a perfect performance to tie with a stablemate and representatives of France and the Irish Free State, and then win in an exciting jump-off. In the jump-off the American ace committed only one-half a fault.

Pitt, Duquesne On W. Va. Card

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 10.—Pitt and Duquesne are included on the West Virginia University football card for 1932. The Mountaineers will open their season against the Dukes in Pittsburgh on September 23. The schedule:

September 23—Duquesne at Pittsburgh; October 1—Pitt at Morgantown; October 7—Temple at Philadelphia; October 15—Open; October 21—Detroit at Detroit; October 28—Open; November 5—Open; November 12—Washington-Lee at Charleston; November 19—Georgetown at Morgantown; November 26—Washington-Lee at Wheeling or Morgantown.

Carnera to Meet Guehring in Berlin

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Primo Carnera, Italian heavyweight, has been signed for a match here December 15, with Ernest Guehring, German boxer recently returned from an American tour, promoters have announced. Carnera was guaranteed 30,000 marks, about $7,200, and Guehring 20,000 marks, about $4,800, the announcement said.

DREYFUSS AFTER UNIFORM BALL

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Barney Dreyfuss today indicated he would throw his support into the fight for the adoption of a uniform ball of National League specifications for world series play, when he reaches the annual winter sessions of the majors, which will be held in Chicago next month.

The ridiculous spectacle of employing different type rockets in the battles for baseball supremacy caused so much unfavorable comment at the recent titular games that the higherups have decided to act. President William Harridge, president of the American League, has declared in favor of the National League ball, a move that may cause the junior league owners to be swayed in the same direction.

In case there are fans who are not aware of the existing condition, it is written that the livelier ball of the American League was in use in the games played in Philadelphia, while the rocket of reduced resiliency was employed in the contests staged in St. Louis.

FOXX HIT A "RABBIT"

Jimmy Foxx' unusually long homer was recorded at Shibe Park—National League men would bet Jim, or any other slugger, they could not drive a Heydler apple for the same distance in a thousand tries. The cover of the junior circuit sphere, it seems, is thinner than that used in the rival league. And there may be other features that add to the "rabbit" tendencies of the A. L. ball.

Dreyfuss, moreover, is peeved at the manufacturers who serve the senior league baseballs. Officials, he asserts, had insisted in the face

JACKETS TO MEET HAWKS AGAIN TONIGHT

LOCALS OPEN LEAGUE RACE THURSDAY

By CARL W. SHATTO

Pittsburgh's Yellow Jackets, of the International League, will exchange a dime's worth of chagrin for a million dollars' worth of experience when they wind up their two-game exhibition hockey series with the Chicago Hawks, of the National League, at Duquesne Garden, at 8:30, tonight.

Last Saturday, the local puckmen were handed a 7-0 setback by the runners-up for the 1930-31 world championship, and they figure to absorb another beating tonight. In the opinion of Charles Reid, coach of the Jackets, however, each contest with the big leaguers is more valuable to the locals than six ordinary practice sessions.

GAMES BOON TO JACKETS

Reid figures that the battle with the Hawks Saturday, when the locals, in training only three days, weakened after holding the visitors scoreless for one period, went a long way toward putting the Jackets in shape for the International League title race. He also figures that tonight's battle will just about whip his men into condition for their championship campaign inaugural joust with the Syracuse Stars at the Craig street arena Thursday.

In meeting the Hawks, the Jackets are stacking up against the fastest set of forwards, and the most skillful goalie in hockey today. The Chicagoans represent a test more difficult than the International League possibly can offer, and the locals are giving their best, not because they think they can "take" the Hawks, but because they are eager to reap the benefits which a clash with such high-class foemen offers.

LINEUP TO STAND

Coach Reid today said that no changes in the Pittsburgh lineup were contemplated, which means that Rodden at center, Ingram and Arbour at the wings, Fraser and Berlett at defense, and Cox in goal, will comprise the starting sextet.

Unless tonight's game furnishes some surprises, this lineup will be permitted to stand for the lid-lifter with Syracuse.

As they swing into action tonight, the Jackets will have disposed of just about twice as much conditioning work as they had under their belts on Saturday. An improved showing is expected. The probable lineup:

Pittsburgh		Chicago
Cox	G	Gardner
Fraser	R. D.	Aleal
Berlett	L. D.	Wentworth
Rodden	C	Ripley
Arbour	L. W.	Gottselig
Ingram	R. W.	Couture

School Harriers, Booters Meet Today

Two feature scholastic events are billed for today, the annual city high school cross-country run in Schenley Park beginning at 3:45 p. m., with all 12 schools numbered among the entrants, and a night soccer game at Homestead High School field between Bridgeville, defender of the Clan Douglas Cup, emblematic of the Western Pennsylvania championship, and Munhall High School. This event is slated for 8:15.

Nix, Nix, Army—You Can't Pull That Stuff Here

GALLOPING GHOSTS? WELL, WHAT DO YOU THINK? AND WHAT'S THE BAND DOING STANDING AROUND?

HOPPE LEADS COCHRAN

Because of a spectacular run of 165, which he began in the afternoon and continued in the evening, Willie Hoppe, the challenger, will enjoy a lead of 600 to 459 over Welker Cochran, the champion, when they resume action in the third 300-point block of their 2,600-point match for the world 18.1 balkline billiard title at the William Penn parlors, 536 Smithfield street, this afternoon.

The fine string which the present-day Old Master of the rail and angle game put together fell only 30 points short of equaling the high run record for 18.1 title competition and easily was the outstanding feature of the inaugural day of jousting in a championship duel which will be continued at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and 8 o'clock in the evening each day this week.

SEEKS TO EVEN SCORE

Hoppe surrendered the title to Cochran on the occasion of their first meeting at 18.1, last year, but if he is able to continue the fine form which he displayed yesterday he will have evened the score with his younger rival by Saturday night.

Hoppe concluded last night's block with an unfinished run of 44, and when he resumes today he will have the balls grouped in perfect order near the lower rail. The position in which he left the pellets is so ideal that he is almost certain to add materially to his advantage before Cochran gets his first turn at the table this afternoon.

In the first few innings of the match yesterday afternoon the two wizards of the cue put on such a sorry exhibition that Merle Miscue well might have been opposing John J. Dub. Cochran won the bank, and ran only five from the break. Hoppe then broke all Hoppe records for Hoppe ineffectiveness by reeling off four scoreless innings, and the champion showed his sociability by drawing three successive blanks himself.

COCHRAN STAGES RALLY

Cochran never did strike his stride in the afternoon, but Hoppe finally found his stroke to finish with 39-71-38-125 unfinished, and run out the match in 11 innings. His lead at the conclusion of the afternoon block was 300 to 78.

Despite his opponent's great string of 165, Cochran cut into Hoppe's lead in the evening. Welker put together consecutive strings of 77 and 87, and later tossed in an 86, to pile up 386 points in his 12 turns at the table.

During the afternoon play, and in the early innings in the evening Cochran's driving was far off color, with the result that he was shooting difficult shots most of the time. Hoppe's position play in the late afternoon and throughout the evening was superb, and he frequently kept the balls clustered in mid-table or on either side of the balk for sequences of 20 or more.

BANK SHOTS FOIL HOPPE

Hoppe appeared reluctant to attempt masse shots, a department in which Cochran appeared eager and able to provide thrills. His selection of one-rail bank shots in preference to masses often left the fans moaning for he missed a one-rail bank to terminate his string of 165, and followed by missing another one-rail bank after clicking off 49 in his next inning. On at least two other occasions he failed on the same shot. After gaining control of his driving in the late innings last night, comparatively simple carooms appeared to be the only shots capable of baffling Cochran.

Harry Geisel, American League umpire, long connected with the Board of Trade billiards rooms in Indianapolis, served as referee and called 'em as he saw 'em. Several times he had to make extremely close decisions, and he must have suffered something of a shock when the fans rewarded him with neither pop bottles nor Hoboken cheers.

of strong figures that the ball had not been made livelier. But the agitation against it became so strong that the pocket finally was changed back to a point where real baseball is now in evidence. The past season in the National League was studded with pitching and fielding masterpieces which took the places of the slugging and unscientific batting orgies.

HOMERS CUT IN TWO

	HR.	T.	D.
1931	493	528	2.169

You will note that the home run total was cut almost in two. That fact alone speaks volumes for the new ball.

Back in 1919 the National League produced only 138 homers, so that the output of this year cannot be said to be a revolutionary move that might hurt the game. Baseball had some great teams a dozen years ago, just as it did 25 years back.

Umpire Charles (Cy) Rigler, who has been officiating on the diamond for more than 25 years, declares that the play of the National League this year was better than it had been for many, many seasons, and he points to the new ball as the cause.

SORE AT POLO GROUNDS

Dreyfuss also will make another effort to have his league take some action on the atrocious homers that are allowed in New York and Philadelphia, especially those of the Polo Grounds.

Scores of other baseball men of the Heydler circuit are with the local owner in his attempt to force the building of screens in the short sections of the New York park. Such screens would keep balls in play after they had bumped the netting. The batters would be held to a single or a double, where now they are given homers. The thing has become so disgusting that even the fickle Broadway fans refuse to get excited over the unearned circuit drives.

Celtics and Morrys Drawn for Game

The Pittsburgh Celtics and the Castle Shannon Morrys will meet in the feature game of the second round of the National Amateur Cup soccer competition at Leslie Park on November 21.

All games must be played on or before November 22.

GIRL BOWLERS CLASH

Two of the strongest girls' bowling teams in Western Pennsylvania, the Haus team, of the North side, and the Nuss team, of Homestead, will meet in a heated match game at the Haus Alleys, Federal and Lacock streets, at 9 o'clock tonight. Last week, the Haus girls lost a match between the teams, played at Homestead, although Miss Stotler, of Haus, had a high average of 166 for three games. Tonight, Haus girls hope to retaliate.

SHOOT TOMORROW

An Armistice Day shoot will be held tomorrow, starting at 11 a. m. at the Wellsburg, W. Va., Gun Club. All prizes will be awarded under the Lewis Class System.

REFEREE STOPS BOUT TO SAVE M'TIERNAN

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor

The bigger Buck McTiernan was not a better one in his comeback start as a middleweight in the scheduled 10-round main bout at Motor Square Garden last night, and, as a result, he lost by a technical knockout to Ben Jeby, of New York, when Referee Al Grayber stopped the uneven battle at the end of the seventh round to save the local man from further punishment.

Grayber followed McTiernan to his corner and scrutinized him carefully before walking to the center of the ring and spreading his hands to signify that he was stopping the bout.

BUCK LACKS CONFIDENCE

Coming in at 161 pounds at 3 p. m., McTiernan really appeared to be stronger than in his two most recent starts, against Jimmy Belmont, both of which he lost by the knockout route, but he fought without confidence and after the manner of a man beaten before the start. For three rounds he did little but move about and let Jeby do the forcing, and in both the second and third rounds he went momentarily to the floor as he broke ground before Ben's rushes.

With the start of the fourth round McTiernan began to fight in sheer desperation, but he was outscored by the rugged New Yorker.

RALLIES IN FIFTH

The fifth round saw Buck make his only bid for victory, and, in it, he gave the fans a real thrill and won their plaudits. Tearing out of his corner, he slugged with Jeby from the tap of the gong and continued until he sent his opponent reeling partly through the lowest rope with a right to the jaw. However, he fought himself out and was holding and covering at the bell, after taking a terrific volleying from both fists to the head.

Buck started well again in the sixth round, stopping Jeby dead in his tracks with a right cross and following with a hard left hook to the body, but again he failed to maintain the pace and wound up taking a lacing. His right eye was cut and bleeding and had a big "mouse" under it as he went to his corner.

BATTERED AT FINISH

Dead tired, Buck took a severe manhandling in the seventh round, which saw him draped over the middle rope several times, trying to avoid punishment. He was battered from pillar to post and the referee's action in calling a halt probably saved him the humiliation of being counted out at some time during the three rounds that remained to be fought.

Jeby, in victory, did not impress as a great fighter. He is rough and tough and has a good left hook, but is only a fair puncher, judging from the number of times he battered McTiernan without being able to floor him for a count. The great margin of difference between them lay in McTiernan's failure to show a return to his old winning form. Facially and in build, Jeby bears a resemblance to Vince Dundee, whom McTiernan also fought at the Garden some time back. Ben weighed 158½ pounds against McTiernan's 161.

MOORE BEATS TRACEY

The eight-round semi-final between the two local Negro middleweights, Jimmy Moore, of the Hill, 158, and Jack Tracey, of the North Side, 161, was won by the former, whose left hook and aggressiveness carried every round but the first, which was even, and the seventh, which went to Tracey by a shade. Tracey was so careful to avoid Moore's hooks as much as possible that he seldom was able to score with his own best bet, a devastating right. A lot of clinching marred the tussle.

Long Tom Williams, 199-pound Negro, of the Hill, had too much height, reach and experience on Frank Novak, of the North Side, 192½, and cuffed and slapped the latter into defeat in the six-round second bout, although he didn't relish the body beating he took in the semi-clinches.

Davy Grove, of Canton, O., 145½, fought a flashy and hard-punching battle to win all of the way over Georgie Bretsch, of the North Side, 126½, who traveled the route on his gameness alone after having an ear and an eye cut and teeth knocked loose.

FIELDS-BELMONT NEXT

Mike Bazzone, of McKeesport, 166, hammered willing but green Frankie Moss, of Duquesne, 168½ pounds, throughout the four-round opener to win the decision.

Joe Keally alternated with Al Grayber as referee, Frank Brown and Jock Simco were the judges and Norman Borland and Chappie Couch the timers, with Bill Schuster the announcer. The Jimmy Belmont-Jackie Fields bout was announced as the windup for next week.

TRINITY PIN LOOP OPENS

The first bowling league of the Trinity Cathedral Young People League will be inaugurated with play tonight at Haus Alleys, Federal and Lacock streets, North side, beginning at 9:30 o'clock. More than 30 young men and women of Trinity are to compete. George Hurleton, chairman of the bowling committee, is directing league play.

WITTMER TO STAY

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Reports that Al Wittmer, head football coach at Princeton, was to be replaced immediately were denied last night by Thurston J. Davies, supervisor of athletics.

UMPIRES MEET TONIGHT

A special meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Baseball Umpires' Association will meet tonight in the office of President Cal Bolster at 8:15. All members are requested to be on hand.

Mandell, Former World Champion, Quits Ring

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Sammy Mandell, once lightweight champion of the world and for 10 years considered the greatest boxer of his day, is through with the ring.

Mandell made this decision when the Illinois State Athletic Commission ordered his purse of $1,250 paid after it had been held up pending review of his pitiful showing against Ralph Lenny, of Union City, N. J., last Wednesday, in the Chicago Stadium.

JACKIE PASSES EYE TEST

Jackie Rodgers, local Negro featherweight boxer, is fit for action again. He has just passed a test by Dr. Edward B. Heckel, who has pronounced his injured left eye O. K. and has recommended to the Boxing Commission that Jackie be permitted to engage in further contests.

Rodgers suffered a detached retina in a bout with Johnny Erickson at Hickey Park, Millvale, a year ago last summer and was on the sidelines for some time. Failure to regain his old form in recent bouts led to the report that he had lost the vision in the eye, but he denied this and underwent the examination to prove his fitness.

In order to build up to his best fighting weight of 124-126 pounds, Rodgers has retired to a farm at Island, Pa., where he will prepare for his next battle. He scaled only 118½ pounds when he lost to Frankie Wallace, of Cleveland, his last time out, at Motor Square Garden.

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Amateur bouts in Croatian Hall, Ambridge.

Between Rounds

A benefit boxing show and entertainment for the needy will be held in Turner Hall, Homestead, next Monday night. Earl Dean and William Peters are in charge, and Fidler Cox will be a speaker.

Mose Bolich, who was to box again at Motor Square Garden on December 7, a date given over to the Sammy Dorman-Baffling Gipsy battle, likely will be rebooked for December 14.

Battling Battalino, the featherweight champion, will box Bunny Graham in a non-title supporting battle to the King Levinsky-Primo Carnera tussle at the Chicago Stadium, November 19.

Johnny Chiodo, of Johnstown, will box Harry Lennox, formerly of Cumberland, now of Atlantic City, in the first 10-round bout of the double-whammy card at McKeesport Thursday night. Angel, of Uniontown, and Gene Baldoni, of York, Pa., are in the top spot. Sharkey Lee, of McKeesport, and Luther McCarthy, of Tarentum, box the opener.

The card has been completed for Appies Meyers' opening show in the Castle Rink, New Castle, Friday night. He has Bunky Lawless and Billy Rose in the main bout, Johnny Kuhn and Frankie Steinmark in the semi-final, Eddie Fox and Sonny Mahan in the second number and Peter Jahn and Bobby Rowe in the opener.

Fritzi Zivic will box Steve Smith and Frankie Marino will oppose Teddy Welch in the two six-round preliminaries at Motor Square Garden next Monday night.

UNION SWITCH, SPORT CLUB IN BIG BATTLE

By TOM BIRKS

All teams in the Central Soccer League will swing into action Saturday after an excursion into the cup tie warfare. Four games are to be played, each showing promise of hectic struggle.

At Lawrenceville, the battle between the Celtics and the Rovers will be renewed. National Tube, of McKeesport, goes to Swissvale, to meet the Westinghouse eleven, and Clan Douglas, league champion, travels to Tarentum, there to try to collect two points.

Jack Campbell's Union Switch aggregation will try to invade Sullivan Field, meeting the Sport Club. This should be the best game of the day.

The breaking of a leg in the first five minutes of last Sunday's game at Bridgeville seems to have started a move to prevent a recurrence.

The players are taking too many chances, especially in the Keystone and Panhandle leagues, where they are overdoing the "do or die" spirit. The situation lands at the doors of the referees.

ROYALS WIN, 73-19

The Trinity Cathedral Royals played their second basketball practice game last night, defeating Bloedale M. E. of Verona, 73 to 19. Last week, St. Mary's Lyceum, of Sharpsburg, fell to 21 to 18 in an extra-period affair. The Royals are booking local and out-of-town teams in the light for class. STOCKS YIELD TO SELLING PRESSURE

Efforts to Generate Rally Fails and Some Shares Show Cuts of 2 or More

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—The leading financial markets yielded part of their sweeping gains under pressure of profit-taking today.

Selling may have been hastened somewhat by fresh uncertainty over international affairs, as indicated by fresh sags in Japanese and German bonds. The bond market retreated after advancing for eight consecutive sessions and wheat reacted substantially.

In shares, morning efforts to generate a rally in the rail issues failed, and by mid-afternoon several issues were off 2 points or so, including United States Steel, Du Pont, Corn Products, General Foods, American Smelting, American Telephone, Sears-Roebuck and others. Losses of a point or so were numerous. There were no signs of urgent selling, however, and the volume of trading shrank considerably. Rails gave up their morning gains but held fairly steady. Radio was also firm, in response to its earnings statement.

Bankers with Japanese connections were inclined to regard the sag in Japanese bonds as resulting from ill-informed selling. They foresee little likelihood that Japan will be forced off the gold standard, or become greatly involved financially through the Manchurian situation.

United States Steel's unfilled tonnage statement, showing the slight sag of about 25,000 tons in October, was about in keeping with expectations. Wall Street had expected a slight decline as most of the improved sentiment in the industry had appeared since the turn of the month and has not as yet been translated in actual orders to any extent.

An effort to rally the rails was apparently based on the Interstate Commerce Commission's decision to start hearings in January on the four-party eastern consolidation plan, the Investment Bankers Association's urging of a cut in railway wages and hopes of tangible results from the rail executives' conference here Friday.

RADIO COVERS DIVIDENDS

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Radio Corporation of America and its subsidiaries announced total gross income of $73,638,019 and net income of $3,957,489 for the first nine months of 1931.

The figures compared with a gross of $85,150,256 and net of $870,753 in the same period of last year. The current statement showed earnings of $52,980 in excess of dividend requirements on the preferred stocks.

For the third quarter of 1931 gross was $25,664,292 and net $1,318,785, and $17,685 in excess of dividend requirements of the preferred stocks for the quarter.

LONDON MARKET IRREGULAR

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Prices moved irregularly on the stock exchange today. Argentina rails and British industrials reacted on profit-taking. Weakness in German issues was caused by anxiety over the financial situation in Germany. Good buying of sterling improved the dollar rate which closed at $3.82½ and Paris 97.37.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Trading was small on the Bourse and price movements were narrow and irregular. Rio Tintos improved with copper. The Bourse will remain closed tomorrow.

Mexico Announces Tariff on Wool

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—A sliding tariff on wool has been announced by the government to protect and build up the industry in Mexico.

A year's grace is allowed to develop home production before the measure becomes effective, so as not to cripple industries manufacturing wool products. In some cases present tariffs of 35 cents become 50 cents next year, and nearly $1 in 1933.

Russian Wheat Shipments Normal

MOSCOW, Nov. 10.—(INS.)—Confronted with new rumors that Russia had suspended or intended to suspend wheat shipments for the balance of the year, Soviet officials today referred to an authoritative statement given out a week ago today.

Wheat shipments are proceeding normally, that statement said, and exports will probably be about the same this year.

Central Loadings Lower for Week

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—New York Central Lines in the week ended November 7 handled 47,394 cars of revenue freight compared with 49,811 cars in the week preceding and 57,379 in the like 1930 period.

CURB STOCK AND BOND SALES

Stock sales (noon)	140,000

Gold Peso Higher In Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Jumping nearly 10 points in two days since the election, the gold peso was quoted today at 165.5 per $100, only half a point from the limit fixed by the Exchange Control Commission. The paper peso rose from 25 cents on Saturday to 26.5 cents today.

Limits for gold pesos were fixed between 1.71 to 1.65 to the dollar effective today.

WHEAT PRICES TAKE DIP

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—All grains turned downward early today, influenced by pre-holiday

Will Congress Play Politics Or Prosperity?

By B. C. FORBES

B. C. Forbes

WILL CONGRESS when it assembles on December 7, put prosperity above politics?

Most people and most organizations, realizing that a serious emergency existed, have acted accordingly. Bankers have taken emergency action by co-operating for the benefit of worthy institutions weakened by hysteria among depositors.

Industrial managers have gone farther than they ever went before in adopting emergency labor measures often at the expense of profits. Wage earners, too, in many instances, have favored the widest possible division of work in preference to full time for some and total idleness for others.

Financiers, businessmen and workers alike have exhibited a spirit of co-operation in order to mitigate as far as possible the hardships of depression.

WILL OUR politicians exercise a similarly praiseworthy spirit of co-operation? Will they place the common good above self-seeking ambitions? Will they be motivated by humane patriotism rather than by narrow political considerations? Will possible partisan advantages be foregone for the sake of the greatest good of the greatest number?

In short, will our lawmakers prove big enough to practice as broad statesmanship as has been practiced during the distress by capital and labor?

This question is agitating the minds of many responsible citizens now sinking mercenary motives in order to play their part in overcoming stagnation and hastening the return of normal conditions for business and labor.

Let us hope that those who should prove statesmen will prove statesmen.

THIS COLUMN has been asked oftener than once to start a campaign against allowing all those on the federal payroll to escape paying income tax. It isn't clear to all taxpayers why the men who levy an income tax on others should exempt themselves from paying anything. Seeing that the number of federal tax-eaters multiplies at an alarming rate this question becomes one of increasing importance.

Many corporation executives, it is pointed out, were the first to impose upon themselves a reduction in salary. In not a few cases salaries have been reduced by corporations that have not reduced wage rates. It is now asked:

"Will our lawmakers prove equally as self-denying?"

"The hurricane is over!

"The other day in talking with half a dozen gentlemen who asked my opinion about the situation I used the expression: 'The hurricane is over, but the wreckage remains.' It is now necessary for us to clear up the wreckage and rebuild the financial structure, which means that we must now all turn in with optimism and energy about the future.

"The people should now recognize the fact (and your paper should urge it) that they should spend more and not hoard.

"Your paper should urge that all receivers of closed banks everywhere—state and national institutions—immediately pay off the depositors as much as can possibly be gotten together by the receivers, so that the depositors of closed banks will have money to spend.

"There is probably anywhere from half a billion to a billion and a half dollars tied up in closed banking institutions. Receivers are hoarding this money until they can pay 30 per cent, 40 per cent, 50 per cent, or 60 per cent, instead of distributing it as they should. It seems to me that as soon as 10 per cent of cash is received the receiver should be forced to distribute that 10 per cent so that the depositors may be able to put it into circulation by spending.

"Verily, I believe the hurricane is over!"

This suggestion is hereby cordially indorsed, not only in the interest of prosperity, but in the interest of suffering bank depositors.

CORPORATE TRUST SHARES

THE new accumulative series of Corporate Trust Shares are distinguished from most other fixed investment trusts by their provisions under which stocks may be eliminated from the portfolio. Such eliminations from Corporate Trust Shares may be made only after the occurrence of certain fixed events, among which are:

- if a stock reduces or passes its dividend,
- if a stock is yielding less than 3½%,
- if a stock is removed from exchange listing,
- if a stock becomes inactive,
- if the investment in any one stock exceeds 10% of the total.

These events are, in effect, danger signals which call for a review of the status of the stock to determine the advisability of either retaining or eliminating. It is believed that these elimination provisions are sufficiently broad to protect the investment, yet do not permit unbridled discretion.

Rail Competition at Peak, Investment Bankers Hear

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Nov. 10.—Bus and truck competition against railroads has reached its peak, John J. Cornwell, general counsel of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and former Governor of West Virginia, declared before the first general session of the twentieth annual convention of the Investment Bankers Association of America here.

After reviewing the difficulties facing railroad management as a result of the loss of 40 to 50 per cent of their passenger business in the last decade and the failure of freight traffic to increase even during the years preceding the business depression, Cornwell declared that the railroads have made important economies of a permanent nature in eliminating unprofitable stations in addition to their general improvement in their operating efficiency.

Truck Owners' Distress

PAYING PARTICULAR ATTENTION to the development of new forms of competition he said:

"One need only to know the financial condition of some of the smaller motor bus and truck companies to be convinced this form of rail competition is at its peak. There are hundreds of thousands of individual truck-owners today running hither and thither, hauling anything they can get, at any price offered, wearing out their vehicles, often paid for only in part, because they have nothing else to do.

"I see them transporting fruit and coal as far as 200 miles, running right along the railroad. These people must have something to do to get some cash. They are wearing out their property and hurting the railroads, but it is a consequence of this depression.

"When business revives this forced trucking will subside.

"The truck and bus companies, like the railroads, in their early days, will go through a period of financial readjustment. Many will fail and quit. Those economically justified will survive, continue and render a valuable and necessary service.

"Already steps are being taken to co-ordinate motor truck and motor bus service with the railroads. Much more could and would have been done in that direction already had it not been that promoters of bus and truck operations have overvalued their franchises and opportunities, while, in some instances, perhaps, the railroads undervalued them. But co-ordination is being accomplished and ultimately will be thorough and systematic."

Trust Report Criticism

A PLEA FOR MORE COMPLETE and detailed reports by fixed trusts was made by the investment companies committee. These reports should give complete information on portfolios. They should also give the current market value of securities held. They should show how these computations are made and should indicate the relative positions of securities senior to the common stock. In addition the details of stock purchase warrants outstanding should be made public. The recommendations on fixed trusts referred principally to the danger of publishing misleading information in circulars.

The report of the oil and natural gas securities committee declared that the oil industry still was badly in need of a definite policy agreed upon by the entire industry, but it declared that the outlook has been materially improved by the efforts to control production.

STEEL TONNAGE DOWN 25,401

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(INS.)—Unfilled tonnage of the United States Steel Corporation as of October 31 amounted to 3,119,432 tons, a decrease of 25,401 tons from the total of 3,144,833 tons on September 30, it was reported today.

This compares with unfilled tonnage of 3,169,457 tons on August 31 and 3,481,763 tons on October 31, 1930.

THE LOVE TRAP -:- Story of a Girl's Struggle For Love and Happiness -:- By ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

CHAPTER XVII.

Steve had been carrying his coat. When they were around a corner he put it on. His face was unshaven; he looked rumpled and exhausted. Mary saw a taxicab—inevitable vehicle of disappearance—and they hustled into it. She gave the driver the address of her sister in Brooklyn—it was too risky, at the moment, to return to the uptown rooming house that was so well known to Landers and his men. Brooklyn was better as an emergency refuge.

Steve kept flexing his arms and legs to restore circulation. She rubbed his hands and wrists, and stroked his head, murmuring tender sympathies until he was eased of shock and pain; the whiteness around his lips began to disappear.

"Were you hurt much darling?"

His fingers touched a swollen place on his scalp. "They slugged me with something, and I woke up with an awful headache. But they treated me fairly well considering I was tied down to that damn bed, and my mouth wrapped up except when they gave me something to eat. Sometimes they would loosen one arm and let me smoke a cigaret. I thought I'd go crazy thinking about you."

"Oh, Steve! . . ."

"Mary, it's a damn ghastly business I've got you into." His voice was low, grave. "I always thought these stories about underworld violence were newspaper talk—but I guess they're on the square. When I think of what might have happened to you—"

"I was never in any danger, really, Steve," she told him gently. "I knew I was going to find you—"

STEVE TROUBLED

She explained to him the steps that had led to his rescue; the accidental exchange of handbags with Carlotta Guido that had given her the automatic; Bat's betrayal of his employer; her conflict, at the last, with Landers. But Steve was safe in her arms now, and nothing else mattered. Her heart was flooded with colored lights, it vibrated, leapt with an excess of joy.

"Where are we going now?" he asked, fatigue coming back into his voice. She put her lips to his before she answered.

"To my sister's—but just for a little while, Steve. Just long enough for you to pull yourself together."

But it really didn't matter where they went. They were together now and nothing else was important; they would be with each other forever. She had a sensation of prodigal wealth; any hardships, and poverty, would be of no importance. The sensation of love was an inexhaustible power that filled every need of living. It was a solvent that dissolved all pain and worry.

"Mary—I—" He paused, his voice troubled. "Confound it, Mary, this is a devil of a situation, isn't it? It won't be safe for you to go back to that damn rooming house—"

"Oh, I'll be all right at my sister's for a few days," she assured him. "And you—"

"I was thinking, it would be better all around if I cleared out of town for a little while. Look here, Mary—we both better keep out of the way of Landers and his little playmates for a little while. It was a lucky break that got us out this time—no use tempting fate too much. You can hide away at your sister's you say?"

TO LEAVE TOWN

"I'll be perfectly safe there, Steve."

"Then everything will be fine," he said, relieved. "I'll duck out of sight for a couple of weeks, and—"

Mary felt a quick little panic in her heart. "But how long will you be gone, Steve? It will be too awful with you away!"

"Two or three weeks. I'll come back the first day I can, Mary."

Her arms slipped around his neck; and he put his cheek against hers and she shivered with a sort of exquisite pain. He was close beside her now—but for two or three weeks he would be vanished from her sight, from her arms! Terrible things could—might—happen to him in that time!

"But where will you go?" she mourned.

His arms tightened around her, and he held her as though she were a child. "Look here, Mary—I don't think I ever told you about my friends, the Calverts, did I?" Just for a moment there was something evasive in his tone; then he seemed to gather determination. "Mary, I have to be fair about this thing. We can't build any happiness together unless we're fair about everything, can we?"

"No," she whispered, a little icy pang in her heart.

"I ought to have told you about the Calverts before, but I didn't have a chance. I was so doggone hypnotized with love for you, darling. That was the only thing that mattered—the only thing that will ever matter to me, darling. Just to know you, and love you, has turned my whole life upside down. You'll forgive me, won't you, sweetheart, if I forgot to tell you every little thing about myself?"

STEVE ENGAGED

"I'll always forgive you everything," she told him.

"I seem to be enmeshed in a hellish streak of luck, but in just a little while I'll be clear of everything," he explained uncomfortably. "I was in college in California with Bill Calvert. He was my pal. You see, darling, we were even in prep school together—his mother and father, and all of them sort of took me in. I didn't have a family of my own. Oh, they're wonderful people. Mary you'd love them, and they'd love you, too."

"I'm going to tell you all about her, Mary," he said, his voice low and careful. "I was a dog not to have told you the whole thing at first—but I never got around to it. Our time together has been so short—I was too filled up with love for you even to think of anyone else. Mary, when I came to New York I was engaged to marry Eileen Calvert."

Mary remained perfectly motionless.

"But that's all over now, Steve?"

"Yes, that's all over now," he echoed. "It's all over so far as I'm concerned. But the hard part of it is that Eileen doesn't know. I haven't had a chance to tell her—and it makes me feel like a dog."

"Will she mind it very much, Steve?"

WANTS TO BE FAIR

He passed a bothered hand across his forehead.

"I'm afraid she will. She's a wonderful girl—a lovely girl. Her brother is my best pal, and her mother and father have always been marvelous to me. When I came East to start in with Buck Landers, we all thought that within six months or so Eileen and I would be married here. As a matter of fact, the family was coming East for the summer anyway—Mr. Calvert has a summer home up in the Catskills."

He compressed his lips, and shook his head.

The startled feeling in Mary's heart changed slowly into a dull ache. All at once, she seemed helpless to combat this new menace. But she tried to make her voice sensible.

"But surely, Steve, she will release you without any trouble once she understands how much we love each other—"

"But I couldn't explain it properly in a letter to her—and I can't hurt her, and her whole family, too much." Steve said earnestly. "It will have to be done tactfully and as honestly as a thing of this kind can be done. But they are wonderful people, Mary, and it's up to me to be as fair as possible to them in every way."

"I knew you would understand, darling. Now please try to understand a little more. The whole Calvert family was due to arrive in New York day before yesterday. They were leaving immediately for the Catskills—and we had agreed that I would run up and visit them right away. I think I had better do it, Mary—in fact I'll have to do it, for Eileen's sake. Tell me you understand."

She bit her lower lip and held back the tears. It was going to be bitter to surrender him—to risk him to another girl who loved him.

MARY IS FEARFUL

He seemed relieved, his spirits heightened. He pressed both her hands.

"You're not afraid to let me go, are you?"

"No, Steve."

But the peace of her heart had been disturbed. Even as his lips pressed hers, Mary was trying to imagine what Eileen Calvert was like. Was she beautiful? Yes, undoubtedly, for Steve could have cared only for beauty. Rich and beautiful and cultured—with a fine big home in which to entertain him—Eileen Calvert certainly would have a tremendous advantage over Mary with her pitiful little stock of qualifications. It was no good pretending—she knew that Steve would be in danger from the moment he came again under the spell of the California girl. He might visit her from a sense of duty . . . but a reawakening love might hold him . . .

"Did you love Eileen very much?" Mary couldn't help asking.

"I thought I did—till the minute I knew you. I feel like a dog for breaking faith with her—but Eileen will have to know the truth. I'm sorry, but it can't be helped."

SEEMS LIKE A BOY

During the balance of the ride to Brooklyn they scarcely spoke or stirred, except when the taxicab jounced. Her love for him was increasing, with a deeper, tenderer emotion, that had a mysterious strain of something fiercely maternal in it. His sophistication, even something of his glamour, seemed to fade, and he was but a harassed and distressed boy—a bewildered boy who was trying to act like a big man. An, but she would help him to develop with her guidance and wisdom, into the wonderful man he was going to be.

When they were married she would not weight him down with cares and responsibilities; she would not make him an ordinary, domestic husband, resentful of his lost freedom. She saw herself as his partner and his inspiration; in the first few hard years she would work, too, so that they might dwell together as untrammeled lovers. . .

They arrived in Brooklyn and found her sister and children had gone out for the afternoon. The housekeeper, who knew Mary well, let them in the small apartment with a pass key.

Mary found her brother-in-law's razor for him, and while he revelled in the tub, she fried bacon and eggs, and made coffee and toast in the tiny kitchenette. The quick recuperation of youth stimulated them both and the food brought back their bouyant energy. He helped her wash and wipe dishes, and later sat on a low footstool at her feet, with his head in her lap. She smoothed his thick brown hair with her hands.

"How long before you'll come back, Steve?" she asked dreamily.

"They wanted me to spend a month—but I'll shake loose inside of two weeks, easily."

ANXIOUS TO LEAVE

But if he was to leave her immediately, this was no time for dreaming; she had to be practical. She wrote down her sister's telephone number and address on a piece of paper, which he put in his billfold. In turn, he scribbed the Catskill address of the Calverts. In case of emergency they knew how to reach each other. Mary would either stay with her sister while Steve was gone, or keep in close touch. They would write each other every day. Oh, positively!

"But must you go tonight, Steve darling?" she asked regretfully.

He took her hand and pressed it to his lips. "The quicker I go, the sooner I can come back. Look here, Mary—I can just pop over to the rooming house and get my grips and grab a train for up there tonight. I can phone out to the house from the station, and they'll send a car in for me. You see, darling, I'll be killing two birds with one stone. I'll be squaring things with Eileen, and making our plans for our future at the same time. You know, darling, I got to do a lot of planning to make everything clear and straight, and happy for us."

Tears misted her eyes. He squeezed her hands until they hurt; his face grew suddenly serious and his voice hoarse.

"Listen to me, Mary—as long as I live—as long as I'm on this earth or any other—that long I'll always be in love with you—and only you. You're my sunlight and moonlight—you're the sky and the earth and the ocean to me." The serious look left his face and he grinned. "How's that for poetry?"

STEVE OPTIMISTIC

"I want to marry you as soon as I can," he went on quickly. "I think Landers is thoroughly licked, and he won't trouble us any more. But let me get myself together first—I want to have a long talk with good old Bill Calvert, Eileen's brother. He's a boy with a level head and I can tell him everything. You see the Calverts have a lot of connections in New York, and maybe Bill can help me get some kind of a job here. Oh, he'll do it like a shot. Just give me a little time, Mary darling, just a few weeks."

She stooped and kissed his forehead. "I could wait for you forever."

"But I don't want to wait a minute longer than is necessary," he protested. "It's a bit of uphill pull right now—but never fear, we'll reach the top soon."

His brave words echoed in her heart and she smiled. Yet, suddenly, the future seemed as dark as the night—what would Eileen Calvert be like? A tall, graceful girl, with luminous dark eyes—exquisitely beautiful.

The housekeeper let them in.

"How long before you will be back?"

"I could wait for you forever," Mary said.

What Has Gone Before

Pretty Mary Kennedy breaks her engagement to elderly Buck Landers, wealthy sports promoter, when she falls in love with his young ward, Steve Ward. Landers tries to force Mary to marry him by kidnaping Steve and threatening him, unless she does. He gives Mary 24 hours to decide. She enlists the aid of Carlotta, Landers' former sweetheart, who suggests that a flirtation with Bat may reveal Steve's whereabouts. Carlotta and Mary go to see Landers and Carlotta warns him against the kidnaping. Landers orders her out. Later Mary discovers she has Carlotta's purse by mistake. It contains an automatic. Mary encourages Bat. Flattered by her attentions, Bat takes Mary to lunch. After drinking some liquor, he tells her where Steve is. Mary enters a dingy flat, and is confronted by two thugs. They hold her and 'phone Landers. He arrives and Mary shoots at him. He flees. Mary releases Steve and the two escape.

FRISBY IN CHINA.

This picture, posed especially for this newspaper in China by Horace Frisby, shows the terrible result on the Chinese of doing all drinking from bottles held in the right hand. Mr. Frisby says the Chinese are so exhausted from drinking tea (called Sloe Gin) that they can hardly reach for the check. But let him tell you in his own words.

CELESTIAL EMPIRE. — As these lines are written the situation is rapidly approaching the state of affairs that existed yesterday. And yesterday struck me as being about the same as the day before. Before I know it 'tis time to pen my dispatch, which, thanks to the invention of the telegraph, will carry my message with the speed of a startled fawn far, far across the mysterious depths of the angry Pacific to the sandy shores of that land I love the best and thence to every cot and manse, in hamlet and town, on hilltop and vale. And this, my fellow countrymen, is compensation enough for any man—for I know that somewhere, somehow a little woman, who goes by the name of Mrs. Frisby, is waiting for me—waiting—waiting. A Dangerous Session

Money-Raising Schemes Enacted Now May Plague Taxpayers Long After the Crisis Has Passed.

No one with a heart can fail to sympathize with the purpose of the extraordinary session of the Legislature which convened last night at the call of Gov. Pinchot. Relief of the state's unemployed who are beyond the reach of the ordinary welfare organization is an urgent duty. Sympathy with the purpose of the session should not be permitted, however, to blind the citizens to its perilous possibilities.

To relieve the unemployed it will be necessary for the Commonwealth to collect funds from sources previously untapped. The consequence is that all manner of money-raising schemes will be proposed. Gov. Pinchot has himself presented a number of such proposals—taxes on cigarets and billboards, an additional tax on gasoline, "prosperity bonds"—and members of the Legislature have other plans, such as the various proposals for a state income tax.

It is earnestly to be hoped that the desire for speed, not only to expedite the relief work but also to save the people from the huge expense of a prolonged session, will not result in the unconsidered passage of any of these measures.

Though intended only as temporary or emergency measures, there is danger that any which prove successful as large producers of revenue will remain on the books for many years to plague the taxpayers. That has been the experience with some of our emergency taxation schemes of other crises.

The governmental authorities can always find need for money, and excuses for imposing taxes. The schemes by which present difficulties are to be overcome may be utilized to further extravagance after the industrial depression has passed. Hence the need for caution on the part of the lawmakers, and vigilance on the part of the taxpayers.

"Yo Ho, Yo Ho! The Ferry! The Ferry!"

At its forthcoming session Congress will be confronted with the problem of revamping the Federal tax system. Taxes based on profits such as the income and corporation taxes fail to yield the needed volume of public revenue in times of depression.

Therefore, to get from the Red into the Black, from the Deficit side of the river of debt he faces on to the Surplus side, Uncle Sam must turn to some other means. A safe, sound ferry awaits. It needs only to be summoned into action.

Why not adopt the Sales Tax? A selected Sales Tax of the kind in successful operation in Canada, France, the Philippines and elsewhere would be readily collectible, impose hardship on NO group in the country, would correct the present fallacy of overtaxing business efficiency and swell the public coffers.

Wanted! An American Policy for Americans

By Claude G. Bowers

With the practical certainty that the Democrats will control the House of Representatives by a bare margin of two or three votes, the ill-wishers of the party are prolific of advice and warnings. One writer warns them that they will be discredited if within 90 days they do not announce a definite program, in all its details, for the solution of every single problem brought upon us by the blundering policies of those in power. The administration, with a party majority in the Senate, and, until this hour, in control of the House, has not submitted a single constructive thought on domestic problems, but it is to be vindicated unless the Democrats, within 90 days, present a complete program to drag us out of the morass into which the "only party fit to govern" has plunged us. We suspect the country will not demand such a speedy disentanglement of the miserable mess of the present administration and of the party still prevailing in government.

We do not hope for a miracle within 90 days, but we are not gravely concerned over the constructive capacity of the party which has triumphed so signally in the elections. It has demonstrated the finest constructive ability seen in America in two generations. There was more intelligent constructive statesmanship shown during the Democratic domination of 1913 to 1917 than was exhibited during the 50 years before.

With the Republicans in possession of the Presidency and the Senate, and with the House Democratic by a margin of two votes, the Democrats, if wise, will not be stampeded by any demand that they undo all the economic blunders of the last two administrations in 90 days. That is impossible.

* * *

Mr. Hoover Still Has Obligations

The Democrats in the House are not in possession of the government; most of their plans would be vetoed by the President; the necessary investigations, preliminary to action, would require 90 days. But the Democratic House should seriously consider the revision downward of some of the most outrageous special-privilege schedules of the tariff act that was bought and paid for by campaign contributions. We have this on the authority of Mr. Grundy.

The best service the Democrats, situated as they are, can render to the party, will be to concentrate on service to the country—this country. This has not been the fashion in governmental circles during the last three years.

Mr. Hoover still has obligations; broken pledges to be honored; and the country will expect him to put forth his program to lead the country out of the depression into which his administration has plunged it.

* * *

The Demand of Common Humanity

When Congress meets, it is to be assumed that America and Americans will get more consideration than they have been getting during the adjournment. By the time it meets we shall know whether or not enough money has been subscribed by individuals to relieve the people's government from doing anything for the millions who are in misery and threatened with starvation. We do not believe that the money asked of individuals is enough properly to care for the millions of women and children who have nothing; but even the money asked is being found with the utmost difficulty.

And if it is not found, the government of the United States is not going to permit starvation. Senator Borah is right. All that is needed, in excess of what is subscribed, must be appropriated. That is the demand of common humanity.

And with 7,000,000 breadwinners out of work, Congress will consider the wisdom of a prosperity loan to create work—work, which done, will increase the wealth of the nation.

* * *

Mr. McAdoo Has Something to Say

Congress should also want to know the details of the conversations and understandings between Mr. Hoover and M. Laval. With protests against the burdening of America with the debts of 14 nations rolling in, the administration is inclined, by vague explanations, to side-step. But the propaganda goes on. Mr. Houghton, the President's former ambassador, and others, are busy with pencils showing that for us to pay the debts of 14 nations will not cost each American much, and the answer is that if it will not cost Americans much, it will not cost the Europeans more. If it is insignificant for us, it is inconsequential to them, and they have 60 years to pay.

William Gibbs McAdoo, who made the loans and collected the money for them from our people, has just said, in a fascinating book, called "Crowded Years":

"Cancel these debts, and the result will be that Mr. Everyman and his wife and children will have to pay the colossal sum."

And he tells us what was told the American people when the loans were made:

"When I went to the people of the United States on a long speaking tour in the first Liberty Loan campaign, I had to explain with meticulous care to every audience I addressed, that all advances to foreign powers were loans which would, from time to time, be repaid to the United States, just as the United States itself would, from time to time, repay the money it was borrowing from its citizens to enable it to make loans to these foreign powers. It was on this specific point that our people wanted to be informed and assured. I do not overstate the fact when I say, that if the American people had not been convinced of the good faith and honor of the borrowing governments, the United States would never have been able to sell its bonds to its own people for the purpose of making these foreign loans."

* * *

Investigations By Congress

The American people are demanding "good faith and honor" from their own Government—that, and a red-blooded defense of American interests, and more concern over the plight of the American people. They want Washington to discover America.

There is a general feeling that the interests of America are being neglected by the administration. The man who demanded money from the Treasury to feed the Belgian and French children thinks it shocking to take money from the same source to feed the hungry children of America. That has sunk in on the people.

The recent disclosure that the present President advised using America as a recruiting ground for the armies of the allies instead of making an American army to fight under the American flag has shocked not a few.

The understanding in Europe that the administration is prepared to shift the debts of 14 nations from Europeans who got the loans, to the backs of Americans, is resented.

There is no enthusiasm for the plans of the administration that will weaken the American navy, our greatest instrument of defense in critical times like these; and Congress may want to investigate just what is being done to the navy.

The President's hand-picked jury to pass on charges against the President will impress no one.

He Did His Duty

Magistrate Rothenberg Was Right in Declining to Comply With Judge T. M. Marshall's Request.

Magistrate Leo Rothenberg did the right thing in Police Court yesterday in holding for the grand jury, as the law requires, a woman charged with fortune telling, instead of dealing leniently with her, as Judge Thomas M. Marshall, of Common Pleas Court, requested.

An information had been made against the defendant, and two policewomen testified she had given them readings and collected $13. Judge Marshall admitted her guilt, but pleaded she had been the victim of misfortune. He said he had known her for 20 years.

It must have been disagreeable for Rothenberg to refuse Judge Marshall's request, but he is to be commended for doing so. To have let the woman off with a fine would have been beyond his authority, as he pointed out.

The magistrates have been none too scrupulous about exceeding their authority. The complaint has lain against them for years that they did that very thing—that they habitually usurped jurisdiction in cases that should have been referred to the grand jury.

Tech Students' Riot

It Is Regrettable That the Innocent Should Have Had To Suffer With the Guilty.

The 117 Carnegie Tech students arrested Saturday because of disorderly conduct preceding the football game were discharged in Police Court yesterday at the suggestion of Inspector Hoey, but there still remains a bitter feeling between the students and the police.

Out of the criminations and recriminations it is possible to find just grievances on both sides.

The police were justified in interfering with the rowdy conduct and threatened destruction of property, which cannot be excused on the threadbare plea that "boys will be boys." The students invited retaliation when they stoned and defied the police.

On the other hand the police had no business breaking into the dormitories and arresting indiscriminately everyone that they found. Some innocent boys were thrown into jail, as Inspector Hoey himself admits. That cannot be excused.

The chief blame for the whole unpleasant business rests on the Carnegie Tech authorities, particularly those officials in charge of the dormitories. Such outbreaks occur nearly every year on the eve of the Tech-Pitt game. Warning was given several weeks ago to be on guard against a disturbance.

If the authorities at Tech are unable to maintain discipline among the students they must not be surprised if the police intervene.

An Auspicious Start

The Promise That Three Closed Banks Will Pay Something to Depositors Soon Is Encouraging.

In view of the customary method of handling the affairs of closed banks—a method under which depositors have to wait eight or nine months before receiving any of their money—the announcement that three local banks recently closed will make payments on December 14 has deservedly attracted much attention.

It is stated that the 37 state banks which were closed in Western Pennsylvania during the recent period of stress had $53,000,000 in deposits. Release of part of the deposits of all these banks should have a beneficial effect on Christmas trade.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Mae West has become Broadway's greatest enigma—the bad good little lady. As she said in a curtain speech: "I hope you do not think I'm like the roles I portray. I neither smoke nor drink." And added with coy wistfulness: "In fact, I'm just a campfire girl."

To see Miss West swagger through the hard-boiled sophistries of her half-world dramas, it is quite easy to visualize her as a product of the seamy side. There are thousands of Mae West stage types in real life, blonde mistresses who live hard, dangerously and by the help of shyster accomplices.

Yet those who know say she is merely a brilliant young lady, with the brilliance, perhaps, of the electric light, who has capitalized sins of the world to wear as a cloak and to discard as easily. Off the stage, she is a mild-mannered homebody.

Born in Brooklyn, she began her footlight career in baby parts, graduating to vaudeville singing with Harry Richman and Whispering Jack Smith as accompanists. But it was as a playwright and actress in her police-closed play, "Sex," that brought her first page notoriety.

This was followed by "The Drag," threaded with a perverted theme and banned from the Rialto. Whatever one's critical opinion of Miss West's histrionic ability or her material, there are few who can deny that in the smart routine of her risque lines she packs a dramatic punch.

I have rarely seen a more electric moment in the theater when as "Diamond Lil," in her play by that name, she chirps to a street salvationist with a side-of-the mouth defiance: "O, you can be had!" It may be mawkish drama, but "good theater."

In her newest opus she is the harlot whose careless amours range from a champion pug to an ebony hued policy king. She epitomizes her outlook on life to her maid with: "Bring my negligee, the kimona days are over. And toss that celluloid manicure set out the window."

* * *

Perhaps more of that quality dubbed human interest will be found in the personnel of Mae West's audience—especially, at first nights—than in the steel trap worldliness of her lines. It offers a polyglot, pathological patina. There are women in masculine attire, men with blondined hair and rouged cheeks and mincing steps, pastyfaced shadowy creatures with fever-bright eyes, overdressed dolls of the West Seventies, freshly barbered gambling house runners, gunmen and their molls—and all the rest of the strange creatures that clot in silence about shady hotel entrances after nightfall. A Mae West premier is apparently their night of nights. It is a set of spotlight seekers as pronounced as the fortunates of the Horse Shoe Circle at the opera, bowing and waving at each other, with a similar familiarity.

Harry Silver, passing a large line of horse-drawn carriages at the side of the Plaza the other afternoon, saw an aged driver gazing dreamily at a drifting dirigible overhead. Finally he sighed, "If it ain't one thing it is another in this racket."

An excited gentleman just phones to hurry across the street to an apartment in the Waldorf. "A beautiful lady is dying to meet you," he breathlessly adds. Sometimes I think it must be the way I brush my hair.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

ONCE, I LIVED IN A DESERT COUNTRY.

Before the memory of man, a great sea had covered that place. Now, where the waters had been, there was a vast, blistering desolation. Not a shrub or a tree . . . nor the song of the bird . . . nor the comforting chuckle of brooks. Even the wind, sweeping unhindered over the grim, empty miles, was noiseless. Something hideous about a wind that makes no noise—swooping at you, ghostly silent, from the hollow air. A hard place to live.

And our work was as monotonous and grim as the place. We were mining. A poor little mine, run on a shoestring of money. Now and then a fleck of gold in the grudging gray ore. Usually the skip brought up only discouragement. Tons of that. Ugly work, mining, if we're getting nowhere. Harsh sounds, harsh clothes. Dust caking on your eyelashes, or your cracked lips . . . after a while dust caking on your soul. And all around those flat, dead miles that, in time, seemed to be sprawling on top of one's spirit, like some great, gray monster, pressing out all the joy and hope.

A terrible place! I do not know how I could have endured it without the hills.

At one point on the horizon, far off, the hills rose abruptly from the desert. They could not be seen by day because of the constant cloud of stinging gray dust. But, with evening, the air cleared. Suddenly—there they were! . . . tall and shining and seeming very near, in that transparent air.

Every night I sat for an hour on the dump and watched them. The dump was a great pile of sterile ore which we had brought up from the mine. It was as though all the disappointments, the broken dreams, the heartbreak, the bitter drudgery, had turned to rock, and were piled there beneath my feet. Endless hours of labor—for what? And all around me spread the dreary earth—colorless—without sound—

But the hills were not colorless. They were a wall of flame! And color quivered them like a song. Hot floods of rose and copper drenched their slopes . . . their gullies dripped with shadow, dark as wine. Behind, the sky—that through the day was like a tight, white lid . . . opened its endless reaches of clear green.

Then the night came. The earth dissolved. The gold and scarlet softened into amethyst. Star wreathed, the dark hills stood, tall sentinals above the plain.

And watching, sometimes I felt grateful tears. I could go on . . . stand anything . . . as long as there were hills.

And there came back to me those words, once written by another troubled soul.

"I WILL LIFT UP MINE EYES UNTO THE HILLS, FROM WHENCE COMETH MY HELP."

Looking back, I have realized more and more, how like life is to that flat, dreary place. The endless, gray monotony of many days. The heartbreak pile of broken dreams. The stupid toil—and all for what? Is life worth while, if this is all it holds? All of us, drudging through life, wondering that.

Then suddenly, lifting weary eyes, we see the hills! The tall, proud hills that men have built above the dreary plains. Built with their tenderness, their sacrifice, their courage. The hills left by the poets, the adventurers, the scientists, the priests—and all those countless, nameless ones who dared to dream.

Do not lose hope! Our life is not a meaningless gray waste—a mocking hollow where we thought we would find gold. There are the hills that other men have made—

LIFT UP YOUR EYES TO THEIR LOVELINESS!

Text For Today

Lead me in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my salvation; on thee do I wait all the day.—Psalms, xxv:5.

THOMAS H. HUXLEY

By Archibald Henderson

The modern scientist is like a warrior of old. Results, achievements, triumphs of invention and research do not come to him if he merely waits and remains supine. Inactivity will never assure accomplishments in science, nowadays. The scientist must go out and do battle for the results to be accomplished. He must work, struggle, fight to make recalcitrant nature surrender her precious and well-guarded secrets.

One of the most singular of modern discoveries made by man is that Nature is much more subtle and complex than we have hitherto imagined. All the things which lie on the surface or just below the surface have been found, perhaps. But now the scientists are beginning to discover that what they have discovered was just child's play as compared with the complex mysteries which lie hidden far below the surface. Nature does not readily give up these secrets: they have to be dug out, struggled for. It seems at times, as Eddington and other scientists have pointed out, as if Nature were in a sort of tacit conspiracy with recalcitrant matter, for the express purpose of defeating man's efforts to surprise her and wrest from her the precious secrets which she hides.

A splendid fighter, a true warrior of science, was the late Thomas Henry Huxley. He had the highest aspirations and the loftiest ideals for science. But he saw much pretentiousness, egotism, and even fraud among scientists or pseudo-scientists, all about him. At the age of 31 he confessed that his aims were: to smite all humbugs, however big; to give a nobler tone to science; to set an example of abstinence from petty personal controversies, and of toleration for everything but lying; to be indifferent as to whether the work is recognized as mine or not, so long as it is done.

Science, as a whole, is a splendid education in itself. An effective research worker, a man or woman who is able to discover new truths, is a truly educated person—whether or not he or she knows all the frills of the most new-fangled educational theories. Faraday, one of the finest types of scientists who ever lived, once said: "I do think that the study of natural science is so glorious a school for the mind, that, with the laws impressed on all created things by the Creator, and the wonderful unity and stability of matter and the forces of matter, there cannot be a better school for the education of the mind."

The scientist never tires—although he occasionally feels the physical weariness which comes from overwork. He never tires—because Nature is inexhaustibly interesting, and he is never bored by studying her. He is tireless in the pursuit of truth, because he knows that for those who know how to conduct the pursuit, Nature is endlessly rewarding.
